Migration, Settlement, and the Concepts of House and Home Iris Levin, 2015-11-19 How do migrants feel at home in their houses Literature on the migrant house and its role in the migrant experience of home building is inadequate This book offers a theoretical framework based on the notion of home building and the concepts of home and house embedded within it It presents innovative research on four groups of migrants who have settled in two metropolitan cities in two periods migrants from Italy migrated in the 1950s and 1960s and from mainland China migrated in the 1990s and 2000s in Melbourne Australia and migrants from Morocco migrated in the 1950s and 1960s and from the former Soviet Union migrated in the 1990s and 2000s in Tel Aviv Israel The analysis draws on qualitative data gathered from forty six in depth interviews with migrants in their home environments including extensive visual data Levin argues that the physical form of the house is meaningful in a range of diverse ways during the process of home building and that each migrant group constructs a distinct form of home building in their homes houses according to their specific circumstances of migration namely the origin country country of destination and period of migration as well as the historical economic and social contexts around migration

Handbook on Home and Migration Paolo Boccagni, 2023-06-01 This dynamic Handbook unpacks the entanglements between the two notions of home and migration which illuminate the lived experiences of in voluntary mobilities and the contested terrain of inclusion and belonging Drawing on cross disciplinary contributions from leading international scholars it advances research on the social study of home in relation to migration refugee displacement and diaspora studies This title contains one or more Open Access chapters

Migration and Urban Transitions in Australia Iris Levin, Christian A. Nygaard, Peter W. Newton, Sandra M. Gifford, 2022-05-25 This book offers a critical reflection on the ways in which migration has shaped Australia's cities especially over the past twenty years Australian cities are among the world's most culturally diverse and are home to most of the nation's population This edited collection brings together contemporary research carried out by scholars across a range of diverse disciplines all of whom are concerned with the intersections between migration and urban change The chapters are organised under three sections demographic settlement and environmental transitions urban form and housing transitions and socio cultural transitions Drawing on diverse theoretical and methodological approaches the chapters engage with a range of factors and influences affecting migration and urban development This book will be of special interest to scholars and practitioners in the disciplines of sociology urban planning geography public policy and environmental sustainability

Family and Space Maya Halatcheva-Trapp, Giulia Montanari, Tino Schlinzig, 2019-03-26 While the spatial turn within the social sciences has already nurtured a broad discussion of the relation between society and space little attention has so far been paid to the question of what we can learn about families when exploring space in its different facets This book brings together international authors from the fields of sociology human geography and anthropology to support the development of space sensitive and de territorialised

perspectives on the family that reach beyond classical concepts such as the household or the nuclear family With close attention to the implications of differing relations to space for the social fabric of families it presents studies of theoretical methodological and empirical aspects of late modern family life Examining the meaning of absence and presence for parenting the aesthetic and sensual dimensions of everyday family life and its digital and media related features aspects Family and Space considers the value of a range of approaches to researching the spatial elements of family life including ethnographic accounts interviews group discussions mobile methods and network analyses      Everyday Equalities Ruth Fincher, Kurt Iveson, Helga Leitner, Valerie Preston, 2019-08-13 A timely new look at coexisting without assimilating in multicultural cities If city life is a being together of strangers what forms of being together should we strive for in cities with ethnic and racial diversity Everyday Equalities seeks evidence of progressive political alternatives to racialized inequality that are emerging from everyday encounters in Los Angeles Melbourne Sydney and Toronto settler colonial cities that established through efforts to dispossess and eliminate indigenous societies have been destinations for waves of immigrants from across the globe ever since Everyday Equalities finds such alternatives being developed as people encounter one another in the process of making a home earning a living moving around the city and forming collective actions or communities Here four leading scholars in critical urban geography come together to deliver a powerful and cohesive message about the meaning of equality in contemporary cities Drawing on both theoretical reflection and urban ethnographic research they offer the formulation being together in difference as equals as a normative frame to reimagine the meaning and pursuit of equality in today's urban multicultures As the examples in Everyday Equalities indicate much emotional labor combined with a willingness to learn from each other negotiate across differences and agitate for change goes into constructing environments that foster being together in difference as equals Importantly the authors argue a commitment to equality is not only a hope for a future city but also a way of being together in the present      Making Home(s) in Displacement Luce Beeckmans, Alessandra Gola, Ashika Singh, Hilde Heynen, 2022-01-17 Making Home(s) in Displacement critically rethinks the relationship between home and displacement from a spatial material and architectural perspective Recent scholarship in the social sciences has investigated how migrants and refugees create and reproduce home under new conditions thereby unpacking the seemingly contradictory positions of making a home and overcoming its loss Yet making home(s) in displacement is also a spatial practice one which intrinsically relates to the fabrication of the built environment worldwide Conceptually the book is divided along four spatial sites referred to as camp shelter city and house which are approached with a multitude of perspectives ranging from urban planning and architecture to anthropology geography philosophy gender studies and urban history all with a common focus on space and spatiality By articulating everyday homemaking experiences of migrants and refugees as spatial practices in a variety of geopolitical and historical contexts this edited volume adds a novel perspective to the existing interdisciplinary scholarship at the intersection of home and displacement It equally intends to broaden the canon of architectural histories and theories by including migrants and refugees spatial agencies and place making practices to its annals By highlighting the political in the spatial and vice versa this volume sets out to decentralise and decolonise current definitions of home and displacement striving for a more pluralistic outlook on the idea of home

