

The background of the book cover is a detailed still life painting. It features a large, light-colored wooden bowl with a handle, resting on a dark, textured surface. In the foreground, there are various spices: a small pile of dark, round seeds, a pile of cinnamon sticks, and a small pile of dried, curled spices. A wooden spoon lies on the surface, partially filled with the dark seeds. The overall lighting is warm and dramatic, highlighting the textures of the wood and spices.

Out Of The East Spices And The Medieval Imagination:

Out of the East Paul Freedman, 2008-03-25 How medieval Europe's infatuation with expensive fragrant exotic spices led to an era of colonial expansion and discovery A consummate delight Marion Nestle James Beard Award winning author of Unsavory Truth The demand for spices in medieval Europe was extravagant and was reflected in the pursuit of fashion the formation of taste and the growth of luxury trade It inspired geographical and commercial exploration as traders pursued such common spices as pepper and cinnamon and rarer aromatic products including ambergris and musk Ultimately the spice quest led to imperial missions that were to change world history This engaging book explores the demand for spices Why were they so popular and why so expensive Paul Freedman surveys the history geography economics and culinary tastes of the Middle Ages to uncover the surprisingly varied ways that spices were put to use in elaborate medieval cuisine in the treatment of disease for the promotion of well being and to perfume important ceremonies of the Church Spices became symbols of beauty affluence taste and grace Freedman shows and their expense and fragrance drove the engines of commerce and conquest at the dawn of the modern era A magnificent very well written and often entertaining book that is also a major contribution to European economic and social history and indeed one with a truly global perspective American Historical Review

Out Of The East: Spices And Medieval Imagination Paul Freedman, 2009-01-01 The demand for spices in medieval Europe was extravagant and was reflected in the pursuit of fashion the formation of taste and the growth of luxury trade It is inspired geographical and commercial exploration as traders pursued such common spices as pepper and cinnamon and rarer aromatic products including ambergris and musk Ultimately the spice quest led to imperial missions that were to change world history This engaging book explores the demand for spices why were they so popular and why so expensive Paul Freedman surveys the history geography economics and culinary tastes of the Middle Ages to uncover the surprisingly varied ways that spices were put to use in elaborate medieval cuisine in the treatment of disease for the promotion of well being and to perfume important ceremonies of the Church Spices became symbols of beauty affluence taste and grace Freedman shows and their expense and fragrance drove the engines of commerce and conquest at the dawn of the modern era

Global Interactions in the Early Modern Age, 1400-1800 Charles H. Parker, 2010-06-23 Global Interactions in the Early Modern Age is an interdisciplinary introduction to cross cultural encounters in the early modern age 1400 1800 and their influences on the development of world societies In the aftermath of Mongol expansion across Eurasia the unprecedented rise of imperial states in the early modern period set in motion interactions between people from around the world These included new commercial networks large scale migration streams global biological exchanges and transfers of knowledge across oceans and continents These in turn wove together the major regions of the world In an age of extensive cultural political military and economic contact a host of individuals companies tribes states and empires were in competition Yet they also cooperated with one another leading ultimately to the integration of global space Pepper Marjorie

Shaffer,2013-04-02 Filled with anecdotes and fascinating information a spicy read indeed Mark Pendergrast author of Uncommon Grounds The History of Coffee and How it Transformed the World The perfect companion to Mark Kurlansky's Salt A World History Pepper illuminates the rich history of pepper for a popular audience Vivid and entertaining it describes the part pepper played in bringing the Europeans and later the Americans to Asia and details the fascinating encounters they had there As Mark Pendergrast author of Uncommon Grounds said After reading Marjorie Shaffer's Pepper you'll reconsider the significance of that grinder or shaker on your dining room table The pursuit of this wizened berry with the bite changed history in ways you've never dreamed involving extraordinary voyages international trade exotic locales exploitation brutality disease extinctions and rebellions and featuring a set of remarkable characters From the abundance of wildlife on the islands of the Indian Ocean which the Europeans used as stepping stones to India and the East Indies to colorful accounts of the sultan of Banda Aceh entertaining his European visitors with great banquets and elephant fights this fascinating book reveals the often surprising story behind one of mankind's most common spices

