Transnationalism, Activism, Art Kit Dobson, Áine McGlynn, 2013-01-01 Banksy is known worldwide for his politically subversive works of art but he is far from the only artist whose creations are infused with internationally relevant activist themes How else can the arts help activate citizen participation in social justice movements Moreover what is the role of culture in a globalizing world Transnationalism Activism Art goes beyond Banksy by investigating how the three complementary political social and cultural phenomena listed in the title interact in the twenty first century Renowned and emerging critics use current theory on cultural production and politics to illuminate case studies of various media including film literature visual art and performance in their multiple manifestations from electronic dance music to Wikileaks to bestselling poetry collections By addressing how these artistic media are used to enact citizen participation in social justice movements the volume makes important connections between such participation and scholarly study of globalization and transnationalism

The Ethos of Digital Environments Susanna Lindberg, Hanna-Riikka Roine, 2021-05-27 While self driving cars and autonomous weapon systems have received a great deal of attention in media and research the general requirements of ethical life in today s digitalizing reality have not been made sufficiently visible and evaluable This collection of articles from both distinguished and emerging authors working at the intersections of philosophy literary theory media and technology does not intend to fix new moral rules Instead the volume explores the ethos of digital environments asking how we can orient ourselves in them and inviting us to renewed moral reflection in the face of dilemmas they entail The authors show how contemporary digital technologies model our perception narration as well as our conceptions of truth and investigate the ethical moral and juridical consequences of making public and societal infrastructures computational They argue that we must make the structures of the digital environments visible and learn to care for them

How to Read a Moment Mathias Nilges, 2021-03-15 In How to Read a Moment Mathias Nilges shows that time is inseparable from the stories we tell about it demonstrating that the contemporary American novel offers new ways to make sense of the temporality that governs our present Time is a thing that grows scarcer every day observes one of Don DeLillo's characters The future is gone The Baffler argues Where's my hoverboard a meme demands Contemporary capitalism a system that insists that everything happen at once creates problems for social thought and narrative alike After all how does one tell the time of instantaneity In this moment of on demand service and instant trading it has become difficult to imagine the future The novel emerged as the art form of a rapidly changing modern world a way of telling time in its progress Nilges argues that this historical mission is renewed today through works that understand contemporaneity as a form of time shaping that props up our material world and cultural imagination But the contemporary American novel does not simply associate our present with a crisis of futurity Through analyses of works by authors such as DeLillo Jennifer Egan Charles Yu and Colson Whitehead Nilges illustrates that the novel presents ways to make sense of the temporality that controls our purportedly fully contemporary world In so doing the novel recovers a sense of possibility and hope forwarding a dazzling argument for its own importance today

Hyperdocumentation Olivier Le Deuff, 2021-08-25 The term hyperdocumentation is a hyperbole that seems to characterize a paradox The leading discussions on this topic bring in diverse ideas such as that of data the fantasy of Big Data cloud computing artificial intelligence algorithmic processing the flow of information and the outstanding successes of disinformation The purpose of this book is to show that the current context of documentation is just another step in human construction that has been ongoing for not centuries but millennia and which since the end of the 19th century has been accelerating Coined by Paul Otlet in 1934 in his Traite de Documentation hyperdocumentation refers to the concept of documentation that is constantly being expanded and extended in its functionalities and prerogatives While according to Otlet everything could potentially be documented in this way increasingly we find that it is our lives that are being hyperdocumented Hyperdocumentation manifests as an increase not only in the quantity of information that is processed but also in its scope as information is progressively integrated across areas that were previously poorly documented or even undocumented

Literature and Terrorism ,2012-01-01 The years following the attacks of September 11 2001 have seen the publication of a wide range of scientific analyses of terrorism Literary studies seem to lag curiously behind this general shift of academic interest The present volume sets out to fill this gap It does so in the conviction that the study of literature has much to offer to the transdisciplinary investigation of terror not only with respect to the present post 9 11 situation but also with respect to earlier historical contexts Literary texts are media of cultural self reflection and as such they have always played a crucial role in the discursive response to terror both contributing to and resisting dominant conceptions of the causes motivations dynamics and aftermath of terrorist violence By bringing together experts from various fields and by combining case studies of works from diverse periods and national literatures the volume Literature and Terrorism chooses a diachronic and comparative perspective It is interested in the specific cultural work performed by narrative and dramatic literature in the face of terrorism focusing on literature s ambivalent relationship to other competing modes of discourse

Apocalyptic Discourse in Contemporary Culture Monica Germana,Aris Mousoutzanis,2014-09-15 This interdisciplinary collection of essays focuses on critical and theoretical responses to the apocalypse of the late twentieth and early twenty first century cultural production Examining the ways in which apocalyptic discourses have had an impact on how we read the world s globalised space the traumatic burden of history and the mutual relationship between language and eschatological belief fifteen original essays by a group of internationally established and emerging critics reflect on the apocalypse its past tradition pervasive present and future legacy The collection seeks to offer a new reading of the apocalypse understood as a complex and frequently paradoxical paradigm of contemporary Western culture The majority of published collections on the subject have been published prior to the year 2000 and in their majority of cases locate the apocalypse in the future and envision it as something imminent This collection offers a post millennial perspective that perceives the end as immanent and simultaneously rooted in the past tradition

The essays offer a variety of perspectives on cyberpunk's diversity and how this sub-genre remains relevant amidst its transformation from a print fiction genre into a more generalized set of cultural practices tackling the question of what it is that cyberpunk narratives continue to offer us in those intersections of literary, cultural, theoretical, academic, and technocultural environments.
