SUBJECT: HIV REPORTING REGULATIONS AND HIV-RELATED RESEARCH

This letter is to inform you how the current HIV reporting regulations apply to HIV antibody and viral load test results that are generated by research studies. As you are aware, a non-name system of HIV reporting took effect in California on July 1, 2002. (California Code of Regulations, Title 17, Sections 2641.5-2643.2D, which can be accessed at <http://www.cdhs.ca.gov/AIDS>). Since then, the Office of AIDS (OA) has received several requests by researchers to clarify how these regulations apply to specific HIV-related research studies conducted in the State.

The current HIV reporting regulations do not specifically address HIV antibody and viral load test results obtained from all types of research studies. To remedy this situation, we hope to amend the regulations to clarify how HIV reporting applies to all research results. Until that time, however, the principal investigator[s] of a research project of a type either addressed or not addressed by the current HIV reporting regulations may apply to OA for exemption from the regulations.

EXEMPTION TO THE CURRENT HIV REPORTING REGULATIONS

For purposes of determining current exemption status, research projects that generate HIV antibody and/or viral load test results are divided into two categories:

- I. Research projects starting before July 1, 2002.
- II. Research projects starting on or after July 1, 2002.

General Accounting Office, 1992 Gender and HIV in South Africa Courtenay Sprague, 2018-03-16 This book addresses the ongoing problem of HIV in black South African women as a health inequity Importantly it argues that this urgent problem of justice is changeable Sprague uses the capabilities approach to bring a theory of health justice together with multiple sources of evidence to investigate the complex problem of HIV and accompanying poor health outcomes in black South African women Motivated by a concern for application of knowledge this work discusses how to better conceptualise what health justice demands of state and society and how to mobilise available evidence on health inequities in ways that compel greater state action to address problems of gender and health HIV in women and possible responses are investigated on four distinct levels conceptual social structure health systems and law The analysis demonstrates that this problem is indeed modifiable with long term interventions and an enhanced state response targeted at multiple levels This book will be of interest to academics and students in the social health sciences gender and development studies and global health as well as HIV health activists government officials policy makers HIV clinicians and health providers interested in HIV Public Health Letter , 2000 At Risk Gowri Vijayakumar, 2021-07-27 In the mid 1990s experts predicted that India would face the world s biggest AIDS epidemic by 2000 Though a crisis at this scale never fully materialized global public health institutions donors and the Indian state initiated a massive effort to prevent it HIV prevention programs channeled billions of dollars toward those groups designated as at risk sex workers and men who have sex with men At Risk captures this unique moment in which these criminalized and marginalized groups reinvented their at risk categorization and became central players in the crisis response The AIDS crisis created a contradictory conditional and temporary opening for sex worker and LGBTIQ activists to renegotiate citizenship and to make demands on the state Working across India and Kenya Gowri Vijayakumar provides a fine grained account of the political struggles at the heart of the Indian AIDS response These range from everyday articulations of sexual identity in activist organizations in Bangalore to new approaches to HIV prevention in Nairobi where prevention strategies first introduced in India are adapted and circulate as in the global AIDS field more broadly Vijayakumar illuminates how the politics of gender sexuality and nationalism shape global crisis response In so doing she considers the precarious potential for social change in and after a crisis

Cumulated Index Medicus , 1988 Nobody Is Supposed to Know C. Riley Snorton, 2014-03-01 Since the early 2000s the phenomenon of the down low black men who have sex with men as well as women and do not identify as gay queer or bisexual has exploded in news media and popular culture from the Oprah Winfrey Show to R B singer R Kelly's hip hop opera Trapped in the Closet Most down low stories are morality tales in which black men are either predators who risk infecting their unsuspecting female partners with HIV or victims of a pathological black culture that repudiates openly gay identities In both cases down low narratives depict black men as sexually dangerous duplicitous promiscuous and contaminated In Nobody Is Supposed to Know C Riley Snorton traces the emergence and circulation of the down low in contemporary media and popular culture to show how these portrayals reinforce troubling perceptions of black sexuality Reworking Eve Sedgwick's notion of the glass closet Snorton advances a new theory of such representations in which black sexuality is marked by hypervisibility and confinement spectacle and speculation Through close readings of news music movies television and gossip blogs Nobody Is Supposed to Know explores the contemporary genealogy meaning and functions of the down low Snorton examines how the down low links blackness and queerness in the popular imagination and how the down low is just one example of how media and popular culture surveil and police black sexuality Looking at figures such as Ma Rainey Bishop Eddie L Long J L King and Will Smith he ultimately contends that down low narratives reveal the limits of current understandings of black sexuality