Migration and Domestic Space Paolo Boccagni, Sara Bonfanti, 2023-03-24 This open access book provides insight into the domestic space of people with an immigrant or refugee background It selects and compares a whole spectrum of dwelling conditions with ethnographic material covering a variety of national backgrounds Latin America North and West Africa Eastern Europe South Asia and an equally broad range of housing household and legal arrangements It provides a fine grained understanding of migrants lived experience of their domestic space and shows the critical significance of the lived space of a house as a microcosm of societal constellations of identities values and inequalities The book enhances the connection between migration studies and research into housing social reproduction domesticity and material culture and provides an interesting read to scholars in migration studies policy makers and practitioners with a remit in local housing and integration policies This wonderful edited collection extends our understanding of migration not only into the confines of the domestic space but also into the territory of the ethnographer What does it mean to be a guest in a migrant home This collection of chapters traverses this question in diverse settings and circumstances of homemaking Boccagni and Bonfanti have skilfully created an intricate lace of ethnographic accounts that provides a nuanced understanding of the built environments where migrants live how they relate to their homes and how this is articulated in their attitudes toward majority society The chapters each on its own and together as a collection advance our understanding of the researcher being a guest in the migrant home just like the migrant being a guest in the host country This complexity of ethnography and positionality makes this edited book an essential reading for migration scholars and ethnographers alike

Iris Levin Lecturer in Urban Studies RMIT University Melbourne Australia This book demonstrates how ethnographies of home and dwelling can bear on the study of migration and its manifestation in domestic space Entering someone's home as a researcher challenges our ethical registers the researcher moves between being a stranger and a guest The authors point to the dilemmas researchers encounter in intimate settings and how they might be resolved A valuable and timely book for researchers on dwelling home and movement Cathrine Brun Professor of Human Geography Centre for Lebanese Studies Oxford UK This excellent collection delves into the relationship between migration domesticity and material culture It is ethnographically rich and impressively varied in its geographical scope with insights that will prove extremely useful to scholars and practitioners alike The great strength of the volume lies in the fascinating diversity granular detail and methodological care of the contributions with authors deploying concepts and arguments that prepare a great deal of fertile ground for future work Tom Scott Smith Associate Professor of Refugee Studies and Forced Migration University of Oxford This insightful collection departs from the simple yet significant question of roles What happens when the researcher participant relationship becomes guest host instead By seeing and interpreting domestic spaces as ethnographic field sites the contributions shed light on refugees and other migrants lived experiences of home and housing Drawing on empirical evidence from diverse types of homes across geographic locations Migration and domestic space Ethnographies of home in the making offers valuable and fresh perspective encouraging new connections between material and emotional public and private in migration research Marta Bivand Erdal Research Professor in Migration studies Peace Research Institute Oslo PRIO Intersections of Housing Precarity, Health and Wellbeing in Diverse Global Settings Kelly

Greenop, Johanna Brugman Alvarez, 2025-05-26 This book examines the specific manifestations and causes of housing precarity across a diverse range of geographic settings and housing types Housing has been in crisis across the globe for decades Precarious housing is defined as that which fails to provide an adequate standard of living to enable health and wellbeing for a person and their family This book argues that while causes are often structural the forms of housing precarity need to be deeply and specifically understood in order to propose solutions Bringing together contributions from diverse academics across different geographies in the global north and south chapters offer fresh insights into how housing affects wellbeing in terms of physical and mental health identity and participation in communities Home Alison Blunt, Robyn Dowling, 2022-05-30 Home articulates a critical geography of home in which home is understood as an emotive place and spatial imaginary that encompasses lived experiences of everyday domestic life alongside a wider and often contested sense of being and belonging in the world Engaging with the burgeoning cross disciplinary interest in home since the first edition was published this significantly revised and updated second edition contains new research boxes illustrations and contemporary examples throughout It also adds a new chapter on Home and the City that extends the scalar understanding of home to the urban The book develops the conceptual and methodological underpinnings of a critical geography of home drawing on key feminist postcolonial and housing thinkers as well as contemporary methodological currents in non representational thinking and performance The book's chapters consider the making and unmaking of home across the domestic scale house as home the urban city as home national nation as home and homemaking in relation to transnational migration and diaspora Each chapter includes illustrative examples from diverse geographical contexts and historical time periods Chapters also address some of the key cross cutting dimensions of home across these scales including digital connectivity art and performance more than human constructions of home and violence and dispossession The book ends with a research agenda for home in a world of COVID 19 The book provides an understanding of home that has three intersecting dimensions that material and imaginative geographies of home are closely intertwined that home power and identity are intimately linked and that geographies of home are multi scalar This framework the examples used to illustrate it and the intended audience of academics and students across the humanities and social sciences will together shape the field of home studies into the future The Routledge Handbook of Small Towns Jerzy Bański, 2021-08-17 The Routledge

