Verandermanagement Henk Kleijn,Fred Rorink,2005 Studieboek op hbo wo niveau Environmental Planning in the Netherlands: Too Good to be True Gert de Roo,2017-03-02 The Netherlands is one of the most prominent and innovative countries in the field of environmental planning Over the past decade its government has introduced such ground breaking schemes as Integrated Environmental Zoning the City Environment Project the Bubble Concept and Policy Concepts and new approaches to coping with noise odours soil pollution air pollution and safety issues These initiatives and policy tools reflect a rapidly changing and decentralising environmental policy which contrasts with more conventional environmental ideologies However at present little is known of these policies in the international arena De Roo shows how and why in recent years the country's planning system has moved away from its traditional top down structure The resulting changes have had far reaching consequences for the traditional principles of Dutch environmental policy In addition measures for compensating excessive environmental loads are now open to discussion and environmental quality is a subject of negotiation among stakeholders All these developments mean that environmental policy making has become more closely integrated with local initiatives that focus on general location specific qualities In this book this development is referred to as tailor made comprehensive planning which relates closely to the local context is area specific situation dependent and embraces shared governance
