much more widespread and sophisticated Building on such clinical knowledge this book challenges the reader to think ethically and in a person centred way about the implications of dementia at a personal planning and service provision level to consider consumer perspectives not only those of carers but also the much neglected views of individuals with dementia to explore less well documented areas such as dementia and Down s Syndrome depression and early onset dementia In conclusion the book illuminates selected topical developments in service provision such as community care advocacy and aspects of the built and social care environment Health planning reports subject index United States.
