Paul And The Religious Experience Of Reconciliation Diasporic Community And Creole Consciousness:

Paul And The Religious Experience Of Reconciliation Gilbert I. Bond, 2005 The Social Significance of Reconciliation in Paul's Theology Corneliu Constantineanu, 2010-04-08 This is an assessment of the social dimension to reconciliation as displayed in Paul's Letter to the Romans. Traditional exegetical scholarship has treated Paul's presentation of reconciliation as referring to reconciliation between people and God and has primarily focused use of the word katallage traditionally translated as atonement. Constantineanu challenges this view and argues that Paul's understanding of the concept is more complex, employing rich symbolism to describe reconciliation with God and between human beings forming together an inseparable reality. The discussion is placed within Paul's overall religious, social and political contexts, showing that an analysis of the social dimension of reconciliation in his thought is both plausible and necessary. Constantineanu offers an analysis of two major sections of Romans, chapters 5-8 and 12-15. Special emphasis is placed on Paul's use of the story of Jesus for community formation for the shaping of identity values and community practices. It is thus demonstrated that for Paul, God's reconciling initiative shown in the crucifixion is not only the pronouncement of God's reconciling the world but also the ground and model for reconciliation among human beings. It was formerly the Journal for the Study of the New Testament Supplement, a book series that explores the many aspects of New Testament study including historical perspectives, social, scientific and literary theory and theological, cultural and contextual approaches. Experientia Frances Flannery, Colleen Shantz, Rodney Alan Werline, 2008 The Impact of Ethnic, Political, and Religious Violence on Northern Nigeria, and a Theological Reflection on Its Healing Sunday Bobai Agang, 2011-09-07 This publication seeks to challenge established thinking about the causes of violence in Northern Nigeria. It explores immediate and long-term effects of that violence through reflection, study and survey of previous research. The fundamental argument within is that ethnic, political and religious violence has affected Christian perspectives and core values and thus has hampered efforts towards just peacemaking. Slow of Speech and Unclean Lips Robert Stephen Reid, 2010-01-01 Historically, people who have risen to the occasion to speak of faith for their generation have been keenly aware of their own limitations, whether Moses who was slow of speech or Isaiah who was concerned that he spoke with unclean lips. The question both Moses and Isaiah seem to be asking is, who am I to speak for God? And we wonder in turn, was it they who spoke or God who spoke through them? These biblical images carry the weight of the question raised by the essays in this volume: How is preaching both the work of God and yet also a function of the individual's own person and identity? How is the preacher to conceive the identity he or she assumes when proclaiming the Word of God? Some of the leading educators in homiletics today propose a variety of possible preaching identities in this volume: preacher as messenger of hope, as lover, as God's mystery steward, as ridiculous person, as fisher, as host and guest, as one out of one's mind and as one entrusted. The result is an open-ended invitation for readers to identify their own preaching identity, either in concert with one of the images presented here or of their own making.
