Death, Dying, and Organ Transplantation Franklin G. Miller, Robert D. Truog, 2011-10-28 In Death Dying and Organ Transplantation Reconstructing Medical Ethics at the End of Life Miller and Truog challenge fundamental doctrines of established medical ethics They argue that the routine practice of stopping life support technology in hospitals causes the death of patients and that donors of vital organs hearts lungs liver and both kidneys are not really dead at the time that their organs are removed for life saving transplantation These practices are ethically legitimate but are not compatible with traditional rules of medical ethics that doctors must not intentionally cause the death of their patients and that vital organs can be obtained for transplantation only from dead donors In this book Miller and Truog undertake an ethical examination that aims to honestly face the reality of medical practices at the end of life They expose the misconception that stopping life support merely allows patients to die from their medical conditions and they dispute the accuracy of determining death of hospitalized patients on the basis of a diagnosis of brain death prior to vital organ donation After detailing the factual and conceptual errors surrounding current practices of determining death for the purpose of organ donation the authors develop a novel ethical account of procuring vital organs In the context of reasonable plans to withdraw life support still living patients are not harmed or wronged by organ donation prior to their death provided that valid consent has been obtained for stopping treatment and for organ donation Recognizing practical difficulties in facing the truth regarding organ donation the authors also develop a pragmatic alternative account based on the concept of transparent legal fictions In sum Miller and Truog argue that in order to preserve the legitimacy of end of life practices we need to reconstruct medical ethics

Devettere, 2016-05-20 For more than twenty years Practical Decision Making in Health Care Ethics has offered scholars and students a highly accessible and teachable alternative to the dominant principle based theories in the field Raymond J Devettere s approach is not based on an ethics of abstract obligations and duties but following Aristotle on how to live a fulfilled and happy life in short an ethics of personal well being grounded in prudence the virtue of ethical decision making New sections added in this revised fourth edition include sequencing whole genomes even those of newborns the new developments in genetic testing now provided by online commercial companies such as 23andMe the genetic testing of fetuses by capturing their DNA circulating in the pregnant woman s blood the Stanford Prison experiment and its relevance to the abuses at the Abu Graib prison recent breakthroughs in the diagnosis of consciousness disorders such as PVS the ongoing controversy generated by the NIH study of premature babies at many NICUs throughout the country a study known as SUPPORT that the OHRP Office of Human Research Protections an office within the department of HHS deemed unethical Devettere updates most chapters New cases include Marlise Munoz dead pregnant woman s body kept on life support by a Texas hospital Jahi McMath teenager pronounced dead in California but treated as alive in New Jersey Margot Bentley nursing home feeding a woman dying of end stage Alzheimer s despite her advance directive that said no nourishment or liquids if she was dying with dementia Brittany Maynard dying 29 year old California woman who moved to Oregon to commit suicide with a physician s help and Samantha Burton woman with two children who suffered rupture of membranes at 25 weeks and whose physician obtained a court order to keep her at the hospital to make sure she stayed on bed rest Thoughtfully updated and renewed for a new generation of readers this classic textbook will be required reading for students and scholars of philosophy and medical ethics

What Kind of Death

Govert den Hartogh, 2022-10-31 Many books have been published about physician assisted death This book offers a comprehensive and in depth examination of that subject but it also extends the discussion to a broader range of end of life decisions including suicide palliative care and sedation until death In every jurisdiction that has laws permitting some kind of physician assisted death a central point of controversy is whether such assistance should only be available to dying patients or to everyone who wants to end his life The right to determine the manner and time of one s own death however does not necessarily mean that physicians should be permitted to cooperate in ensuring a quick and peaceful death In this book Govert den Hartogh considers the fundamental and practical matters including concrete issues of legal regulation related to end of life decision making He proposes a two tiered system Everyone should have access to humane means of ending his life if his decision to end it is voluntary well considered and durable But doctors should only participate in a joint action of ending the patient s life on his request if they also are convinced of acting in the patient s best interests in particular by ending intolerable and unrelievable suffering And perhaps there is reason to restrict that second service to dying patients The whole argument however depends on the extent to which in both tiers of the system we can design legal safeguards that will enable us to trust judgments about the requesting person s request and about his suffering The book considers much new evidence in regard to this issue What Kind of Death will appeal to researchers and advanced students working in bioethics applied ethics philosophy of law and health law Rebuilding the Body Ann Fullick,2009-01-01 D elves inside the human body to show how our major organs and specialized cells work what happens when they don t and how they can be replaced Publisher Cumulated Index Medicus ,1999 Stem Cells 2001 United States.
