

Matriarchy

- Peggy Sanday (2002): Minangkabau of Indonesia
 - a matriarchy because women are the center, origin, and foundation of the social order
 - Women are not disproportionately more powerful than men
 - Women:
 - Associated with central pillar of the traditional house (oldest house in village)
 - Ceremonies – women are addressed by term meaning “Queen Mother”
 - Control land inheritance
 - Matrilocal
 - Wedding ceremony – wife and kin collect husband and escort him to wife’s home
 - Divorce – man takes his things and leaves
- Despite special position of women, matriarchy is not the equivalent of female rule; all decision making should be done by consensus

1882-1916 M. J. Kelly, 2006 This book analyses Fenian influences on Irish nationalism between the Phoenix Park murders of 1882 and the Easter Rising of 1916 It challenges the convention that Irish separatist politics before the First World War were marginal and irrelevant showing instead that clear boundaries between home rule and separatist nationalism did not exist Kelly examines how leading home rule MPs argued that Parnellism was Fenianism by other means and how Fenian politics were influenced by Irish cultural nationalism which reinforced separatist orthodoxies serving to clarify the ideological distance between Fenians and home rulers It discusses how early Sinn Féin gave voice to these new orthodoxies and concludes by examining the ideological complexities of the Irish Volunteers and exploring Irish politics between 1914 and 1916
