Regional Environmental Governance and Avenues for the Ecosystem Approach to management in the Baltic Sea Area Sara Söderström, 2017-01-17 This thesis explores the avenues for the ecosystem approach to management in the Baltic Sea Region This region is one of the most contaminated water bodies in the world although the first Regional Seas Convention was created here and theregion has a long history of cooperation and environmental protection The current environmental governance arrangements are examined with specific focus on governance structures cross sectoral integration and ecological boundaries The ecosystem approach to management as both a tool and vision of holistic management of natural resources is traced through the evolution of environmental governance as well as its manifestation in contemporary environmental policies in the region It is found that the major EU directives as well as HELCOM polices promote the ecosystem approach and that its presence has increased in recent years it is now the major guiding principle in European marine governance However the governance structures impede implementation in different ways The environmental problem areas in the region all require different governance arrangements thus obstructing a holistic approach The environmental problems per se also affect each other necessitating far reaching sectoral integration and cross border cooperation which at present is the major obstacle regarding implementation The contemporary trends combining solid regionalisation through HELCOM with increased Europeanisation and macro regionalisation by different EU initiatives offer some promise but the cross sectoral impediments must be resolved if the ecosystem approach is to become a practical approach and not just a policy principle Aquaculture Law and Policy Nigel Bankes,Irene Dahl,David L.