The Prospect of Global History James Belich,John Darwin,Margret Frenz,Chris Wickham,2016-02-11 The Prospect of Global History takes a new approach to the study of global history seeking to apply it rather than advocate it The volume seeks perspectives on history from East Asian and Islamic sources as well as European ones and insists on depth in historical analysis The Prospect of Global History will speak to those interested in medieval and ancient history as well as modern history Chapters range from historical sociology to economic history from medieval to modern times from European expansion to constitutional history and from the United States across South Asia to China

Food, Heresies, and Magical Boundaries in the Middle Ages Andrea Maraschi,Francesca Tasca,2025-10-01 In this book readers will find stories about medieval heresies and magic from an unusual perspective that of food studies The time span ranges from Late Antiquity to the Late Middle Ages while the geographical scope includes regions as different as North Africa Spain Ireland continental Europe the Holy land and Central Asia Food heresies and magical boundaries in the Middle Ages explores the power of food in creating and breaking down boundaries between different groups or in establishing a contact with other worlds be they the occult sides of nature or the supernatural The book emphasizes the role of food in crafting and carrying identity and in transferring virtues and powers of natural elements into the eater's body Which foods and drinks made someone a heretic Could they be purified Which food offerings forged a connection with the otherworld Which recipes allowed gaining access to the hidden powers within nature

Empires and Exchanges in Eurasian Late Antiquity Nicola Di Cosmo,Michael Maas,2018-04-26 Empires and Exchanges in Eurasian Late Antiquity offers an integrated picture of Rome China Iran and the Steppes during a formative period of world history In the half millennium between 250 and 750 CE settled empires underwent deep structural changes while various nomadic peoples of the steppes Huns Avars Turks and others experienced significant interactions and movements that changed their societies cultures and economies This was a transformational era a time when Roman Persian and Chinese monarchs were mutually aware of court practices and when Christians and Buddhists criss crossed the Eurasian lands together with merchants and armies It was a time of greater circulation of ideas as well as material goods This volume provides a conceptual frame for locating these developments in the same space and time Without arguing for uniformity it illuminates the interconnections and networks that tied countless local cultural expressions to far reaching inter regional ones

Sky Blue Stone Arash Khazeni, 2014-05-10 This book traces the journeys of a stone across the world From its remote point of origin in the city of Nishapur in eastern Iran turquoise was traded through India Central Asia and the Near East becoming an object of imperial exchange between the Safavid Mughal and Ottoman empires Along this trail unfolds the story of turquoise a phosphate of aluminum and copper formed in rocks below the surface of the earth and its discovery and export as a global commodity In the material culture and imperial regalia of early modern Islamic tributary empires moving from the steppe to the sown turquoise was a sacred stone and a potent symbol of power projected in vivid color displays From the empires of Islamic Eurasia the turquoise trade reached Europe where the stone was collected as an exotic object from the East The Eurasian trade lasted into the nineteenth century when the oldest mines in Iran collapsed and lost Aztec mines in the Americas reopened unearthing more accessible sources of the stone to rival the Persian blue Sky Blue Stone recounts the origins trade and circulation of a natural object in the context of the history of Islamic Eurasia and global encounters between empire and nature

Venice, the Ottomans, and the Sea (1381-1517) Stefan K. Stantchev, 2025-02-28 The later Middle Ages and the early modern period were important and overlapping historical moments for both Venice and the Ottoman Empire yet the two both the periods themselves and the Republic and Empire more generally have often been considered in isolation Seeking to understand better this interrelated transition Venice the Ottomans and the Sea offers for the first time an integrated view of trade and sea power that transcends the overworn paradigms of trade the Ottoman territories as a land of opportunity and crusade the Ottomans as a military threat to uncover the complex interplay between economic structures and political decision making that shaped the period between the end of Venice's most devastating war with Genoa in 1381 and the Ottoman conquest of Mamluk Egypt in 1517 Drawing on the full range of available Venetian sources as well as Ottoman Genoese Florentine and papal materials the book clarifies the trajectory of Venice's trade with the Ottomans the evolution of Venetian defensive measures in the Balkans and of Venetian naval warfare Venice's attempt to aid the Byzantine Empire in 1453 the dynamics of the Venetian Ottoman war of 1463-79 and the interconnections between Venice's social and political structures and its Italian and Ottoman politics In so doing it offers a comprehensive analysis of Venetian Ottoman relations ranging from macro to micro scales and across matters of economic political and military history From a broader Mediterranean perspective this highlights the intersections of political social economic and technological factors behind accelerated historical change in the late medieval and early modern periods and offers a case study in the ways in which a Mediterranean elite maintained its privileged position over time

