Irish Literature Since 1800 Norman Vance, 2014-06-11 This book surveys Irish writing in English over the last two centuries from Maria Edgeworth to Seamus Heaney to give the literary student and the general reader an up to date sense of its variety and vitality and to indicate some of the ways in which it has been described and discussed It begins with a brief outline of Irish history of Irish writing in Irish and Latin and of writing in English before 1800 Later chapters consider Irish romanticism Victorian Ireland W B Yeats and the Irish Literary Revival new directions in Irish writing after Joyce and the literature of contemporary Ireland north and south from 1960 to the present

Cries Of An Irish Caveman Paul Durcan, 2011-08-31 Cries of an Irish Caveman is Paul Durcan's most inspired and surprising collection of poems Through four distinct sections he brings his tender lyricism to bear on the themes of love loss life and death The first section describes an experience in Australia which provides a starting point for reassessing his past relationships and loves The second returns to Ireland its people and places the celebrated and the unknown The third section is a meditation on his daughter's marriage placing within an historical and sacramental context a very personal event And finally in some of his most daring and original writing Durcan describes his own twentieth century romance replete with ecstasies and inevitable agonies beauty and hope but also brutality and self abasement

The Art of the Caveman John Mc

Donagh,2016-09-23 The first monograph on the poetry of Paul Durcan this book deals thematically with the dominant concerns evident from his first solo collection O Westport in the Light of Asia Minor published in 1975 up to and including The Days of Surprise published in 2015 His work is marked by an unnerving emotional honesty and a recurring desire to undermine the pomposity of an Ireland struggling under the weight of inherited inconsistencies One of the central arguments here is that Durcan has captured more than any other poet of his generation the complexities and contradictions inherent in Ireland's emergence from the early difficult decades of independence The complex relationship between the public and private in his poetry is also explored as well as the poet's unflinching examination of his deepest personal relationships

The Berlin Wall Cafe Paul Durcan,2011-06-30 This was the collection with which Durcan broke through to the huge and appreciative audience he enjoys today In the first part are poems of great satirical comedy and also of great passion and indignation and in the second part poems about the break up of a marriage so intense they would hurt if they weren't also possessed of the healing gifts of truthfulness and humour In The Berlin Wall Caf Durcan has located that space between the walls and barriers societies and individuals erect a no man's land of the free imagination where we meet as the vulnerable and comical human beings we are It contains some of his very best work 80 at 80 Paul Durcan,2024-09-12 A new selection of Paul Durcan's finest poems published in celebration of his 80th birthday He has written immortal poems I revere him Michael Longley For fifty years the poet Paul Durcan has explored and questioned a world both real and imagined Steeped in the goings on of Ireland and preoccupied with its concerns he has delighted enriched and unsettled his readers His prodigious output of more than twenty collections bursts with poems that are courageously personal and passionately spiritual a body of work that contains multitudes The great enemy of art is the ego says Durcan It keeps getting in the way One needs the ego to disappear so that I become you I become the people walking up and down the street First published in 1967 Durcan remains the most companionable of poets His vivacity and ability to surprise has never been clearer than in this new selection of eighty of his finest poems published in celebration of his 80th birthday EDITED BY NIALL

MACMONAGLE WITH AN INTRODUCTION BY COLM TOIBIN Sub-versions Ciaran Ross,2010 From Swift's repulsive shit flinging Yahoos to Beckett's dying but never quite dead moribunds Irish literature has long been perceived as being synonymous with subversion and all forms of subversiveness But what constitutes a subversive text or a subversive writer in twenty first century Ireland The essays in this volume set out to redefine and rethink the subversive potential of modern Irish literature Crossing three central genres one common denominator running through these essays whether dealing with canonical writers like Yeats Beckett and Flann O'Brien or lesser known contemporary writers like Sebastian Barry or Robert McLiam Wilson is the continual questioning of Irish identity Irishness going from its colonial paradigm and stereotype of the subaltern in MacGill to its uneasy implications for gender representation in the contemporary novel and the contemporary drama A subsidiary theme inextricably linked to the identity problematic is that of exile and its radical heritage for all Irish writing irrespective of its different genres Sub Versions offers a cross cultural and trans national response to the expanding interest in Irish and postcolonial studies by bringing together specialists from different national cultures and scholarly contexts Ireland Britain France and Central Europe The order of the essays is by genre This study is aimed both at the general literary reader and anyone particularly interested in Irish Studies Mean Ken Babstock,1999 Mean is a stunning exploration of the threshold and divide between our primeval origins and the meanness of our everyday lives In this collection the pastoral collides with the concrete terrain of motorbikes prisons and chainlink to capture our constructed isolation and our buried yet resonant connection to the land and seascapes that surround us Ken Babstock's poetic voice is wholly original searing and pure in its realism evocative and affecting in its search for a place to call its own Life is a Dream Paul Durcan,2011-01-18 Famous for his electrifying poetry readings Paul Durcan marks four decades of composing silently and reciting aloud with this magnificent collection which brings together for the first time the critically acclaimed poet's own choice of his work from his first book Endsville 1967 to The Laughter of Mothers 2007 Life is a Dream represents the whole range of Durcan's writing funny and subversive verse narratives and self mocking poems of underachievement poems celebrating love and sex or the lives of famous writers and artists as well as tender poignant verses commemorating the dead Throughout his long career Durcan has continued to make passionate and moving poetry out of his own and his country's misfortunes He is by turns a surrealist a mystic an Irish comedian with perfect comic timing and an angry champion of the oppressed Life is a Dream reaffirms the constant vision and artistic integrity of one of the most powerful humane and original voices in modern poetry Christmas Day Paul Durcan,Peter Robb,2011-09-30 For most of us Christmas is the season of huge helpings of good food good drink and with luck good cheer as the rituals of cracker pulling present giving and happy or sulphurous family reunions fizzle and bang through the long afternoon For anyone who has ever had too much of it or felt out of it or wanted to be out of it or even succeeded in being out of it then been unexpectedly rescued by a good friend this book length poem contains a lifeline of humour and sanity in a world run seasonally mad It is a funny subversive melancholy self mocking conversation between two men Paul and Frank in the top storey flat of a Dublin apartment block a Stations of Christmas under the influence of woman hunger Once read Christmas Day itself will never be the same again The volume also contains a second new work A Goose in the Frost a tribute to Seamus Heaney on winning the Nobel Prize for Literature Irish Poetry Since 1950 John Goodby,2000-12-15 Irish Poetry since 1950 is a survey of poetry from Northern Ireland the Republic Britain and the US covering the 1950s the 1960s the early period of the Troubles up to 1976 the 1980s and the 1990s In Search of Ireland Brian Graham,2002-11 In Search of Ireland examines the nature of the political economy and the exercise of power within the context of contemporary cultural geography Clearing the Tangled Wood James Lawless,2009 ACADEMICA PRESS LLC Advanced Book Information CLEARING THE TANGLED WOOD Poetry as a Way of Seeing the World Author James Lawless Credentials award winning Irish poet and
