Of Woman Born Motherhood As Experience And Institution 10th Anniversary Edition:

Of Woman Born: Motherhood as Experience and Institution Adrienne Rich, 1995-04-17 Adrienne Rich's influential and landmark investigation concerns both the experience and the institution of motherhood. The experience is her own as a woman, a poet, a feminist, and a mother, but it is an experience determined by the institution imposed on all women everywhere. She draws on personal materials, history, research, and literature to create a document of universal importance.

Motherhood and Meaning in Medieval Sculpture Marian Bleeke, 2017 An examination of women as mothers in medieval French sculpture. What can medieval sculptural representations of women tell us about medieval women's experiences of motherhood? Presumably the work of male sculptors working for clerical patrons, these sculptures are unlikely to have been shaped by women's maternal experiences during their production. Once produced, however, their beholders would have included women who were mothers and potential mothers, thus opening a space between the sculptures' intended meanings and other meanings liable to be produced by these women as they brought their own interests and concerns to these works of art. Building on theories of reception and response, this book focuses on interactions between women as beholders and a range of sculptures made in France in the twelfth through sixteenth centuries, aiming to provide insight into women's experiences of motherhood particular sculptures considered include the Annunciation and Visitation from Reims cathedral the femme aux serpents from Moissac the transi of Jeanne de Bourbon Vendôme the Eve from Autun and a number of French Gothic Virgin and Child sculptures Marian Bleeke is Associate Professor of Art History and Chair of the Department of Art and Design at Cleveland State University Romanticism, Maternity, and the Body Politic Julie Kipp, 2003-08-14 In Romanticism Maternity and the Body Politic Julie Kipp examines Romantic writers' treatments of motherhood and maternal bodies in the context of the legal medical educational and socioeconomic debates about motherhood so popular during the period She argues that these discussions turned the physical processes associated with mothering into matters of national importance The privately shared space signified by the womb or the maternal breast were made public by the widespread interest in the workings of the maternal body These private spaces evidenced for writers of the period the radical exposure of mother and child to one another for good or ill Kipp's primary concern is to underline the ways that writers used representations of mother-child bonds as ways of naturalizing endorsing and critiquing Enlightenment constructions of interpersonal and intercultural relations This fascinating literary and cultural study will appeal to all scholars of Romanticism

Copula Robyn Ferrell, 2012-02-01 How will the ability to manipulate human reproduction change our social world and the relationship between the sexes Taking an explicitly interdisciplinary approach to gender and reproductive technology Robyn Ferrell examines this question in the light of feminist theories of sexual equality and sexual difference arguing that technology itself can be seen as a kind of reproduction Invoking a concept of reproduction that understands it as generic Ferrell asserts that in any reproduction something is produced of a kind that was there before and yet that is also new Technology is therefore generically reproductive since it produces new matter of the same kind In addition to key figures in French feminism Ferrell draws from psychoanalysis and contemporary continental thinkers ranging from Heidegger to Haraway

Making a Spectacle Lynda Hart, 1989 The first scholarly collection to discuss the intersection of feminism and dramatic theory Can You Be a Catholic and a Feminist? Julie Hanlon Rubio, 2024 Is it possible to reconcile Catholic and feminist identities Julie Hanlon Rubio argues that it is but only if we rethink how women and men who experience the pull of feminism and Catholicism can credibly claim both identities

Ellen Glasgow and a Woman's Traditions Pamela R. Matthews, 1994 Ellen Glasgow wrote and published nineteen novels as well as poems short stories essays reviews and an autobiography published posthumously in a career that spanned nearly fifty years Until now her writings have not been subject to feminist revaluation in the way that works of such writers as Charlotte Perkins Gilman or Willa Cather have been In Ellen Glasgow and a Woman's Traditions Pamela R. Matthews initiates such a revaluation by taking into account not only Glasgow's gender and her perception of her role as a woman writer but the reader's gender and mis understanding of Glasgow Using current feminist psychological theory she assesses what Glasgow faced as a woman writer caught between the nineteenth and twentieth centuries examines the traditions in place at these times and analyzes the influence on Glasgow of her female friendships This shifting of critical perspective yields entirely new interpretations and closes the gap that has existed between standard criticisms of Glasgow and the effect that Glasgow has had on her readers

Women's Group Therapy Vera Sonja Maass, PhD, 2002-06-12 Through the use of group therapy sessions conducted within a cognitive behavioral framework the author explores the cultural social and parental influences on women's lives In depth case studies and transcripts from the sessions illustrate the women's actual step by step process in examining such issues as Self determination Motherhood as fulfillment Consequences of a two career family Divorce Infidelity Competitiveness among women Identifying sources of power within and outside oneself

