Medical Anthropology and the World System Hans A. Baer, 2006 Medical Anthropology and the World System Hans A. Baer, 2003 Exploring Medical Anthropology Donald Joralemon, 2017-03-16 Now in its fourth edition Exploring Medical Anthropology provides a concise and engaging introduction to medical anthropology It presents competing theoretical perspectives in a balanced fashion highlighting points of conflict and convergence Concrete examples and the author s personal research experiences are utilized to explain some of the discipline s most important insights such as that biology and culture matter equally in the human experience of disease and that medical anthropology can help to alleviate human suffering The text has been thoroughly updated for the fourth edition including fresh case studies and a new chapter on drugs It contains a range of pedagogical features to support teaching and learning including images text boxes a glossary and suggested further reading The Anthropology of Climate Change Hans Baer, Merrill Singer, 2014-04-24 In addressing the urgent questions raised by climate change this book provides a comprehensive overview of the anthropology of climate change guided by a critical political ecological framework It argues that anthropologists must significantly expand their focus on climate change and their contributions to responding to climate change as a grave risk to humanity The book presents a human socioecological framework for conceptualizing climate change It examines the emergence and slow maturation of the anthropology of climate change reviews the historic foundations for this work in the archaeology of climate change and presents three alternative contemporary theoretical perspectives in the anthropology of climate change The book synthesizes anthropological work and perspectives on climate change in the form of case studies in various regions of the world revealing the nature of global climate change as constituting multiple and somewhat diverse changes in local settings It explores the applied anthropology of climate change in terms of the ways anthropologists are contributing to climate policy working with communities on climate change issues as well as within the climate movement both internationally and nationally Finally it provides an overview of what other the social sciences are saying about climate change and explores ways that the anthropology of climate change can interface with sociology political science and human geography in order to create an integrated social science of climate change This book gives researchers and students in Environmental Anthropology Climate Change Human Geography and Sociology a novel framework for understanding climate change that emphasizes human socioecological interactions Introducing Medical Anthropology Merrill Singer,Hans Baer,Debbi Long,Alex

Pavlotski,2019-03-20 The third edition of Introducing Medical Anthropology A Discipline in Action provides students with a first exposure to the growing field of medical and health anthropology The narrative is guided by unifying themes First health oriented anthropologists are very involved in the process of helping to varying degrees to change the world around them through their work in applied projects policy initiatives and advocacy Second the authors present the fundamental importance of culture and social relationships in health and illness by demonstrating that illness and disease involve complex biosocial processes and that resolving them requires attention to a range of factors beyond biology Third through an examination of the issue of health inequality this book underlines the need for an analysis that moves beyond cultural or even ecological models of health toward a comprehensive biosocial approach Such an approach integrates biological cultural and social factors in building unified theoretical understandings of the origin of ill health while contributing to the building of effective and equitable national health care systems NEW TO THIS EDITION All chapters have been updated or expanded NEW Chapter 8 The Biopolitics of Life Biotechnology Biocapital and Bioethics Revised text style for crisper language and livelier phrasing Added a brief signposting of chapter content at the beginning of each chapter and review questions about the key issues and concepts at the end of each chapter Expanded discussion of Zika Ebola gender and health PTSD and psychological anthropology geriatric health the contemporary vaccine controversy the internet and health and the health impacts of fracking and nuclear energy development Concluding chapter examines anthropologically informed strategies and visions for a healthier world Grappling with Societies and Institutions in an Era of Socio-Ecological Crisis Hans