Handbook of Small Towns addresses the theoretical methodical and practical issues related to the development of small towns and neighbouring countryside Small towns play a very important role in spatial structure by performing numerous significant developmental functions for rural areas At the local scale they act as engines for economic growth of rural regions and as a link in the system of connections between large urban centres and the countryside The book addresses the role of small towns in the local development of regions in countries with different levels of development and economic systems including those in Europe Africa South America Asia and Australia Chapters address the functional structure of small towns relations between small towns and rural areas and the challenges of spatial planning in the context of shaping the development of small towns Students and scholars of urban planning urban geography rural geography political geography historical geography and population geography will learn about the role of small towns in the local development of countries representing different economic systems and developmental conditions

Geographic Thought Tim Cresswell, 2013-01-22 This engaging and accessible introduction to geographic thought explores the major thinkers and key theoretical developments in the field of human geography Covers the complete range of the development of theoretical knowledge of the field from ancient geography to contemporary non representational theory Presents theories in an accessible manner through the author s engaging writing style Examines the influence of Darwin and Marx the emergence of anarchist geographies the impact of feminism and myriad other important bodies of thought Stresses the importance of geographic thought and its relevance to our understanding of what it is to be human and to the people places and cultures of the world in which we live

Transnational Return and Social Change Remus Gabriel Anghel, Margit Fauser, Paolo Boccagni, 2019-07-31 Return has long been considered the end of a migration cycle Today returnees continued transnational ties practices and resources have become increasingly visible Transnational Return and Social Change joins what is now a growing field of research and suggests new ways to understand the dynamics of return migration and the social changes that come along It pays tribute to the meso level impacts that follow the practices and resources migrant returnees mobilize across borders With a particular focus on the meso level the book takes up the challenge of transnational research and enquires into the consequences of return for local communities organizations social networks and groups Presenting a collection of case studies dedicated to migrations across Europe and beyond this book contributes new insights into the societal impact of migration in pluralized societies

Race, Ethnicity, and Place in a Changing America John W. Frazier, Eugene Tettey-Fio, 2006

On Arid Ground Jennifer Keating, 2022-04-14 On Arid Ground focuses on the relationships between empire and environment in Central Asia using environmental history to examine the practice of Russian imperialism in Turkestan at the end of empire from the 1860s until 1916 It reveals for the first time a comprehensive assessment of the environmental imprint of Russian colonisation and shows how local ecologies fitted into broader repertoires of imperial rule accommodation and resistance Ranging widely above and below the surface in Turkestan from the deserts of Transcaspia to the highlands and lowlands of rural Fergana and Semirech e Jennifer Keating explores infrastructure development migrant settlement land reclamation and dispossession the commodification of nature and environmental violence to reveal the ways in which ecological change was central to the building and breaking of empire Attentive to connections synchronicities and scale On Arid Ground makes the case for looking beyond cotton and water in Central Asian context for the powerful material role played by animals and plants sand silt and salt in human histories and for the less visible relationships between far flung people and things within and beyond Turkestan s borders Laying bare the political roots and repercussions of environmental change the volume brings fresh perspectives both to the history of Central Asia and to that of the wider Russian empire across Eurasia International Residential Mobilities Josefina

Dominguez-Mujica, Jennifer McGarrigle, Juan Manuel Parreño-Castellano, 2021-10-04 This book assesses the drivers and impacts of new international residential mobilities by considering a range of mobilities in different countries across the globe from investment amenity and retirement mobilities to those of the new global middle class and the transnational elites It examines the intersection of these mobilities with the increase in the volume of global tourism the advent of the sharing economy and peer to peer platforms and the effects of transnational property investment The consequent transformations are considered in urban environments where tourism pressure coexists with gentrification increasing house prices and processes of social and ethnic segregation By offering a broad perspective based on different case studies the book portrays the contradictory consequences of international residential mobilities both favouring local opportunities for development and disrupting housing markets through the disassociation from local demand As a result this book is a great resource for academics and students in tourism urban and migration studies as well as policy makers and practitioners involved in urban planning social affairs and tourism management First Generation Pakistani Migrants in the UK Zeibeda

Sattar, 2021-10-01 This book reports how modern life is constantly being affected by increasing forms of mobility These mobilities allow for people to carry out activities that form and maintain relationships and networks on a social and obligatory basis Complex mobility systems have enabled greater movement for many at local national and international levels Migration theories have been influenced by the mobilities paradigm and have led to the creation of new terminology such as transnational migrants Both the needs of post Second World War labour shortages and the political and economic climate of Pakistan after partition in 1947 led to significant post colonial Pakistani migration This directed attention to life in the UK and resulted in and created new mobility dynamics In terms of the research on which this book is based face to face interviews took place with a total of twenty eight interviewees that were carried out in two parts with the Pakistani diaspora living in the city of Newcastle upon Tyne who migrated up until the 1970 s Zeb s work on the migration and settlement experiences of Pakistani migrants in the north east of England sheds light on both the historical and contemporary lives of the Pakistani diaspora Zeb s work is relevant to not only the Pakistani community but also helps better understanding of how
