Outwitting The Gestapo:

Outwitting the Gestapo Lucie Aubrac, 1994 Lucie Aubrac of Catholic and peasant background was teaching history in a Lyon girls school and newly married to Raymond a Jewish engineer when World War II broke out and divided France The couple living in the Vichy zone soon joined the Resistance movement in opposition to the Nazis and their collaborators Outwitting the Gestapo is Lucie s harrowing account of her participation in the Resistance of the months when though pregnant she planned and took part in raids to free comrades including her husband under Nazi death sentence from the prisons of Klaus Barbie the infamous Butcher of Lyon Her book is also the basis for the 1997 French movie Lucie Aubrac which was released in the United States in 1999 Remembering the Occupation in French film L. Hewitt, 2008-02-18

When collective memory is a source of national debate the public representation of history quickly becomes a locus of controversy and ideological struggle This work shows how French film has allowed for a public airing of current concerns through the lens of memory s recreations of the Occupation Women's Representations of the Occupation in Post-'68 France Claire Gorrara, 1998-08-12 This study examines French women s writing and representations of the Occupation in post 68 France The author looks at the work of The Women Resisters those women who were adult resisters during the war and The Daughters of the Occupation those who were born during or after the war period The main contention of the study is that the older generation s nascent awareness of how gender informs political activism is reworked into explicitly feminist representations of wartime France by younger women writers Interrogation in War and Conflict Christopher

Andrew, Simona Tobia, 2014-04-29 This edited volume offers a comparative and interdisciplinary analysis of interrogation and questioning in war and conflict in the twentieth century Despite the current public interest and its military importance interrogation and questioning in conflict is still a largely under researched theme This volume s methodological thrust is to select historical case studies ranging in time from the Great War to the conflicts in former Yugoslavia and including the Second World War decolonization the Cold War the Troubles in Northern Ireland and international justice cases in The Hague each of which raises interdisciplinary issues about the role of interrogation These case studies were selected because they resurface previously unexplored sources on the topic or revisit known cases which allow us to analyse the role of interrogation and questioning in intelligence security and military operations Written by a group of experts from a range of disciplines including history intelligence psychology law and human rights Interrogation in War and Conflict provides a study of the main turning points in interrogation and questioning in twentieth century conflicts over a wide geographical area The collection also looks at issues such as the extent of the use of harsh techniques the value of interrogation to military intelligence security and international justice the development of interrogation as a separate profession in intelligence as well as the relationship between interrogation and questioning and wider society This book will be of much interest to students of intelligence studies strategic studies counter terrorism international justice history and IR in general Mission
