Indigeneity in Latin American Cinema Milton Fernando Gonzalez Rodriguez, 2022-07-28 Indigeneity in Latin American Cinema explores how contemporary films 2000-2020 participate in the evolution and circulation of images and sounds that in many ways define how indigenous communities are imagined at a local, regional, and global scale. The volume reviews the diversity of portrayals from a chronological, geopolitical, linguistic, epistemic, ontological, transnational, and intersectional paradigm-changing and self-representational perspective, allocating one chapter to each theme. The corpus of this study consists of 68 fictional features directed by non-indigenous filmmakers, 31 cinematic works produced by indigenous directors, communities, and 22 Cine Regional Regional Cinema films. The book also draws upon a significant number of engravings, drawings, paintings, photographs, and films produced between 1493 and 2000 as primary sources for the historical review of the visual representations of indigeneity. Through content and close textual analysis, interviews with audiences, surveys, and social media posts analysis, the author looks at the contexts in which Latin American films circulate in international festivals and the paradigm shifts introduced by self-representational cinema. Roma, Mexico, 2018. Conclusively, the author provides the foundations of histrionic indigeneity, a theory that explains how overtly histrionic proclivities play a significant role in depictions of an imagined indigenous Other in recent films.

Feminists, Feminisms, and Advertising Kim Golombisky, Peggy J. Kreshel, 2017-10-16 Women and advertising are both globally ubiquitous. Yet advertising remains one of the most unabashedly misogynist, heterosexist, and racist industries. This edited volume of original unpublished chapters is the first ever to offer explicitly feminist views on advertising. Feminists, Feminisms, and Advertising provides feminist analyses of the historical relationships between the advertising industry and the women's movement in the United States. Contributors consider the ways that advertisers encode race, ethnicity, gender, and heteronormativity into advertising practices and messages exported around the world. They further explore the ways that intersectional audiences such as women of color, Latinas, and lesbian and gay audiences decode, reinterpret, resist, and subvert advertising. With this book, the editors and contributors address the present lack of feminist scholarship, research, knowledge, or curriculum in advertising and begin a more honest dialogue about diversity and intersectional gender in the advertising academy, as well as the advertising industry.
