warum diese funktionieren Memory and Identity in Canadian Fiction Sharon Selby, 2018-09-14 Covering the works of Canadian authors Alistair Macleod Michael Ondaatje Jane Urquhart Margaret Atwood and Drew Hayden Taylor the author explores how the themes of memory storytelling and identity develop in their fiction For the narrative voices in these works the past is embedded in the present and a wider cultural history is written over with personal significance The act of storytelling shapes the characters lives letting them rewrite the past and be haunted by it Storytelling becomes an existential act of everyday connection among ordinary people and daily often unrecognized acts of heroism Twenty-First Century Perspectives on Indigenous Studies Birgit Däwes, Karsten Fitz, Sabine N. underlying Central European public discourse and imagination but also questions whether and to what extent some of the ingrained stereotypical views and practices such as hobbyism have been challenged in the face of Indigenous resurgence rapidly changing media and information sharing realities and global cultural shifts The closing interview with M tis playwright actor and director Bruce Sinclair underscores one of the book s key goals to spark an informed cross cultural dialogue that will reveal the mechanisms of as well as the contradictions and tensions inherent in the politics of Indigenous representation in Central European cultural industries and encourage Central Europeans to confront their own cultural assumptions and attitudes

Restless in Sleep Country Paul Huebener, 2024-05-14 Sleep and the lack of it is a public obsession and an enormous everyday quandary Troubled sleep tends to be seen as an individual problem and personal responsibility to be fixed by better habits and tracking gadgets but the reality is more complicated Sleep is a site of politics culture and power In Restless in Sleep Country Paul Huebener pulls back the covers on cultural representations of sleep to show how they are entangled with issues of colonialism homelessness consumer culture technology and privacy the exploitation of labour and the effects of the Covid 19 pandemic Even though it almost entirely evades direct experience sleep is the subject of a variety of potent narratives each of which can serve to clarify and shape its role in our lives In Canada cultural visions of slumber circulate through such diverse forms as mattress commercials billboards comic books memoirs experimental poetry and bedtime story phone apps By guiding us through this imaginative landscape Huebener shows us how to develop a critical literacy of sleep Lying down and closing our eyes is an act that carries surprisingly high stakes going beyond individual sleep troubles Restless in Sleep Country illuminates the idea of sleep as a crucial site of inequity struggle and gratification

Indigenous and Christian Perspectives in Dialogue Allen G. Jorgenson, 2020-12-30 In Indigenous and Christian Perspectives in Dialogue Allen G Jorgenson asks what Christian theologians might learn from Indigenous spiritualities and worldviews Jorgenson argues that theology in North America has been captive to colonial conceits and has lost sight of key resources in a post Christendom context The volume is especially concerned with the loss of a sense of place evident in theologies written without attention to context Using a comparative theology methodology wherein more than one faith tradition is engaged in dialogical exploration Jorgenson uses insights from Indigenous
