Of Woman Born Adrienne Cecile Rich, 1981 From Motherhood to Mothering Andrea O'Reilly, 2004-10-14 Explores how Rich's work has influenced feminist scholarship on motherhood

Of Woman Born: Motherhood as Experience and Institution Adrienne Rich, 1995-04-17 Adrienne Rich's influential and landmark investigation concerns both the experience and the institution of motherhood The experience is her own as a woman a poet a feminist and a mother but it is an experience determined by the institution imposed on all women everywhere She draws on personal materials history research and literature to create a document of universal importance

From Motherhood to Mothering Andrea O'Reilly, 2012-02-01 In the years since the publication of Adrienne Rich's Of Woman Born the topic of motherhood has emerged as a central issue in feminist scholarship Arguably still the best feminist book on mothering and motherhood Of Woman Born is not only a wide ranging far reaching meditation on the meaning and experience of motherhood that draws from the disciplines of anthropology feminist theory psychology and literature but it also narrates Rich's personal reflections on her experiences of mothering Andrea O'Reilly gathers feminist scholars from diverse disciplines such as literature women's studies law sociology anthropology creative writing and critical theory and examines how Of Woman Born has informed and influenced the way feminist scholarship thinks and talks about motherhood The contributors explore the many ways in which Rich provides the analytical tools to study and report upon the meaning and experience of motherhood What About Us? Maureen Freely, 2012-02-16 This work explores why feminism comes into conflict with women who have children and why women with children suffer when they try to put feminist ideas into practice

Feminisms Maggie Humm, 2014-06-11 This major textbook for women's studies provides an excellent and wide ranging introduction to feminist ideas and perspectives on issues such as the family sexuality work education patriarchy race language culture and representation It brings together over seventy key excerpts Single Mothers, Patriarchy and Citizenship in India: Rethinking Lone Motherhood through the Lens of Socio-legal and Policy Framework Adv Dr Shalu Nigam, 2024-02-18 Motherhood is a powerful virtue However in a patriarchal society it is construed narrowly to uphold the heteronormative family norms which prioritize men over women This traditional framework overlooks the diverse family forms and alienates female headed households Rather families headed by lone mothers are chastened and labelled as broken pathological and degenerative Despite constitutional guarantees of equality and justice the state and society alienate them deny them visibility and absolve themselves of the responsibilities of protecting their citizenship rights Nevertheless for ages single mothers despite all hardships have been defying patriarchal norms and are bringing up their children solely with little support available from their families society or the state Rather they are challenging the dominant and hegemonic male breadwinner and provider model This work examines this active and empowered notion of motherhood or feminist and emancipatory mothering while focusing on how lone mothers are redefining and reshaping the socio cultural norms to pave the social transformation through their maternal activism With the increase in the number of female headed households this work recommends the need for an alternative approach to disrupt the dominant themes of victimhood poverty destitution and neglect by deploying the axis of intersectionality It suggests that the state needs to evolve a comprehensive empowerment framework to specifically recognize the entitlements of single mothers as citizens and take steps to advance their citizenship rights Being about Borders Michele Saracino, 2011-05-01 In an age of globalization where borders seem to be disappearing everywhere between nations religions and even within families it is easy to believe our reactions to difference are vanishing as well Bringing together the latest insights from constructive theology contemporary continental theory and trauma studies Michele Saracino shows how deceiving and even deadly this assumption can be She argues that in the post 9 11 era Christians are obligated now more than ever to be vigilant about difference to be attentive to the emotional dissonance that encountering others incites and to acknowledge it before border disputes escalate into violence We are neither so different that we have nothing to talk about nor so similar that we have everything to celebrate Instead for Saracino we are caught in the middle at porous borders at in between spaces which cause consternation fear anger and even rage By embracing these conflicting emotions that accompany border life Saracino claims that Christians can honor the person and work of Jesus Christ and the mystery of the incarnation and perhaps become living memorials to those who have suffered trauma all in the name of their being different Michele Saracino is an associate professor of religious studies at Manhattan College in Riverdale New York She is the author of On Being Human A Conversation with Lonergan and Levinas and researches and teaches on the intersections between theology and culture