Approaches to Teaching the Romance of the Rose Daisy Delogu, Anne-Hélène Miller, 2023-03-21 One of the most influential texts of its time the Romance of the Rose offers readers a window into the world view of the late Middle Ages in Europe including notions of moral philosophy and courtly love Yet the Rose also explores topics that remain relevant to readers today such as gender desire and the power of speech Students however can find the work challenging because of its dual authorship by Guillaume de Lorris and Jean de Meun its structure as an allegorical dream vision and its encyclopedic length and scope The essays in this volume offer strategies for teaching the poem with confidence and enjoyment Part 1 Materials suggests helpful background resources Part 2 Approaches presents contexts critical approaches and strategies for teaching the work and its classical and medieval sources illustrations and adaptations as well as the intellectual debates that surrounded it

In Asian Waters Eric Tagliacozzo, 2022-07-19 A sweeping account of how the sea routes of Asia have transformed a vast expanse of the globe over the past five hundred years powerfully shaping the modern world In the centuries leading up to our own the volume of traffic across Asian sea routes an area stretching from East Africa and the Middle East to Japan grew dramatically eventually making them the busiest in the world The result was a massive circulation of people commodities religion culture technology and ideas In this book Eric Tagliacozzo chronicles how the seas and oceans of Asia have shaped the history of the largest continent for the past half millennium leaving an indelible mark on the modern world in the process Paying special attention to migration trade the environment and cities In Asian Waters examines the long history of contact between China and East Africa the spread of Hinduism and Buddhism across the Bay of Bengal and the intertwined histories of Islam and Christianity in the Philippines The book illustrates how India became central to the spice trade how the Indian Ocean became a British lake between the seventeenth and nineteenth centuries and how lighthouses and sea mapping played important roles in imperialism The volume ends by asking what may happen if China comes to rule the waves of Asia as Britain once did A novel account showing how Asian history can be seen as a whole when seen from the water In Asian Waters presents a voyage into a past that is still alive in the present

The World of the Crusades Andrew Holt, 2019-06-05 Unlike traditional references that recount political and military history this encyclopedia includes entries on a wide range of aspects related to daily life during the medieval crusades The medieval crusades were fundamental in shaping world history and provide background for the conflict that exists between the West and the Muslim world today This two volume set presents fundamental information about the medieval crusades as a movement and its ideological impact on both the crusaders and the peoples of the East It takes a broad look at numerous topics related to crusading with the goal of helping readers to better understand what inspired the crusaders the hardships associated with crusading and how crusading has influenced the development of cultures both in the East and the West The first of the two thematically arranged volumes considers topics such as the arts economics and work food and drink family and gender and fashion and appearance The second volume considers topics such as housing and community politics and warfare recreation and social customs religion and beliefs and science and technology Within each topical section are alphabetically arranged reference entries complete with cross references and suggestions for further reading Selections from primary source documents each accompanied by an introductory headnote give readers first hand accounts of the crusades

Plants and Human Conflict Eran Pichersky, 2018-07-27 Perhaps the least appreciated dramatis personae in human history are plants Humans like all other animals cannot produce their own food as plants do through photosynthesis and must therefore acquire organic material for survival and growth by eating plants or by eating other animals that eat plants Humans depend on plants not only as a food source but also as building and clothing materials and as sources of medicines psychoactive substances spices pigments and more With plants being such valuable resources it is therefore not surprising that plants have been involved in practically all violent conflicts among different human societies Ironically plants have also been the source of materials to construct weapons or weapon parts Wars have always constituted a large part of human history and the overall theme of this book is that to understand the history of violent human conflict we need to understand what specific materials plants make that people find so useful and worth fighting over and what roles such plant products have played in specific conflicts To do so Plants and Human Conflict begins with a chapter explaining the basic biological facts of the interdependence between plants and humans and the subsequent seven chapters describe the physical and chemical properties of specific plant products demonstrating how the human need for these products has led to wars as well as contributed to the prosecution of wars These chapters recount some well known and some lesser known historical events in which plants have played a central role This book uniquely combines the modern scientific knowledge of plants with the human history of war introducing readers to a new paradigm that will make them reconsider their understanding of human history as well as to bring about a greater appreciation of plant biology

