Modern North Julie Decker, 2010-03-31 The Geographic Region Around the North Pole is a Raw and Exotic Area of Untouched Nature and Inescapable Beauty Building in this extremely cold climate requires an advanced degree of ingenuity and resolve Ecological conditions including high winds snowdrifts and permafrost combined with periods of little sunlight present seemingly impossible logistical hurdles for architects Vernacular buildings have emerged but like most indigenous structures they do little more than simply enclose and protect Recent years have witnessed an explosion of exceptional new architecture and a new definition of a Northern building one that is both extraordinarily responsive to place and aesthetically provocative In Modern North Architecture on the Frozen Edge author Julie Decker presents thirty four of the most compelling and far ranging possibilities of contemporary architecture in the North These buildings located in northern Canada Scandinavia and Alaska are united in the way they embrace extreme conditions and provide visual stimulation in places that sometimes offer little more than a whitescape The book contains innovative structures by both established and up and coming architects including David Chipperfield Architects Studio Granda and Shim Sutcliffe Architects as well as essays by Brian Carter Juhani Pallasmaa Edwin Crittenden and Lisa Rochon that place the projects in the context of a new architectural response to the North BOOK JACKET

Wolfgang F. E. Preiser, Andrea E. Hardy, Jacob J. Wilhelm, 2017-09-01 The constant in architecture's evolution is change Adaptive Architecture explores structures or environments that accommodate multiple functions at the same time sequentially or at periodically recurring events It demonstrates how changing technological economic ecological and social conditions have altered the playing field for architecture from the design of single purpose structures to the design of interacting systems of synergistically interdependent distributed buildings Including contributors from the US UK Japan Australia Germany and South Africa the essays are woven into a five part framework which provides a broad and unique treatment of this important and timely issue Design and the Built Environment of the Arctic Leena Cho, Matthew

Competing Arctic Futures Nina Wormbs,2018-08-06 This edited collection explores how narratives about the future of the Arctic have been produced historically up until the present day The contemporary deterministic and monolithic narrative is shown to be only one of several possible ways forward This book problematizes the dominant prediction that there will be increased shipping and resource extraction as the ice melts and shows how this seemingly inevitable future has consequences for the action that can be taken in the present This collection looks to historical projections about the future of the Arctic evaluating why some voices have been heard and championed while others remain marginalised It questions how these historical perspectives have shaped resource allocation and governance structures to understand the forces behind change in the Arctic region Considering the history of individuals and institutions their political and economic networks and their perceived power the essays in this collection offer new perspectives on how

MacKay-Lyons, 2005-07-14 It has been our distinct pleasure over the past few years to publish monographs on a select group of young architects and firms whose work represents the best of contemporary design thinking while retaining a distinctive regional sensibility. The Nova Scotian architect Brian MacKay Lyons fits neatly into this distinguished list which includes Marlon Blackwell in the Ozarks, Rick Joy in the Southwest and Miller Hull in the Northwest. Those familiar with Nova Scotia understand the austere beauty of this Canadian landscape with its wide open skies and rugged terrain pushing up against the Atlantic. MacKay Lyons's work responds to this unique topography and to the vernacular building traditions that define its communities. His houses, commercial buildings and public projects combine regional forms with local materials, technologies and building practices to create works that are linked to their environments right down to their DNA. Peaked gables, shed roofs and sliding doors are inspired by local barn types; corrugated metal cladding comes from the buildings used by the area's fishing industry; structural wooden frames are based on local ship building traditions. These elements communicate a sense of place that is sophisticated, accessible and free of sentimentality. Novelist and historian Malcolm Quantrill weaves together an intimate portrait of MacKay Lyons and his work, elucidating the peculiar regionality of his subject's architecture. A New Voices monograph published with The Graham Foundation. Urban Experience and Design Justin B. Hollander, Ann Sussman, 2020-10-15 Embracing a biological and evolutionary perspective to explain the human experience of place, Urban Experience and Design explores how cognitive science and biometric tools provide an evidence-based foundation for architecture and planning. Aiming to promote the creation of a healthier and happier public realm, this book describes how unconscious responses to stimuli outside our conscious awareness direct our experience of the built environment and govern human behavior in our surroundings. This collection contains 15 chapters including contributions from researchers in the US, the UK, the Netherlands, France and Iran. Addressing topics such as the impact of eye tracking analysis and seeing beauty and empathy within buildings, Urban Experience and Design encourages us to reframe our understanding of design, including the narrative of how modern architecture and planning came to be in the first place. This volume invites students, academics and scholars to see how cognitive science and biometric findings give us remarkable 21st century metrics for evaluating and improving designs even before they are built. The Works of John Ruskin: Modern painters.-v.5-6. The stones of Venice.-v.7. *Seven lamps of architecture. In this book author and architect Andr Tavares explores the notion of fishing architecture a concept coined to describe architectural practices that are spawned by fisheries To encompass the scope of fishing architecture and to establish the connections between marine ecology and architectural practice the book oscillates between different continents centuries and species Fisheries are unique and this book sheds light on that uniqueness through an articulated narrative and a wealth of iconography Up until now there has been no history of architecture from the perspective of fish although there are counterparts for meat timber oil and many other industries Tavares provides a counternarrative to the traditional history of marine environments which tends to focus on water ecosystems and instead forms a bridge between what happens at sea and what happens on land The hope is that after reading this book readers will better understand life in the sea in relation to urban growth and terrestrial landscapes

Erik Larson's The Devil in the White City all things Sherlock Holmes or the podcast My Favorite Murder The Case of the Murderous Dr Cream is an unforgettable true crime story from a master of the genre
