Capitalist Humanitarianism Lucia Hulsether, 2023-01-04 The struggle against neoliberal order has gained momentum over the last five decades to the point that economic elites have not only adapted to the Left's critiques but incorporated them for capitalist expansion Venture funds expose their ties to slavery and pledge to invest in racial equity Banks pitch microloans as a path to indigenous self determination Fair trade brands narrate consumption as an act of feminist solidarity with women artisans in the global South In Capitalist Humanitarianism Lucia Hulsether examines these projects and the contexts of their emergence Blending historical and ethnographic styles and traversing intimate and global scales Hulsether tracks how neoliberal self critique creates new institutional hegemonies that in turn reproduce racial and neocolonial dispossession From the archives of Christian fair traders to luxury social entrepreneurship conferences from US finance offices to Guatemalan towns flooded with their loan products from service economy desperation to the internal contradictions of social movements Hulsether argues that capitalist humanitarian projects are fueled as much by a profit motive as by a hope that racial capitalism can redeem the losses that accumulate in its wake

Index United States Annual ,2006 Civic Hopes and Political Realities S. Karthick Ramakrishnan,Irene Bloemraad,2008-07-10 For many Americans participation in community organizations lays the groundwork for future political engagement But how does this traditional model of civic life relate to the experiences of today s immigrants Do community organizations help immigrants gain political influence in their neighborhoods and cities In Civic Hopes and Political Realities experts from a wide range of disciplines explore the way civic groups across the country and around the world are shaping immigrants quest for political effectiveness Civic Hopes and Political Realities shows that while immigrant organizations play an important role in the lives of members their impact is often compromised by political marginalization and a severe lack of resources S Karthick Ramakrishnan and Irene Bloemraad examine community organizations in six cities in California and find that even in areas with high rates of immigrant organizing policymakers remain unaware of local ethnic organizations Looking at new immigrant destinations Kristi Andersen finds that community organizations often serve as the primary vehicle for political incorporation a role once played by the major political parties Floris Vermeulen and Maria Berger show how policies in two European cities lead to very different outcomes for ethnic organizations Amsterdam s more welcoming multicultural policies help immigrant community groups attain a level of political clout that similar organizations in Berlin lack Janelle Wong Kathy Rim and Haven Perez report on a study of Latino and Asian American evangelical churches While the church shapes members political views on issues such as abortion and same sex marriage church members may also question the evangelical movement s position on such issues as civil rights and immigration Els de Graauw finds that many non profit organizations without explicitly political agendas nonetheless play a crucial role in advancing the political interests of their immigrant members Recent cuts in funding for such organizations she argues block not only the provision of key social services but also an important avenue for political voice Looking at community organizing in a suburban community Sofya Aptekar finds that even when immigrant organizations have considerable resources and highly educated members they tend to be excluded from town politics Some observers worry that America s increasing diversity is detrimental to civic life and political engagement Civic Hopes and Political Realities boldly advances an alternative understanding of the ways in which immigrants are enriching America s civic and political realms even in the face of often challenging circumstances

Reframing Immigrant Resistance Teresa Cappiali,2021-12-24 The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license This book focuses on the political participation and grassroots mobilization of immigrants and racialized communities in the European context Based on extensive data collected in Italy it explores the role that alliances among pro immigrant groups play in shaping political participation asking why and how immigrant activists mobilize in hostile environments why and how they create alliances with some white allies rather than others and what might explain variations in forms of political participation and grassroots mobilization at the local level Using social movement critical race and post colonial theories the author examines the ways in which both institutional and non institutional actors including immigrant activists become involved and compete in the local arena over immigration and integration issues and assesses the mechanisms by which both conventional and non conventional forms of participation are made possible or obstructed By placing immigrant activists at the center of the analysis the book offers a valuable and novel insider perspective on political activism and the claims making of marginalized groups It also demonstrates how pro immigrant groups can play a role in racializing immigrant activists A study of the effects on participation in social mobilization of coalitions conflicts and racialization processes among pro immigrant groups and immigrant activists this volume will appeal to scholars of sociology political science and political sociology with interests in migration ethnic and racial relations social movements and local governance
