Teaching Theology in a Technological Age Doru Costache, James R. Harrison, 2015-11-25 The iGeneration has learned to adapt rapidly to technological change Tech savvy students multi task with consummate ease accessing email on smart phones researching assignments on tablets reading a book on Kindle while drinking a flat white and listening to iTunes in the background How does the tertiary educational curriculum meet the learning needs of students whose attention transitions rapidly between mediums and messages The complexity and pace of modern technological change has left the theological educational sector gasping as it struggles to devise pedagogically engaging online distance learning materials in traditional disciplines and teach units with significant relational and pastoral components The technological benefits are vast the instant availability of information unprecedented and the opportunities to provide theological education to groups marginalised by the tyranny of distance and time enormous How should the theological sector address these challenges and opportunities Although the benefits are massive the media is replete with stories of the casualties of technological change including cyber bullying internet predators the psychic damage from trolls addiction to gaming and issues of body image among others How should the theological sector drawing upon its scriptural and teaching heritage come to grips with the deficits spawned by the technological revolution What is the theological pastoral social and pedagogic responsibility of theology teachers in nurturing this new generation Teaching Theology in a Technological Age draws together in an inspiring volume a series of cutting edge essays from Australian New Zealand and South African scholars on the learning and teaching of theology in a digital age

Glassroom Learning Jason Mills, 2023-07-31 Christian higher education institutions across North America are experimenting with radical shifts in educational content and delivery Cyber education is becoming a common supplement or replacement for embodied learning especially since the global coronavirus pandemic Most theological educators have embraced the shift online finding ways to leverage technology to enhance teaching very few consider how technology itself impacts theological students particularly those being educated for pastoral ministry What effect do shifts toward online courses have on those enrolled in programs of pastoral formation Are future ordinands being adequately trained When developed well Web based learning can strengthen intellectual virtues However it can also inhibit character virtue formation and self differentiation Internet usage has been shown to negatively affect social well being resulting in higher rates of anxiety depression and isolation in students furthermore it alters behavior making learners more distracted less empathetic and less able to concentrate and contemplate Theological schools should therefore articulate clearer standards for student formation and strengthen aspects of embodied learning to prepare clergy for ministry in an increasingly complex church and world

TEE for the 21st Century David Burke, Richard Brown, Qaiser Julius, 2021-09-14 Theological education is at a global crossroads Although many traditional programmes struggle to maintain student enrolment today s environment gives exciting opportunities to serve the global church in ways that are multi level accessible and educationally effective TEE for the 21st Century utilizes missiological educational and sociological perspectives to explore theological education by extension TEE as a powerful contemporary tool for equipping the global church for its global mission Multi authored by a global team of discipline experts brought together by the Increase Association this book speaks to the real life training needs of today s church Addressed to leaders teachers and practitioners it offers a robust framework for critically evaluating the impact of TEE on the formation of whole life disciples in a wide variety of contexts and locations With a proven track record across Asia Latin America and Africa TEE has a role to play in the future of the church empowering every member to fulfil their God given calling to ministry and mission

Virtual Theology, Faith and Adult Education Ros

Stuart-Buttle,2013-07-29 Online learning is a key feature of the contemporary educational landscape and has entered mainstream policy provision and practice But if online education is to reach mature development and evaluation it must be open to critical appraisal This book considers the implementation of online learning within adult theological education This can be an area of challenge or contention especially when established academic practices and cherished values are seen as threatened when handed over to online delivery This opens questions about theology pedagogy and online education Does online teaching and learning bring or demand a new or transformed disruptive pedagogy or does it result in maintenance or replication sustaining of traditional values and existing practices What might the opportunities and benefits be Who stands to gain Who stands to lose And what evidence is there to evaluate the quality of doing theology online This book examines a long standing programme of continuing professional development delivered fully online to adult practitioners working across Christian education and ministry settings It builds upon the author s international experience as an online educator for over a decade Key themes relate adult learning to theological pedagogy authority and online community The concept of interruptive pedagogy is presented as an interpretative model to critically appraise an approach to online education that draws on the best theological tradition yet also looks to the future

Technology and Theology William H. U. Anderson, 2021-01-05

Technology is growing at an exponential rate vis vis humanity's ability to control it Moreover the numerous ethical issues that technology raises are also troubling These statements however may be alarmist since Telus would tell us The Future is Friendly The Modernist vision of the future was utopic for instance Star Trek of the 1960s But postmodern views such as are found in Blade Runner 2049 are dystopic Theology is in a unique interdisciplinary position to deal with the many issues pro and con that technology raises Even theologians like Origen in the third century and Aquinas in the thirteenth century made forays into Artificial Intelligence and surrounding issues they just didn't know it at the time Artificial Intelligence AI and Transhumanism raise questions about what it means to be human What is consciousness What is soul What are life and death Can technology really save us and give us eternal life Theology is in a unique position to handle these questions and issues This book also has practical applications in terms of ecclesiology church in the context of the COVID 19 pandemic both in terms of what it means to be a church and in terms of the sacraments or ordinances Is there such a thing as a Virtual Church or must we gather physically to constitute one Are Baptism and Communion legitimate if one is not physically in a church building but are online This book struggles with these and many other questions which will help the scholar or reader make up their own minds however tentatively

The Online Church Chris Segun Onayinka, 2021-04-02 In recent times the whole world has witnessed a very strange occurrence a pandemic that practically shut down the whole world Churches at this instance were either forced compelled or made to hold their services in ways other than physical gatherings Somewhat it appears that there seems to be a theology that has evolved from this occurrence Many have started advocating for what is known as the virtual gathering of saints with good intentions I believe But oftentimes things that lead to error could be paved with good intentions The road to such perfidy if at all or such abnormality could equally have been paved with good intentions Is there an online virtual church inscribed on the pages of the scriptures Some will readily say that there was no online technology so we can t say but definitely no one will say that there was no technology at all We can ask what role did the technology of their day play in the constitution of the local church and the churches in those Bible times Those are the issues we seek to explore in this material Theology must not be made to be subservient to the whims and caprices of the present times or become expedient such that incidences occurrences and events begin to shape our view of scriptures This is the heart cry of this short and incisive material but we trust God to answer the questions When Jesus founded a church both in Matthew 16 and instructions in Matthew 18 did it give allowances and permission for an online non physical gathering of saints that equally should be called church This we trust will be our study together with every reader as we go through Old Testament books scriptures of the prophets the 4 gospels the Book of Acts and the epistles We have also added historical and statistical facts to help us see the possibility and scriptural validity of what is today called The Online Church Once again arm yourselves with your regular study materials and let us study through the scriptures as we find out whether there is truly an online church     Digital Mission Bryce Ashlin-Mayo,2020 This book is designed as a theological and methodological exploration of online ministry with the specific goal of aiding the reader in creating an implementable online ministry strategy for a church or ministry It moves quickly along a pathway that assists the reader to understand technology form a theology of technology and explore its nature Part One The author then addresses digital technology s potential impact on the functions practices and structures of the church Part Two The final sections of the book assist pastoral leaders to design an implementable online ministry strategy that serve the congregation s mission and vision Part Three
