Cyberbullying and Online Harms Helen Cowie, Carrie-Anne Myers, 2023-05-02 Cyberbullying and Online Harms identifies online harms and their impact on young people from communities to campuses exploring current and future interventions to reduce and prevent online harassment and aggression This important resource brings together eminent international researchers whose work shines a light on social issues such as bullying cyberbullying racism homophobia hate crime and social exclusion The text collates into one volume current knowledge and evidence of cyberbullying and its effect on young people facilitating action to protect victims challenge perpetrators and develop policies and practices to change cultures that are discriminatory and divisive It also provides a space where those who have suffered online harms and who have often been silenced in the past may have a voice in telling their experiences and recounting interventions and policies that helped them to create safer spaces in which to live in their community study in their educational institutions and socialise with their peer group This is essential reading for researchers academics undergraduates and postgraduates in sociology psychology criminology media and communication studies as well as practitioners and policymakers in psychology education sociology criminology psychiatry counselling and psychotherapy and anyone concerned with the issue of bullying cyberbullying and online harms among young people in higher education

How We Struggle Sian Lazar, 2023-01-20 A comparative ethnographic approach to the question of labour struggles and workers political agency A masterful book a resource that makes anthropology matter Andrea Muehlebach Professor of Anthropology University of Bremen When it comes to labor movements unionized industrial workers on the factory floor have only ever been part of the picture Across so many different workplaces sectors of the economy and geographical contexts the question of how working people struggle in the day to day has no single answer Here Sian Lazar offers a unique anthropological perspective on labor agency that takes in examples from across the globe from heavy industry and agriculture to the service and informal sectors She asks how do people strive to improve their lives and working conditions How are they constrained and enabled in that struggle by the nature of the work they do and by their own positionality in local histories cultures and networks How We Struggle explores worker action across the spectrum from organized trade unionism to individualized strategies of accommodation resistance and escape The book marries a discussion of global political economy and Marxist feminist theories of labor with ethnographic approaches that begin from a perspective of human experience kinship and radical heterogeneity

Making Policy for the New Information Economy Krishna Prasad Jayakar, Chun Liu, 2023-09-10 This volume is a theoretically informed comparative analysis of the telecommunications and information policy making process in two major developing economies China and India With a focus on how policies are made rather than what those policies are the book investigates how policy actors interact within institutional structures to define policy problems and identify potential solutions The authors explain the evolution of these policy making systems as the two countries liberalized their economies and opened their media and telecommunications systems to competition over the past two and a half decades With applications in numerous international contexts this book will be of interest to scholars and practitioners in public policy studies telecommunications business development economics political science Asian studies and public administration Hybrid Learning: Innovation in Educational Practices Simon K.S.
