Measuring The World A Novel:

Measuring the World Daniel Kehlmann, 2006 At the end of the eighteenth century two young Germans set out to measure the world as Alexander von Humboldt journeys to unexplored regions of the planet and Carl Friedrich Gauss uses his mathematical skills to solve some of the greatest puzzles of his time

Topophilia Robert T. Tally, 2018-11-09 What is our place in the world and how do we inhabit understand and represent this place to others Topophilia gathers essays by Robert Tally that explore the relationship between space place and mapping on the one hand and literary criticism history and theory on the other The book provides an introduction to spatial literary studies exploring in detail the theory and practice of geocriticism literary cartography and the spatial humanities more generally The spatial anxiety of disorientation and the need to know one's location even if only subconsciously is a deeply felt and shared human experience Building on Yi Fu Tuan's topophilia or love of place Tally instead considers the notion of topophilia as a simultaneous sense of place consciousness coupled with a feeling of disorder anxiety and dis ease He argues that no effective geography could be complete without also incorporating an awareness of the lonely loathsome or frightening spaces that condition our understanding of that space Tally considers the tension between the objective ordering of a space and the subjective ways in which narrative worlds are constructed Narrative maps present a way of understanding that seems realistic but is completely figurative So how can these maps be used to not only understand the real world but also to put up an alternative vision of what that world might otherwise be From Tolkien to Cervantes Borges to More Topophilia provides a clear and compelling explanation of how geocriticism the spatial humanities and literary cartography help us to narrate represent and understand our place in a constantly changing world

Space, Time and the Limits of Human Understanding Shyam Wuppuluri, Giancarlo Ghirardi, 2016-12-01 In this compendium of essays some of the world's leading thinkers discuss their conceptions of space and time as viewed through the lens of their own discipline With an epilogue on the limits of human understanding this volume hosts contributions from six or more diverse fields It presumes only rudimentary background knowledge on the part of the reader Time and again through the prism of intellect humans have tried to diffract reality into various distinct yet seamless atomic yet holistic independent yet interrelated disciplines and have attempted to study it contextually Philosophers debate the paradoxes or engage in meditations dialogues and reflections on the content and nature of space and time Physicists too have been trying to mold space and time to fit their notions concerning micro and macro worlds Mathematicians focus on the abstract aspects of space time and measurement While cognitive scientists ponder over the perceptual and experiential facets of our consciousness of space and time computer scientists theoretically and practically try to optimize the space time complexities in storing and retrieving data information The list is never ending Linguists logicians artists evolutionary biologists geographers etc all are trying to weave a web of understanding around the same duo However our endeavour into a world of such endless imagination is restrained by intellectual dilemmas such as Can humans comprehend everything Are there any limits Can finite thought fathom infinity We have sought far and wide among the best minds to furnish articles that provide an overview of the above topics We hope that through this journey a symphony of patterns and tapestry of intuitions will emerge providing the reader with insights into the questions What is Space What is Time Chapter 15 of this book is available open access under a CC BY 4 0 license A Life in Fifty Books Anthony Cheetham,2025-03-06 There are good publishers and there are great publishers And then there s Anthony Cheetham Richard Dawkins In November 1966 by way of Mexico City Eton College Balliol College Oxford and a Norwegian raspberry farm Anthony Cheetham entered the doors of a publishing company for the first time to begin work as a junior editor Fifty eight years later he could look back on a career in which he had shaped the landscape of post war British publishing to a significant degree having established such prominent and notably successful companies as Century Orion Quercus and Head of Zeus and launched imprints from Abacus in 1973 to Zephyr in 2017 that continue to flourish in the third decade of the twenty first century Starting with Homer s Odyssey and ending with works by the evolutionary biologist Richard Dawkins and the German historian Ernst Kantorowicz Anthony Cheetham has selected fifty books as mileposts with which to map the course of his long and productive career Many of these are titles that he himself published Dune The Thorn Birds A Suitable Boy Meetings with Remarkable Trees The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo some are books he wished he had published Stephen Hawking s A Brief History of Time others are simply masterworks that left an indelible mark on him The Lord of the Rings War and Peace A Life in Fifty Books is an affectionate and revelatory account of a publishing life remarkable for its longevity its entrepreneurial energy and for the breadth and catholicity of its output which runs the gamut of seriousness from academically distinguished works of history science and philosophy to Confessions of a Window Cleaner Full of encounters with remarkable individuals as well as extraordinary books and embellished with beautiful photographs of book jackets from the 1950s to the present day A Life in Fifty Books is an engagingly written survey of an industry which in its author s well chosen words offers its practitioners a passport to roam across the entire spectrum of human experience endeavour and belief The Novel in German since 1990 Stuart Taberner,2011-09-01 Diversity is one of the defining characteristics of contemporary German language literature not just in terms of the variety of authors writing in German today but also in relation to theme form technique and style However common themes emerge the Nazi past transnationalism globalisation migration religion and ethnicity gender and sexuality and identity This book presents the novel in German since 1990 through a set of close readings both of international bestsellers including Daniel Kehlmann s Measuring the World and W G Sebald s Austerlitz and of less familiar but important texts such as Yad Kara s Selam Berlin Each novel discussed in the volume has been chosen on account of its aesthetic quality its impact and its representativeness the authors featured among them Nobel Prize winners G nter Grass Elfriede Jelinek and Herta and Paul Amirani demonstrate the energy and quality of contemporary writing in German Spatial Turns Jaimey Fisher,Barbara Caroline Mennel,2010 The phrase spatial turns signals the growing importance of space as an analytical as well as representational category for culture. The volume addresses such emerging modes of inquiry by bringing together for the first time essays that engage with spatial turns, spatiality and the theoretical implications of both in the context of German culture, history and theory. Migrating from fields like geography, urban studies and architecture, the new centrality of space has transformed social science fields as diverse as sociology, philosophy and psychology. In cultural studies, productive analyses of space increasingly cut across the studies of literature, film, popular culture and the visual arts. Spatial Turns brings together essays that apply a spatial analysis to German literature and other media and engages with specifically German theorizations of space by such figures as Siegfried Kracauer and Walter Benjamin. The volume is organized in four sections. Mapping Spaces addresses cartography in all forms and in its intersection with culture. Spaces of the Urban takes up one of the key sites of spatial studies, the city. Spaces of Encounter considers how Germany has become a contact zone for multiple ethnicities and Visualized Spaces concerns the theorization of space in film and new media studies.

