The Dutch Language in the Digital Age Georg Rehm, Hans Uszkoreit, 2012-07-16 This white paper is part of a series that promotes knowledge about language technology and its potential. It addresses educators, journalists, politicians, language communities and others. The availability and use of language technology in Europe varies between languages. Consequently, the actions that are required to further support research and development of language technologies also differ for each language. The required actions depend on many factors such as the complexity of a given language and the size of its community. META NET, a Network of Excellence funded by the European Commission, has conducted an analysis of current language resources and technologies. This analysis focused on the 23 official European languages as well as other important national and regional languages in Europe. The results of this analysis suggest that there are many significant research gaps for each language. A more detailed expert analysis and assessment of the current situation will help maximise the impact of additional research and minimize any risks. META NET consists of 54 research centres from 33 countries that are working with stakeholders from commercial businesses, government agencies, industry, research organisations, software companies, technology providers and European universities. Together they are creating a common technology vision while developing a strategic research agenda that shows how language technology applications can address any research gaps by 2020.

Translingualism, Translation and Caribbean Poetry Hilda Windt Ayoubi, Pieter C. Muysken, 2025-10-01 Linguists estimate that around 7 000 languages exist but many are under threat. Translingualism, Translation and Caribbean Poetry is a multi-language collection comprising over fifty translations of the poem Lenga di mama Mother Tongue by Curaçao born poet Hilda de Windt Ayoubi published here alongside three additional poems each providing a different perspective on the mother tongue. De Windt Ayoubi's sharp socially charged poetry has inspired translations from across the world. Collected here for the first time, they serve to protect the native languages and cultures, particularly the minority languages of their translators who range from expert linguists to speakers of underrepresented languages. In his accompanying essay Pieter C. Muysken considers the role of translation in addressing the urgent cultural concern of language loss and revitalization where he discusses bilingual translations and mass translations. Complete with maps, language profiles, interviews with the translators and the poet's essay on Papiamentu, this collection explores the emotional, cultural and intellectual importance of language conservation through poetry and translation.
