Onze Folklore Fotos Paul Vogt:

Explorers, Fortunes and Love Letters New Netherland Institute, 2010-04-01 When Henry Hudson sailing on the Half Moon for the Dutch East India Company first laid eyes on the entrance to the Hudson River in 1609 a world of seemingly infinite possibilities lay before him and his crew In 1624 the Dutch would take advantage of these opportunities and create the colony of New Netherland building homes and communities that stretched from the Delaware Bay up along the Hudson River Valley to present day Albany New York The story of New Netherland is often overlooked in tales of the founding of America The essays in Explorers Fortunes and Love Letters A Window on New Netherland offer a new perspective that takes the spotlight off the Puritans of New England and the settlers of Jamestown Virginia and instead offers striking arguments for casting the Dutch as central players in the American narrative These twelve essays written by preeminent historians of New Netherland pull from diverse perspectives social cultural intellectual economic and political to weave together the dynamic and diverse history of the Dutch in America These scholars explore all aspects of Dutch life ranging from sailing methods to factional politics to written expressions of love The authors discuss how settlers retained traditions from the Netherlands such as the baking of bread and how these traditions changed over time and became engrained in American culture including the transformation of the Dutch St Nicholas into today's Santa Claus The colony of New Netherland was marked by its diversity and this topic is explored in discussions of the relationship between Native Americans and Dutch settlers in the Mohawk Valley the role of Jews in New Netherland and the practice of slavery throughout the colony The Dutch perspective on child rearing practices is also examined as well as the dream of attaining fortune in the New World The Dutch colony of New Netherland and the development of America are not separate stories but are inextricably linked together through historical moments and present realities Dutch settlers played critical roles in building the nation their influences are not lost and forgotten but are clearly evident even today Explorers Fortunes and Love Letters brings the reader into the everyday life of New Netherland and displays just how prominently the Dutch shaped America National Union Catalog, 1981, 1982

Language Development in the Digital Age Mila Vulchanova, Giosuè Baggio, Angelo Cangelosi, Linda Smith, 2017-10-18 The digital age is changing our children's lives and childhood dramatically New technologies transform the way people interact with each other the way stories are shared and distributed and the way reality is presented and perceived Parents experience that toddlers can handle tablets and apps with a level of sophistication the children's grandparents can only envy The question of how the ecology of the child affects the acquisition of competencies and skills has been approached from different angles in different disciplines In linguistics psychology and neuroscience the central question addressed concerns the specific role of exposure to language Two influential types of theory have been proposed On one view the capacity to learn language is hard wired in the human brain linguistic input is merely a trigger for language to develop On an alternative view language acquisition depends on the linguistic environment of the child and specifically on language input provided through child adult communication and interaction The latter view further specifies that factors in situated interaction are crucial for language learning to take place In the fields of information technology artificial intelligence and robotics a current theme is to create robots that develop as children do and to establish how embodiment and interaction support language learning in these machines In the field of human machine interaction research is investigating whether using a physical robot rather than a virtual agent or a computer based video has a positive effect on language development The Research Topic will address the following issues What are the methodological challenges faced by research on language acquisition in the digital age How should traditional theories and models of language acquisition be revised to account for the multimodal and multichannel nature of language learning in the digital age How should existing and future technologies be developed and transformed so as to be most beneficial for child language learning and cognition Can new technologies be tailored to support child growth and most importantly can they be designed in order to enhance specifically vulnerable children s language learning environment and opportunities What kind of learning mechanisms are involved How can artificial intelligence and robotics technologies as robot tutors support language development These questions and issues can only be addressed by means of an interdisciplinary approach that aims at developing new methods of data collection and analysis in cross sectional and longitudinal perspectives We welcome contributions addressing these questions from an interdisciplinary perspective both theoretically and empirically