A. Baer,2020-12-10 Grappling with Societies and Institutions in an Era of Socio Ecological Crisis is an autobiographical ethnography of the journey through various societies and institutions and how they function in the midst of an era of socio ecological crises The volume traces the steps of the author in becoming a radical anthropologist namely through the experience of immigration and naturalization from Peru to the United States and then to Australia politicization while working as an engineer in the aircraft industry during the late 1960s socialization in and subsequent exit from Roman Catholicism and experiences as an academic working in the corporate university As well the author illuminates the practices of research and engagement as a scholar activist on various topics such as the Levites of Utah and African American Spiritual churches socio political and religious life in East Germany complementary and alternative medicine the Australian climate movement and democratic eco socialism The Social Value of Drug Addicts Merrill Singer, J Bryan Page, 2016-06-16 In a wide ranging analysis covering popular culture policy and underlying social structures this book shows how drug addicts are socially constructed as useless burdens on society and who benefits from that portrayal Cultural Issues in Health and Health Care Adele Tjale, Louise De Villiers, 2004 Spirituality economics politics and kinship are among the cultural factors considered in this guide to transcultural nursing an area of healthcare that incorporates the values beliefs and lifestyle choices of a patient in order to provide culturally congruent competent and compassionate care Introducing Health Anthropology Merrill Singer, Hans A. Baer, Debbi Long, Alex Pavlotski, 2025-03-12 With a new title that reflects the broad scope and primary concerns of the field Introducing Health Anthropology A Discipline in Action Fourth Edition provides students with a first look at the dynamic discipline of medical and health anthropology The narrative is guided by four unifying themes First health anthropologists are heavily involved in the process of helping to better understand and change the world through their work in applied projects policy initiatives and advocacy Second the book presents the fundamental importance of culture and social relationships in health and sickness by demonstrating that experienced illness and diagnosed disease involve complex biosocial processes and that resolving them requires attention to a range of factors beyond biology Third through an examination of health inequality the book highlights the need for research and analyses that move beyond cultural or even ecological models of health toward comprehensive and holistic biosocial frameworks Finally the authors emphasize that physical and mental health are intimately related to the health of the environment on which humans depend for air food and the other resources that make life possible Introducing Health Anthropology gives students the tools to rethink how to achieve healthier populations effective and fully accessible healthcare systems and a sustainable world New to this Edition New Chapter 4 Human Evolution and Health examines the respective roles of genetics and sociocultural factors in health to navigate the welter of public misinformation on genetic determinism race and sex and gender minorities Significantly expanded discussion of reproductive health sex and gender and gender equity throughout the book reflects current and controversial issues in the U S Up to date examination of the relationship of climate change to health and social wellbeing offers students insights on how our physical world is changing and the causes of those changes Discussion of the global impact of COVID 19 throughout the text explores the enduring changes wrought by the pandemic on human societies Climate Change and Capitalism in Australia Hans A. Baer, 2021-09-30 Recognizing that climate politics has been an increasingly contentious and heated topic in Australia over the past two decades this book examines Australian capitalism as a driver of climate change and the nexus between the corporations and Coalition and Australian Labor parties As a highly developed country Australia is punching above its weight in terms of contributing to greenhouse gas emissions despite rising temperatures droughts water shortages and raging bushfires storm surges and flooding and the bleaching of the Great Barrier Reef Drawing upon both archival and ethnographic research Hans Baer examines Australian climate politics at the margins namely the Greens the labour union the environmental NGOs and the grass roots climate movement Adopting a climate justice perspective which calls for system change not climate change as opposed to the conventional approach of seeking to mitigate emissions through market mechanisms and techno fixes particularly renewable energy sources this book posits system challenging transitional steps to shift Australia toward an eco socialist vision in keeping with a burgeoning global socio ecological revolution Accessibly written and including an interview with renowned comedian and climate activist Rod Quantock OAM this book is essential reading for academics students and general readers with an interest in climate change and climate activism

Medical Pluralism in the Andes Christine Greenway, Joan D. Koss-Chiokino, Thomas Leatherman, 2003-09-02 Medical Pluralism in the Andes is the first major collection of anthropological approaches to health in the Andes for over twenty years Written in tribute to Libbet Crandon Malamud's pioneering work on Andean medicine this readable extensively illustrated and instructive book reflects the diversity of approaches in medical anthropology that have evolved during the past two decades Capturing the intricacies of health practice within the context of Andean social history cultural tradition community and folklore this is a remarkable and intimate chronicle of Andean culture and everyday life which will appeal across a wide range of readers from professional anthropologists to those interested in alternative medicines

Towards the Humanisation of Birth Elizabeth Newnham, Lois McKellar, Jan Pincombe, 2018-02-13 This book examines the future of birthing practices particularly by focusing on epidural analgesia in childbirth It describes historical and cultural trajectories that have shaped the way in which birth is understood in Western developed nations In setting out the nature of epidural history knowledge and practice the book delves into related birth practices within the hospital setting By critically examining these practices which are embedded in a scientific discourse that rationalises and relies upon technology use the authors argue that epidural analgesia has been positioned as a safe technology in contemporary maternity culture despite it carrying particular risks In examining alternative research the book proposes that increasing epidural rates are not only due to greater pain relief requirements or access but are influenced by technocratic values and a fragmented maternity system The authors outline the way in which this epidural discourse influences how information is presented to women and how this affects their choices around the use of pain relief in labour