Historians on Chaucer Stephen Henry Rigby, Alastair J. Minnis, 2014 Historians on Chaucer brings together 25 experts in the history of fourteenth century England to discuss one of the most famous works of Middle English literature Geoffrey Chaucer's General Prologue to the Canterbury Tales in relation to the economic change social issues and religious controversies of the period

Tastes of the Empire Jillian Azevedo, 2017-09-25 During the 17th century England saw foreign foods made increasingly available to consumers and featured in recipe books medical manuals treatises travel narratives and even in plays Yet the public's fascination with these foods went beyond just eating them Through exotic presentations in popular culture they were able to mentally partake of products for which they may not have had access This book examines the body and mind consumerism of the early British Empire

Shakespeare Studies, vol. 42 James R. Siemon, Diana E. Henderson, 2014-09-30 An annual volume containing essays and studies by critics and cultural historians from around the world Also includes two review articles and thirteen books reviews

Tasting Difference Gitanjali G. Shahani, 2020-05-15 Tasting Difference examines early modern discourses of racial cultural and religious difference that emerged in the wake of contact with foreign peoples and foreign foods from across the globe Gitanjali Shahani reimagines the contact zone between Western Europe and the global South in culinary terms emphasizing the gut rather than the gaze in colonial encounters From household manuals that instructed English housewives how to use newly imported foodstuffs to the spiced Indian air of A Midsummer Night's Dream from the repurposing of Othello as an early modern pitchman for coffee in ballads to the performance of disgust in travel narratives Shahani shows how early modern genres negotiated the allure and danger of foreign tastes Turning maxims such as We are what we eat on their head Shahani asks how did we the colonized subjects become what you the colonizing subjects eat How did we become alternately the object of fear and appetite loathing and craving Shahani takes us back several centuries to the process by which food came to be inscribed with racial character and the racial other came to be marked as edible showing how the racializing of food began in an era well before chicken tikka masala and Balti cuisine Bringing into conversation critical paradigms in early modern studies food studies and postcolonial studies she argues that it is in the writing on food and eating that we see among the earliest configurations of racial difference and it is experienced both as a different taste and as a taste of difference European Perceptions of Islam and America from Saladin to George W. Bush P.

O'Brien, 2008-12-22 This book considers European perceptions of their rivals throughout history from the Islamic civilization between the first Crusade in 1095 and the final Ottoman siege of Vienna in 1683 to the United States of America from independence in 1776 until the present and investigates Europe's capacity to lead the world Archaeology of Food: An Encyclopedia Karen Bescherer Metheny, Mary C. Beaudry, 2015-08-07 What are the origins of agriculture In what ways have technological advances related to food affected human development How have food and foodways been used to create identity communicate meaning and organize society In this highly readable illustrated volume archaeologists and other scholars from across the globe explore these questions and more The Archaeology of Food offers more than 250 entries spanning geographic and temporal contexts and features recent discoveries alongside the results of decades of research The contributors provide overviews of current knowledge and theoretical perspectives raise key questions and delve into myriad scientific archaeological and material analyses to add depth to our understanding of food The encyclopedia serves as a reference for scholars and students in archaeology food studies and related disciplines as well as fascinating reading for culinary historians food writers and food and archaeology enthusiasts Before Orientalism Kim M. Phillips, 2014 Drawing on medieval accounts of the earliest European journeys to China India Mongolia and southeast Asia Before Orientalism explores European attitudes toward Asian eating habits sexual practices femininities and civility reconstructing a precolonial vision of the East that was often neutral or admiring