You Should Have Left Daniel Kehlmann, 2017. From the internationally best selling author of Measuring the World and F, an eerie and supernatural tale of a writer's emotional collapse. It is fitting that I'm beginning a new notebook up here. New surroundings and new ideas, a new beginning. Fresh air. This passage is from the first entry of a journal kept by the narrator of Daniel Kehlmann's spellbinding new novel. It is the record of the seven days that he, his wife and his four-year-old daughter spend in a house they have rented in the mountains of Germany, a house that thwarts the expectations of the narrator's recollection and seems to defy the very laws of physics. He is eager to finish a screenplay for a sequel to the movie that launched his career, but something he cannot explain is undermining his convictions and confidence, a process he is recording in this account of the uncanny events that unfold as he tries to understand what exactly is happening around him and within him.

F Daniel Kehlmann, 2014-08-26. F is for family, F is for fortune, F is for fraud, F is for fate. From the internationally acclaimed author of Measuring the World, here is a dazzling tragicomedy about three brothers whose father takes on the occult and both wins and loses. Arthur is a dilettante, a wannabe writer who decides to fill an afternoon by taking his three young sons to a performance by the Great Lindemann, Master of Hypnosis. While allowing one of them to be called onto the stage and made a spectacle of, Arthur declares himself to be immune to hypnosis and a disbeliever in all magic. But the Great Lindemann knows better. He gets Arthur to tell him his deepest secrets and then tells him to make them real. That night, Arthur empties the family bank account, takes his passport and vanishes. He's going to become a world famous author, a master of the mystical. F is for fake. But what of the boys? Martin, painfully shy, grows up to be a Catholic priest without a vocation. F is for faith and lack of it. Eric becomes a financier, F is for fraud, losing touch with reality as he faces ruin while Ivan, destined for glory as a painter, instead becomes a forger. F is for forgery, too. They've settled into their life choices, but when the summer of the global financial crisis dawns, they're thrown together again with cataclysmic results. Wildly funny, heartbreaking, tragic. Daniel Kehlmann's novel about truth, family and the terrible power of fortune is a fictional triumph     The Lomborg Deception Howard Friel,2010-01-01 Questions the research assumptions and intention behind Danish statistician Bj rn Lomborg s attacks on peer reviewed scientific theories of global warming

Masculinities in Austrian Contemporary Literature Matthias Eck,2020-03-04 Masculinities in Austrian Contemporary Literature Strategic Evasion shows the important contribution that literature can make to the understanding of masculinities by offering insights into the mental structures of hegemonic masculinity It argues that while there is evidence of frustrating hegemonic masculinities contemporary Austrian literature offers few positive images of alternative masculinity The texts simultaneously criticize and present fantasies of hegemonic masculinity and as such provide a space for ambiguity and evasion While providing readers with an in depth study of the works of the authors Daniel Kehlmann Doron Rabinovici and Arno Geiger Matthias Eck elaborates the concept of strategic evasion In order to bridge the gap between the ideal of masculinity and reality the male characters adopt two strategies of evasion evasion to hide a softer and gentler side and evasion into a world of fantasy where they pretend to live up to the ideal of hegemonic masculinity

Hidden Rivalries in Victorian Fiction Jerome Meckier,2014-10-17 Victorian fiction has been read and analyzed from a wide range of perspectives in the past century But how did the novelists themselves read and respond to each other s creations when they first appeared Jerome Meckier answers that intriguing question in this ground breaking study of what he terms the Victorian realism wars Meckier argues that nineteenth century British fiction should be seen as a network of intersecting reactions and counteractions in which the novelists rethought and rewrote each other s novels as a way of enhancing their own credibility In an increasingly relative world thanks to the triumph of a scientific secularity the goal of the novelist was to establish his or her own credentials as a realist hence a reliable social critic by undercutting someone else s usually Charles Dickens s Trollope Mrs Gaskell and especially George Eliot attempted to make room for themselves in the 1850s and 1860s by pushing Dickens aside Wilkie Collins tried a different form of parodic revaluation he strove to outdo Dickens at the kind of novel Dickens thought he did best the kind his other rivals tried to cancel tone down or repair ostensibly for being too melodramatic but actually for expressing too negative a world view For his part Dickens determined to remain inimitable replied to all of his rivals by redoing them as spiritedly as they had reused his characters and situations to make their own statements and to discredit his Thus Meckier redefines Victorian realism as the bravura assertion by a major novelist or one soon to be that he or she was a better realist than Dickens By suggesting the ways Victorian novelist read and rewrote each other s work this innovative study alters present day perceptions of such double purpose novels as Felix Holt Bleak House Middlemarch North and South Hard Times The Woman in White and The Mystery of Edwin Drood Deutschland ,2006 The World Book ,1918

The World's Book; Or, Key to Spiritual Life Mrs. Morelli W. Spencer,1855 The Facts on File Companion to the World Novel Michael Sollars,Arbolina Llamas Jennings,2008 Children's Catalog of Thirty-five Hundred Books H.W. Wilson Company,Corinne Bacon,1917
