The Cluster Organization Anna Maria Lis, Adrian Lis, 2021-02-22 Cluster organizations are becoming more and more popular both in developing and developed countries Considering the development of cluster policy and the related dynamic growth of cluster initiatives in the world the lack of sufficient knowledge on the development of cooperation in cluster organizations inhibits their development and in many cases causes their complete disintegration The book provides new important elements to the current system of knowledge filling in cognitive and research gaps in the scientific literature on problems related to cooperation in cluster organizations The most valuable features for the reader concern the epistemological methodological and application aspects The new element includes a theoretical concept which refers to the trajectory of development of cooperative relationships in cluster organizations that facilitates the understanding and explanation of mechanisms responsible for cooperation in such organizations The concept also has great practical advantages especially for people implementing the idea of clustering coordinators facilitators and members of cluster organizations as well as politicians and public authorities are responsible for shaping and implementing the cluster policy It will be of value to researchers academics and students in fields with an interest in organizational studies management of innovation and technology strategic management industrial economics and economic geography

Post-Disaster Governance in Southeast Asia Andri N.R. Mardiah, Robert B. Olshansky, Mizan B.F. Bisri, 2021-12-03 This book aims to provide insight into how Southeast Asian countries have responded to disasters recovered and rebuilt It investigates emergency response and disaster recovery cases at national levels and from regional perspectives Recovery from great disasters poses great challenges to affected countries in terms of organization financing and opportunities for post disaster betterment Importantly disasters are critical moments in which to achieve disaster risk reduction especially in the context of climate change and Sustainable Development Goals Insights from these cases can help other countries better prepare for response and recovery before the next disaster strikes While the experiences of disaster risk reduction and climate change implementation in Southeast Asian countries have been well documented tacit knowledge from emergency response and recovery from these countries has not been transformed into explicit knowledge There are only a few books that integrate information and lessons from post disaster governance in Southeast Asia as a region and because of the importance of providing real and recent situations this book will interest many policymakers practitioners and academics The information presented here will lead to a better understanding of how to plan for future disasters and improve governance to ensure effective emergency response as well as encouraging a build back better and safer towards a more resilient and sustained recovery

Global Markets and Local Crafts Frederick F. Wherry, 2008-02-25 Today it is not uncommon to find items in department stores that are hand crafted in countries like Thailand and Costa Rica These traditional crafts now make up an important part of a global market

They support local and sometimes national economies and help create and solidify cultural identity But these crafts are not necessarily indigenous Whereas Thailand markets crafts with a long history and cultural legacy Costa Rica has created a local handicraft tradition where none was known to exist previously In Global Markets and Local Crafts Frederick F Wherry compares the handicraft industries of Thailand and Costa Rica to show how local cultural industries break into global markets and conversely how global markets affect the ways in which artisans understand adapt and utilize their cultural traditions Wherry develops a new framework for studying globalization by considering the phenomenon from the perspective of the supplier instead of the market Drawing from interviews and extensive fieldwork shadowing artisans and exporters in their daily dealings Wherry offers a rare account of globalization in motion and what happens when market negotiations do not proceed as planned Considering economic and political forces flows of people and materials and frames that define cultural and market situations as they play out in the artisan communities of these two countries Wherry uncovers how authentic folk tradition is capitalized or created

Countryside Connections Catherine Hagan Hennessy, Robin Means, Vanessa Burholt, 2014-04-29 Older people in the countryside are vastly under researched compared to those in urban areas This innovative volume the first project based book in the New Dynamics of Ageing series offers a unique interdisciplinary perspective on this issue focusing on older people's role as assets in rural civic society. It demonstrates how the use of diverse methods from across disciplines aims to increase public engagement with this research. The authors examine the ways in which rural elders are connected to community and place the contributions they make to family and neighbours and the organisations and groups to which they belong. Highly topical issues around later life explored through these perspectives include older people's financial security, leisure access to services, transport and mobility, civic engagement and digital inclusion, all considered within the rural context in an era of fiscal austerity. In doing so, this book challenges problem-based views of ageing rural populations through considering barriers and facilitators to older people's inclusion and opportunities for community participation in rural settings. Countryside Connections is a valuable text for students, researchers and practitioners with interests in rural ageing, civic engagement and interdisciplinary methods, theory and practice.

Global Sport Business Hans Westerbeek, 2013-09-13 Global Sport Business: The Community Impact of Commercial Sport involves a range of pressing issues that come with the arrival of sport as a commodity in the world economy. It can be argued that throughout the past two centuries sport has always been recognized as both a frivolous pursuit of spending leisure time with friends and family and as an activity that has substantial commercial value to be mined by entrepreneurs. However, only during the most recent wave of globalization, spurred by technological advancements that have led to achieving global reach in regard to potential customers, has sport entered a global marketplace that offers tremendous financial rewards for those who manage to control international sport organizations and events. In this book, global sport business is viewed from a number of different perspectives, including a value chain approach to describing the sport industry, the ever-increasing impact of the international media on sport business, how globalization influences the style of sport management, how social capital can be generated through sport business and the emergence of social sport business. Overall, the different contributors to the book reflect on how sport's global and, as such, commercial attractiveness can and often will impact locally on communities of people and individuals. This book was published as a special issue of Sport in Society.

Pathways to Careers in Health Care Christopher T. King, Philip Young P. Hong, 2019-12-16 This book provides analyses and evaluations of the Health Profession Opportunity Grants (HPOG) program, a federal government demonstration project that is targeted at providing career opportunities in the health care field for individuals in low wage populations.

Healthy Ties Markku T. Hyyppä, 2010-09-02 Social capital is a widely acknowledged candidate for implementing beneficial democratic processes and promoting public health. Healthy Ties: Social Capital, Population Health and Survival traces the path from the conceptualization to the implementation of social capital. To provide empirical proof of the effects of social capital on public health is a serious challenge and the main focus of the book. In the Nordic countries, personal identification codes linking data from various sources, nation-wide population registers, nationally representative and re-tested health surveys and the long tradition of epidemiology, submit to serve well the research into social capital and public health. Up to date longitudinal data on social capital and health outcomes are carefully described and reviewed in this book In Finland the Swedish speaking minority is very long lived and has better health as compared with the Finnish speaking majority A Theory of Intergenerational Justice Joerg Chet Tremmel,2009-12 1 Introduction 2 Criteria based definitions of scientific terms 3 Comparisons between generations 4 Objections to theories of generational justice 5 What to sustain capital or well being as an axiological goal 6 How much to sustain the demands of justice in the intergenerational context Conclusion

Vocational Learning Ralph Catts,Ian Falk,Ruth Wallace,2011-08-12 Effective knowing and learning for vocational purposes must take account of the wide range of variables that impact on knowledge formation and that promote learning In light of those many variables the formal sector of technical and vocational education and training TVET must constantly ask itself what it could and should do to better provide vocational learning for those people likely to pursue learning via the informal sector This book addresses that question Vocational Learning Innovative Theory and Practice discusses four theoretical aspects of vocational learning that support understanding of vocational learning processes and practices the situations of vocational learning the power and roles of social networks and identity in vocational learning knowing and knowledge management processes and the implications for pedagogic practices in both informal and formal TVET systems The book provides an overview of a series of international examples of innovative approaches to vocational educational theory and practice and it draws on empirical research to analyze the effects of those approaches It includes unique insights into aspects of TVET for Indigenous peoples With a discussion of policy implications for Europe North America and Australia this book is an instrumental tool to understand the underlying factors that generate effective educational and workforce outcomes through effective formal and informal learning Measures for Community and Neighborhood Research
