Proceedings of the European Automotive Congress EAEC-ESFA 2015 Cristian Andreescu, Adrian Clenci, 2015-11-25 The volume includes selected and reviewed papers from the European Automotive Congress held in Bucharest Romania in November 2015 Authors are experts from research industry and universities coming from 14 countries worldwide The papers are covering the latest developments in fuel economy and environment automotive safety and comfort automotive reliability and maintenance new materials and technologies traffic and road transport systems advanced engineering methods and tools as well as advanced powertrains and hybrid and electric drives Challenging Addiction in Canadian Literature and Classrooms Cara Fabre, 2016-01-01 In the richly interdisciplinary study Challenging Addiction in Canadian Literature and Classrooms Cara Fabre argues that popular culture in its many forms contributes to common assumptions about the causes and personal and social implications of addiction Recent fictional depictions of addiction significantly refute the idea that addiction is caused by poor individual choices or solely by disease through the connections the authors draw between substance use and poverty colonialism and gender based violence With particular interest in the pervasive myth of the Drunken Indian Fabre asserts that these novels reimagine addiction as social suffering rather than individual pathology or moral failure Fabre builds on the growing body of humanities research that brings literature into active engagement with other fields of study including biomedical and cognitive behavioural models of addiction medical and health policies of harm reduction and the practices of Alcoholics Anonymous The book further engages with critical pedagogical strategies to teach critical awareness of stereotypes of addiction and to encourage the potential of literary analysis as a form of social activism

Margaret Atwood and Social Justice Theodore F. Sheckels, 2022-11-25 Margaret Atwood and Social Justice eventually presents a loose ideology evident in the author's major works of prose fiction It insists however that Atwood is a writer not an ideologue and that therefore this ideology evolves over her career always secondary to her presenting stories and characters and through them ideas Throughout her career Atwood has been concerned about the social injustice experienced by women After expressing concern for the plight of the environment in Surfacing and workers in Life Before Man Atwood turned quite political in Bodily Harm and The Handmaid's Tale blending her concern for justice for women with criticism of present day Third World and future right wing governments Atwood then turned inward looking at how those denied justice often do the same to others and turned to history looking at injustice tied to social class She later brought many of her concerns together in The Blind Assassin and especially the three books that comprise the MaddAddam trilogy Later works such as The Heart Goes Last Hag Seed and The Testaments add to the picture most fully articulated in The Blind Assassin which looks back at the 1930s and the MaddAddam books which look ahead to a future marked by global warming corporate oppression and pandemic As argued here these later books strengthen her indictment of corporations which oppress for the sake of profit and offer her most straightforward recognition that race plays a major role in whether social justice is served or not MIC

Old Futures Alexis Lothian, 2018-09-25 Finalist 2019 Locus Award for Nonfiction presented by the Locus Science Fiction Foundation Traverses the history of imagined futures from the 1890s to the 2010s interweaving speculative visions of gender race and sexuality from literature film and digital media Old Futures explores the social political and cultural forces feminists queer people and people of color invoke when they dream up alternative futures as a way to imagine transforming the present Lothian shows how queer possibilities emerge when we practice the art of speculation of imagining things otherwise than they are and creating stories from that impulse Queer theory offers creative ways to think about time breaking with straight and narrow paths toward the future laid out for the reproductive family the law abiding citizen and the believer in markets Yet so far it has rarely considered the possibility that instead of a queer present reshaping the ways we relate to past and future the futures imagined in the past can lead us to queer the present Narratives of possible futures provide frameworks through which we understand our present but the discourse of the future has never been a singular one. Imagined futures have often been central to the creation and maintenance of imperial domination and technological modernity. Old Futures offers a counterhistory of works that have sought with varying degrees of success to speculate otherwise. Examining speculative texts from the 1890s to the 2010s from Samuel R Delany to Sense8, Lothian considers the ways in which early feminist utopias and dystopias, Afrofuturist fiction, and queer science fiction media have insisted that the future can and must deviate from dominant narratives of global annihilation or highly restrictive hopes for redemption. Each chapter chronicles some of the means by which the production and destruction of futures both real and imagined takes place through eugenics, utopia, empire, fascism, dystopia, race, capitalism, femininity, masculinity, and many kinds of queerness, reproduction, and sex. Gathering stories of and by populations who have been marked as futureless or left out by dominant imaginaries, Lothian offers new insights into what we can learn from efforts to imaginatively redistribute the future.