Motherhood and Meaning in Medieval Sculpture Marian Bleeke, 2017 An examination of women as mothers in medieval French sculpture What can medieval sculptural representations of women tell us about medieval women's experiences of motherhood Presumably the work of male sculptors working for clerical patrons these sculptures are unlikely to have been shaped by women's maternal experiences during their production Once produced however their beholders would have included women who were mothers and potential mothers thus opening a space between the sculptures intended meanings and other meanings liable to be produced by these women as they brought their own interests and concerns to these works of art Building on theories of reception and response this book focuses on interactions between women as beholders and a range of sculptures made in France in the twelfth through sixteenth centuries aiming to provide insight into women's experiences of motherhood particular sculptures considered include the Annunciation and Visitation from Reims cathedral the femme aux serpents from Moissac the transi of Jeanne de Bourbon Vendome the Eve from Autun and a number of French Gothic Virgin and Child sculptures Marian Bleeke is Associate Professor of Art History and Chair of the Department of Art and Design at Cleveland State University

African Women Writers and the Politics of Gender Sadia Zulfiqar, 2016-09-23 This work examines the work of a group of African women writers who have emerged over the last forty years While figures such as Chinua Achebe Ben Okri and Wole Soyinka are likely to be the chief focus of discussions of African writing female authors have been at the forefront of fictional interrogations of identity formation and history In the work of authors such as Mariama B Senegal Buchi Emecheta Nigeria Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie Nigeria Tsitsi Dangarembga Zimbabwe and Leila Aboulela Sudan there is a clear attempt to subvert the tradition of male writing where the female characters are often relegated to the margins of the culture and confined to the domestic private sphere This body of work has already generated a significant number of critical responses including readings that draw on gender politics and colonialism but it is still very much a minor literature and most mainstream western feminism has not sufficiently processed it The purpose of this book is three fold First it draws together some of the most important and influential African women writers of the post war period and looks at their work separately and together in terms of a series of themes and issues including marriage family polygamy religion childhood and education Second it demonstrates how African literature produced by women writers is explicitly and polemically engaged with urgent political issues that have both local and global resonance the veil Islamophobia and a distinctively African brand of feminist critique Third it revisits Fredric Jameson's claim that all third world texts are national allegories and considers these novels by African women in relation to Jameson's claim arguing that their work has complicated Jameson's assumptions

The Mother in Psychoanalysis and Beyond Rosalind Mayo, Christina Moutsou, 2016-10-04 The question of what it means to be a mother is a very contentious topic in psychoanalysis and in wider society The Mother in Psychoanalysis and Beyond explores our relationship to the maternal through psychoanalysis philosophy art and political and gender studies Over two years a group of psychotherapists and members of the public met at the Philadelphia Association for a series of seminars on the Maternal In the discussions that followed a chasm opened up slowly and painfully between the idealised longings and fantasies we all share and the realities of maternal experiences here were met the great silences of love loss longing memories desire hatred and ambivalence This book is the result of this bringing together in conversation and reflections of what so often seems unsayable about the Mother It examines how issues of personal and gender identity are shaped by the ideals of separation from the mother the fears and anxiety of merging with the mother and how this has often led in psychoanalysis and society to holding mothers responsible for a variety of personal and social ills and problems in which maternal vulnerability is denied and silenced There are two main themes running throughout the book Matricide and Maternal Subjectivity On the theme of matricide several contributors discuss the ways in which the discourse and narratives of the Mother have been silenced on a sociocultural level and within psychoanalysis and philosophy in favour of discourses that promote independence autonomy power and the avoidance and denial of our fundamental helplessness and vulnerability On the theme of maternal subjectivity several chapters look at the actual experience of mothering and or our relationship to our mother to highlight the ways in which the maternal is intimately connected with human subjectivity The Mother in Psychoanalysis and Beyond provides new and provocative thinking about the maternal and its place in various contemporary discourses It will appeal to psychoanalysts psychotherapists and psychologists of different schools scholars and advanced students of art gender studies politics and philosophy as well as anyone interested in maternity studies and the relationship between the maternal and human subjectivity

Matricentric Feminism Andrea O'Reilly, 2016-10-01 The book argues that the category of mother is distinct from the category of woman and that many of the problems mothers face social economic political cultural psychological and so forth are specific to women's role and identity as mothers Indeed mothers are oppressed under patriarchy as women and as mothers Consequently mothers need a feminism of their own one that positions mothers concerns as the starting point for a theory and politic of empowerment O'Reilly terms this new mode of feminism matricentric feminism and the book explores how it is represented and experienced in theory activism and practice The chapter on maternal theory examines the central theoretical concepts of maternal scholarship while the chapter on activism considers the twenty first century motherhood movement Feminist mothering is likewise examined as the specific practice of matricentric feminism and this chapter discusses various theories and strategies on and for maternal empowerment Matricentric feminism is also examined in relation to the larger field of academic feminism here O'Reilly persuasively shows how matricentric feminism has been marginalized in academic feminism and considers the reasons for such exclusion and how such may be challenged and changed
