Liturgy & Power Flanagan, Brian P.,Vento Johann M.,2017-05-18

Inside Evangelicalism Mark Ward Sr.,2024-12-15 In Inside Evangelicalism Mark Ward Sr combines ethnographic autoethnographic and sociolinguistic research to identify and analyze white evangelicals distinctive culture and speech code from a perspective rooted deeply in both communication studies and the evangelical community The Bible emerges as evangelicalism s one dominant symbol that unifies all meaning and divides the world into a cosmic dualism between secular humanism and an all encompassing biblical worldview The associated language of literalism drives evangelical culture cognition and identity creating a system of ordered social relations enacted through patriarchy anti intellectualism authoritarianism and white Christian nationalism

Ward's positionality as both an ethnographer of religious communication who has observed white evangelical culture for two decades and a self-identified evangelical for four decades makes him uniquely qualified to cast an insider's critical yet balanced eye on conservative white Christian culture. Inside Evangelicalism complements existing scholarship within anthropology and sociology where evangelicalism has been studied in conjunction with the rise of the Religious Right while contributing unique insights from religious communication studies. The book is also a landmark in its own right, a work that demonstrates the productive complementarity of ethnographic and autoethnographic research and the first study to describe evangelical culture through the ethnography of its communication.

Insights are gleaned through the prism of the philosophical built performative political and intercultural landscapes.

Religious Television and Pious Authority in Pakistan Taha Kazi, 2021-04-06 In Pakistan religious talk shows emerged as a popular television genre following the 2002 media liberalization reforms. Since then these shows have become important platforms where ideas about Islam and religious authority in Pakistan are developed and argued. In Religious Television and Pious Authority in Pakistan Taha Kazi reveals how these talk shows mediate changes in power belief and practice. She also identifies the sacrifices and compromises that religious scholars feel compelled to make in order to ensure their presence on television. These scholars of varying doctrinal and educational backgrounds including madrasa educated scholars and self-taught celebrity preachers are given screen time to debate and issue religious edicts on the authenticity and contemporary application of Islamic concepts and practices. In response viewers are sometimes allowed to call in live with questions. Kazi maintains that these featured debates inspire viewers to reevaluate the status of scholarly edicts thereby fragmenting religious authority. By exploring how programming decisions inadvertently affect viewer engagements with Islam Religious Television and Pious Authority in Pakistan looks beyond the revivalist impact of religious media and highlights the prominence of religious talk shows in disrupting expectations about faith.