Connecting Places, Connecting People Reena Tiwari, 2017-09-07. What is a better community? How can we reconfigure places and transport networks to create environmentally friendly, economically sound, and socially just communities? How can we meet the challenges of growing pollution, depleting fossil fuels, rising gasoline prices, traffic congestion, traffic fatalities, increased prevalence of obesity, and lack of social inclusion? The era of car-based planning has led to the disconnection of people and place in developed countries and is rapidly doing so in the developing countries of the Global South. The unfolding mega trend in technological innovation while adding new patterns of future living and mobility in the cities will question the relevance of face-to-face connections. What will be the glue that holds communities together in the future? To build better communities and to build better cities, we need to reconnect people and places. Connecting Places, Connecting People offers a new paradigm for place-making by reordering urban planning principles from prioritizing movement of vehicles to focusing on places and the people who live in them. Numerous case studies, including many from developing countries in the Global South, illustrate how this can be realized or fallen short of in practical terms. Importantly, citizens need to be engaged in policy development to connect with each other and with government agencies. To measure the connectivity attributes of places and the success of strategies to meet the needs, an Audit Tool is offered for a continual quantitative and qualitative evaluation.

Technoskepticism DISCO Network, 2025-02-11 From Munchausen by Tiktok to wellness apps to online communities to AI the DISCO Network explores the possibilities that technoskepticism can create This is a book about possibility and refusal in relation to new technologies Though refusal is an especially powerful mode particularly for those who have historically not been given the option to say no people of color and disabled people have long navigated the space between saying yes and saying no to the newest technologies Technoskepticism relates some of these stories to reveal the possibilities skepticism can create The case for technoskepticism unfolds across three sections the first focused on disability the creative use of wellness apps and the desire for diagnosis the second on digital nostalgia and home for Black and Asian users who produced communities online before home pages gave way to profiles and the third focused on the violence inherent in A I generated Black bodies and the possibilities for Black style in the age of A I Acknowledging how the urge to refuse new technologies emerges from specific racialized histories the authors also emphasize how care can look like an exuberant embrace of the new

Progressive Dystopia Savannah Shange, 2019-11-15 San Francisco is the endgame of gentrification where racialized displacement means that the Black population of the city hovers at just over 3 percent The Robeson Justice Academy opened to serve the few remaining low income neighborhoods of the city with the mission of offering liberatory social justice themed education to youth of color While it features a progressive curriculum including Frantz Fanon and Audre Lorde the majority Latinx school also has the district's highest suspension rates for Black students In Progressive Dystopia Savannah Shange explores the potential for reconciling the school's marginalization of Black students with its sincere pursuit of multiracial uplift and solidarity Drawing on ethnographic fieldwork and six years of experience teaching at the school Shange outlines how the school fails its students and the community because it operates within a space predicated on antiblackness Seeing San Francisco as a social laboratory for how Black communities survive the end of their worlds Shange argues for abolition over revolution or progressive reform as the needed path toward Black freedom

Embodying Gender and Age in Speculative Fiction Derek J. Thiess, 2015-10-14 Following scholarship on gender in science fiction this book explores the limits of considering age as a social construction positing that an acknowledgement of aged bodies necessarily changes the way we read both age and science fiction The volume employs contemporary clinical psychology the biopsychosocial model to demonstrate that age is an important and neglected topic relevant to the study of speculative fiction While gender offers a vocabulary the biopsychosocial approach provides a method to consider age and gender as an embodied synthesis of physicality psychology and social environment This respected model of clinical psychology allows a unique and innovative lens through which to read age and the body in literature Thiess offers readings of established sf classics including Octavia Butler's Parable series Orson Scott Card's Ender's Game and cyberpunk authors such as Bruce Sterling Pat Cadigan and Neal Stephenson also exploring more mainstream speculative works including Stephanie Meyer's Twilight series and Joss Whedon's Firefly Serenity Visiting topics such as care work sexuality sport and the military in these works the book demonstrates that acknowledging a more fully embodied age is not only necessary for the individual subject but will also enrich our understanding of other social categories including gender and race Taking a constructive rather than adversarial stance this book does not merely question how much one can ethically and responsibly bend age but suggests there is a great deal to learn when one explores those limits
