Daugherty,2024-04-15

When America entered World War II in 1941 it was first left to the Army Air Forces to take the fight to Germany In January 1942 the US Eighth Air Force was created and ordered to England even though it was without men equipment or airplanes This is the story of Brigadier General Ira C Eaker s two years with VIII Bomber Command and later as commander of the Eighth as he worked to grow it into a force capable of striking German targets from above twenty thousand feet Initially promised one hundred airplanes and the men to fly them he soon discovered his bombers were often diverted to the North Africa and Pacific theaters Along the way Eaker faced other critical issues including atrocious weather heavy casualties and the absence of escort fighters Meanwhile the head of the Army Air Forces General Hap Arnold clashed with and criticized Eaker for not flying more missions with more airplanes Ultimately as the air war unfolded the war of words behind the scenes continued until the generals reached a point of irreconcilable differences and Arnold relieved Eaker of command In spite of this the Mighty Eighth Air Force continued to pummel the Germans Not once not even in the two absolute worst air battles of the war the Schweinfurt missions of 1943 each of which cost one of every four bombers and six hundred plus men for each mission did the Eighth ever turn back before reaching their target Not until after the first two years was there a fighter that could escort the heavy bombers the B 17s and B 24s even partway into Germany much less to targets near the Vienna border and return The story of the first two years of the Mighty Eighth Air Force in many senses presents an even stronger case for heroism dedication and simple self sacrifice than that depicting events in the final seventeen months Britain's War: A New World, 1942-1947 Daniel Todman,2020-03-17

From Kites to Cold War Tyler W Morton, 2019-10-15 From Kites to Cold War tells the story of the evolution of manned airborne reconnaissance Long a desire of military commanders the ability to see the terrain ahead and gain foreknowledge of enemy intent was realized when Chinese airmen mounted kites to surveil their surroundings Kite technology was slow to spread and by the late nineteenth century European nations had developed the balloon and airship to conduct this mission By 1918 it was obvious that the airplane had become the reconnaissance platform of the future Used successfully by many nations during the Great War aircraft technology and capability experienced its most rapid evolutionary period during World War II Entering the war with just basic airborne imagery capabilities by V E and V J days air power pioneers greatly improved imagery collection and developed sophisticated airborne signals intelligence collection capabilities The United States and other nations put these capabilities to use as the Cold War immediately followed Flying near the periphery of and sometimes directly over the Soviet Union airborne reconnaissance provided the intelligence necessary to stay one step ahead of the Soviets throughout the Cold War
