Too Hot to Handle Jonathan Zimmerman, 2015-02-22 The first comprehensive history of sex education around the world Too Hot to Handle is the first truly international history of sex education As Jonathan Zimmerman shows the controversial subject began in the West and spread steadily around the world over the past century As people crossed borders however they joined hands to block sex education from most of their classrooms Examining key players who supported and opposed the sex education movement Zimmerman takes a close look at one of the most debated and divisive hallmarks of modern schooling In the early 1900s the United States pioneered sex education to protect citizens from venereal disease But the American approach came under fire after World War II from European countries which valued individual rights and pleasures over social goals and outcomes In the so called Third World sex education developed in response to the deadly crisis of HIV AIDS By the early 2000s nearly every country in the world addressed sex in its official school curriculum Still Zimmerman demonstrates that sex education never won a sustained foothold parents and religious leaders rejected the subject as an intrusion on their authority while teachers and principals worried that it would undermine their own tenuous powers Despite the overall liberalization of sexual attitudes opposition to sex education increased as the century unfolded Into the present it remains a subject without a home Too Hot to Handle presents the stormy development and dilemmas of school based sex education in the modern world

Legacies of Forced Removals in South Africa Efua Tembisa Prah, 2025-10-07 This book contributes to an international literature on children and childhood studies by providing a variety of lenses through which we can further explore children s reflections about the worlds they inhabit Through documentation of the reflections of life in a temporary relocation camp of six children the research findings show the slippages in governance in post apartheid South Africa revealing however determining structures of oppression shaped by histories of violence remain as hauntings in the lived experience of those on the margins of the state In this way the book offers testament to the lasting impact apartheid has left on South Africa s populations The stories of these children offer testament to a fluidity of identifications and repressions that criss cross notions of what it is to be a citizen a child youth or adult in sites of frequent forced mobility

Student Voice Handbook Gerry Czerniawski, Warren Kidd, 2011-08-18 The Student Voice movement of the United Kingdom influences discussion across various levels of education Equally international responses to Student Voice extend the debate and movement further This text locates Student Voice within wider debates around empowered citizenry and the big society

Quantum Justice Crystal Leigh Endsley, 2023-11-07 How girls of color from eight global communities strategize on questions of identity social issues and political policy through spoken word poetry Around the world girls know how to perform Grounded in her experience of putting a mic in the margins by facilitating workshops for girls in Ethiopia South Africa Tanzania and the United States scholar advocate artist Crystal Leigh Endsley highlights how girls use spoken word poetry to narrate their experiences dreams and strategies for surviving and thriving By centering the process of creating and performing spoken word poetry this book examines how girls forecast what is possible for their collective lives In this book Endsley combines poetry discourse analysis photovoice and more to forge the feminist theory of quantum justice which forefronts girls relationships with their global counterparts Using quantum justice theory Endsley examines how these collaborative efforts produce powerful networks and ultimately map trajectories of social change at the micro level By inviting transnational dialogue through spoken word poetry Quantum Justice emphasizes how the imaginative energy in hip hop culture can mobilize girls to connect and motivate each other through spoken word performance and thereby disrupt the status quo

Life in Schools and Classrooms Rupert Maclean, 2017-05-04 This book discusses key

aspects of life in schools and classrooms and surveys the changes that have occurred over the years in educational research policy making and practice in these school and classroom settings It not only examines cutting edge research in these areas but also showcases good practices in the field Among the topics reviewed are recent developments in assessment methods for collecting and analysing data on classroom practice school leadership and the pros and cons of class size and small class teaching topics which are currently hotly debated in education systems around the globe As such the book objectively examines the various debates and surveys the full range of evidence available Education researchers policy makers and practitioners often hold differing views about the reasons for teacher and student behaviour in classrooms and for example its relevance to class size Many of these views are based on gut feelings rather than hard evidence Unfortunately these three groups with differing perspectives often talk past each other rather than engage in a productive mutually beneficial dialogue The book builds an effective bridge between researchers policy makers and practitioners regarding the impact of these various aspects of classroom life so that the viewpoints of each can be carefully considered and evaluated

The African Book Publishing Record ,2012 Drop-out or Push-out? Out-of-Secondary School Peruvian Youth on School Participation Jinhee Kim (김진희),2020-01-17 12 Although it is widely recognised that youth in secondary education SE face supply and demand constraints for participation in SE the perceived value of SE and the choice of SE participation particularly for youth in rural areas are not well incorporated into most educational strategies and programmes The purpose of this study is to determine how youth in a rural community in the northern Peruvian jungle experience school dropout to understand what may help them to access the kind of education they value instead of following pre established ideas of what is best for them The study draws on research carried out with 12 youths aged 14 to16 using two qualitative techniques semi structured interviews and participatory workshops The study findings show that young people can take an active role in describing opportunities and obstacles vis vis SE participation and in shaping the most effective responses to drop outs The findings also highlight the need to approach dropout not only from an individualistic perspective but also in terms of relationships with others that are embedded in historic cultural economic and political processes and influenced by broader social structures This broad perspective of education is relevant to current policies programmes because if not considered properly such interventions may fail to effectively address the issue