The Obligated Self Mara H. Benjamin, 2018-05-24 Mara H Benjamin contends that the physical and psychological work of caring for children presents theologically fruitful but largely unexplored terrain for feminists Attending to the constant concrete and urgent needs of children she argues necessitates engaging with profound questions concerning the responsible use of power in unequal relationships the transformative influence of love human fragility and vulnerability and the embeddedness of self in relationships and obligations Viewing child rearing as an embodied practice Benjamin's theological reflection invites a profound reengagement with Jewish sources from the Talmud to modern Jewish philosophy Her contemporary feminist stance forges a convergence between Jewish theological anthropology and the demands of parental caregiving

Connecting the Dots Dorit Redlich Amirav, 2025-04-22 In a world in which our lives are constantly tested by political polarization and instability social media onslaughts that challenge our mental health and deadly weather patterns resulting from climate change we need hope more than ever As Dr Dorit Redlich Amirav shows in this book hope is a sustaining force and it isn't nearly as elusive as you might think An occupational therapist in the mental health field Dr Redlich Amirav made this important discovery after multiple conversations with two Israeli Jewish and two Palestinian Muslim mothers of adult children with mental illness living in a conflict zone Redlich Amirav learned that it is possible to generate hope by performing simple occupations in spiritual ways anything from a walk on the beach to preparing a traditional meal for loved ones One of the biggest takeaways from her study is that hope is constantly in motion when Redlich Amirav asked the mothers to tell her a story about hope they always began with a story about hopelessness underscoring the reality that even when we feel most hopeless our hope can and will be renewed

Irigaray and Deleuze Tamsin Lorraine, 2018-09-05 For Tamsin Lorraine the works of Luce Irigaray and Gilles Deleuze open up new ways of thinking about subjectivity Focusing on the affinities between the theorists' views while addressing weaknesses of each she offers both a cogent analysis of their often challenging writings on this topic and an accessible introduction to their philosophical projects Through her readings she articulates an approach to subjectivity as an embodied dynamic process one that speaks to beliefs about personal identity as well as to the practical problems people face in their relations with one another Lorraine begins by distinguishing between conceptual and corporeal considerations of subjectivity and by reviewing recent interdisciplinary efforts to theorize the body She then turns to Irigaray and Deleuze finding in the former's notion of the feminine other and in the latter's unique conceptions of nomadic thinking inspiration for a model designed to overcome mind/body dualisms Her analysis of Irigaray and Deleuze suggests a conception of humanity which amounts to a visceral philosophy a way of thinking that is receptive to the fluxes of dynamic life forces

Gender and the Musical Canon Marcia J. Citron, 2024-04-22 A classic in gender studies in music Marcia J Citron's comprehensive balanced work lays a broad foundation for the study of women composers and their music Drawing on a diverse body of feminist and interdisciplinary theory Citron shows how the western art canon is not intellectually pure but the result of a complex mixture of attitudes practices and interests that often go unacknowledged and unchallenged Winner of the Pauline Alderman Prize from the International Alliance of Women in Music Gender and the Musical Canon explores important elements of canon formation such as notions of creativity professionalism and reception Citron surveys the institutions of power from performing organizations and the academy to critics and the publishing and recording industries that affect what goes into the canon and what is kept out She also documents the nurturing role played by women including mothers in cultivating female composers In a new introduction she assesses the book's reception by composers and critics especially the reactions to her controversial reading of Cile Chaminade's sonata for piano A key volume in establishing how the concepts and assumptions that form the western art music canon affect female composers and their music Gender and the Musical Canon also reveals how these dynamics underpin many of the major issues that affect musicology as a discipline

The Power of Feminist Theory Amy Allen, 2018-03-05 Power is clearly a crucial concept for feminist theory Insofar as feminists are interested in analyzing power it is because they have an interest in understanding critiquing and ultimately challenging the multiple array of unjust power relations affecting women in contemporary Western societies including sexism racism heterosexism and class oppression In The Power of Feminist Theory Amy Allen diagnoses the inadequacies of previous feminist conceptions of power and draws on the work of a diverse group of theorists of power including Michel Foucault Judith Butler and Hannah Arendt in order to construct a new feminist conception of power The conception of power developed in this book enables readers to theorize domination resistance and solidarity and perhaps more importantly to do so in a way that illuminates the interrelatedness of these three modalities of power National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1993
