Aspects of Meaning Construction Günter Radden, 2007-01-01 Meaning does not reside in linguistic units but is constructed in the minds of the language users Meaning construction is an on line mental activity whereby speech participants create meanings on the basis of underspecified linguistic units The construction of meaning is guided by cognitive principles The contributions collected in the volume focus on two types of cognitive principles guiding meaning construction meaning construction by means of metonymy and metaphor and meaning construction by means of mental spaces and conceptual blending The papers in the former group survey experiential evidence of figurative meaning construction and discuss high level metaphor and metonymy the role of metonymy in discourse the chaining of metonymies metonymy as an alternative to coercion and metaphonymic meanings of proper names The papers in the latter group address the issues of meaning construction prompted by personal pronouns relative clauses inferential constructions sort of expressions questions and the into causative construction

Logic, Language, and Meaning, Volume 1 L. T. F. Gamut, 1991 Although the two volumes of Logic Language and Meaning can be used independently of one another together they provide a comprehensive overview of modern logic as it is used as a tool in the analysis of natural language Both volumes provide exercises and their solutions Volume 1 Introduction to Logic begins with a historical overview and then offers a thorough introduction to standard propositional and first order predicate logic It provides both a syntactic and a semantic approach to inference and validity and discusses their relationship Although language and meaning receive special attention this introduction is also accessible to those with a more general interest in logic In addition the volume contains a survey of such topics as definite descriptions restricted quantification second order logic and many valued logic The pragmatic approach to non truthconditional and conventional implicatures are also discussed Finally the relation between logic and formal syntax is treated and the notions of rewrite rule automation grammatical complexity and language hierarchy are explained

Meanings and Other Things Gary Ostertag, 2016-11-24 Stephen Schiffer's writing has been central to analytic philosophy of language and mind since the 1970s In 1972 his book Meaning launched an important research program into Gricean or intention based approaches to linguistic meaning which would come to dominate much subsequent theorizing about language A sea change occurred in 1987 with the publication of Remnants of Meaning Schiffer here repudiated the project initiated by Meaning arguing that the theory of public language meaning it described and the account of mental representation it required were based on false presuppositions The ramifications here were far reaching and set the agenda for discussions in the philosophy of language and mind for a generation In 2003 The Things We Mean initiated a more positive program but one informed by the negative results of Remnants Things also reflected the broadening of Schiffer's concerns which now extended to metaphysics metaethics and the skeptical paradoxes In Meanings and Other Things fourteen leading philosophers explore central themes in Schiffer's writings Topics range from theories of meaning to moral cognitivism the nature of paradox and the problem of vagueness The volume also contains a comprehensive introduction that describes the evolution of Schiffer's thought and closes with Schiffer's replies to his critics extended essays that bring us up to date on Schiffer's current thinking on the themes that have defined not only his career but philosophy of language as it is now practised

A Loss of Mastery Peter Gay, A New Dictionary of the English Language Charles Richardson, 1839

The Bookman, 1892 A Reinterpretation of Linguistic Relativity Guohui Jiang, 2020-12-03 As a vital issue not only of linguistics but also of cognitive sciences psychology neurosciences philosophy etc engaging in the study of the relation between language thought and reality the doctrine of linguistic relativity LR went through upsurge downturn renaissance during more than 80 years yet remains still unsolved puzzle for researchers of all these academic areas Numerous treatises with valued ideas about this issue are continuously contributed to this theme nevertheless the study of LR has been stagnant up to nowadays The reason is that in my opinion the study has deviated from the right direction and this deviation might be boiled down to three basic concepts The expository scope of LR LR cannot and should not concern with a human speech thinking action at the level of human biological physiological traits b human behaviours in all fields of his everyday life and c human spiritual activities in the areas of science literature philosophy art etc LR will explain that constrained by the language ordinary people are not aware that the reality they talk think about does not coincide with the outside world they physically experience The relativity We should ponder the language thought reality relation in line with the original intention of Whorf when he proposed the principle of LR i e the relativity should not be interpreted as the discrepancy between customs modes of thinking and patterns of behavior of different linguistic communities on the basis of comparing peculiarities of their languages The language The doctrine of LR should concern with the human language as a complete and comprehensive system but not with a set of sporadically observed phenomena and certain random interpretation of them The linguistic intermediated world is eventually construed by the entire system of language rather than an assembly of peculiar language items
