Reflective Theory and Practice in Teacher Education Robyn Brandenburg, Kathryn Glasswell, Mellita Jones, Josephine Ryan, 2017-03-30 This book offers a detailed examination of reflective practice in teacher education In the current educational context where reflective practice has been mandated in professional standards for teachers in many countries it analyses research based evidence for the power of reflective practice to shape better educational outcomes The book presents multiple theoretical and practical views of this often taken for granted practice so that readers are challenged to consider how factors such as gender and race shape understandings of reflective practice Documenting approaches that enhance learning the contributions discuss reflective practice across the globe with a focus on pre service in service and university teachers At a time when there is pressure to measure teachers work through standardised tests the book highlights the professional thinking that is integral to teaching and demonstrates ways it can be encouraged in beginning teachers Aimed at the international community of teacher educators in schools and universities it also includes a critical examination of methodological issues in analysing and evaluating reflective practice and showcases the kind of reflective practice that empowers teachers and pre service teachers to make a difference to students

Community Music at the Boundaries Lee Willingham, 2021-04-06 Music lives where people live Historically music study has centred on the conservatory which privileges the study of the Western European canon and Western European practice The Eurocentric way music has been studied has excluded communities that are considered to be marginalized in one or more ways despite that the majority of human experiences with music is found outside of that realm Community music has emerged as a counter narrative to the hegemonic music canon it seeks to increase the participation of those living on the boundaries Community Music at the Boundaries explores music and music making on those edges The real power of community music writes Roger Mantie in the foreword lies not in the fiction of trying to eliminate boundaries or pretending they don t exist but in embracing the challenge of walking them Contributions from scholars and researchers music practitioners and administrators examine the intersection of music and communities in a variety of music making forms ensembles university and police choirs bands prison performing groups youth music groups instrument classes symphonies drum circles and musical direction and performance Some of the topics explored in the volume include education and change music and Indigenous communities health and wellness music by incarcerated persons and cultural identity By shining a light on boundaries this volume provides a wealth of international perspectives and knowledge about the ways that music enhances lives

Music, Health and Wellbeing Naomi Sunderland, Natalie Lewandowski, Dan Bendrups, Brydie-Leigh Bartleet, 2017-12-01 This book explores the power music has to address health inequalities and the social determinants of health and wellbeing It examines music participation as a determinant of wellbeing and as a transformative tool to impact on wider social cultural and environmental conditions Uniquely in this volume health and wellbeing outcomes are conceptualised on a continuum with potential effects identified in relation to individual participants their communities but also society at large While arts therapy approaches have a clear place in the text the emphasis is on music making outside of clinical contexts and the broader roles musicians music facilitators and educators can play in enhancing wellbeing in a range of settings beyond the therapy room This innovative edited collection will be of great interest to scholars and practitioners of music social services medical humanities education and the broader health field in the social and medical sciences

Decolonizing Research Jo-ann Archibald Q'um Q'um Xiiem, Jenny Bol Jun Lee-Morgan, Jason De Santolo, 2019-05-15 From Oceania to North America Indigenous peoples have created storytelling traditions of incredible depth and diversity The term Indigenous storywork has come to encompass the sheer breadth of ways in which Indigenous storytelling serves as a historical record as a form of teaching and learning and as an expression of Indigenous culture and identity But such traditions have too often been relegated to the realm of myth and legend recorded as fragmented distortions or erased altogether Decolonizing Research brings together Indigenous researchers and activists from Canada Australia and New Zealand to assert the unique value of Indigenous storywork as a focus of research and to develop methodologies that rectify the colonial attitudes inherent in much past and current scholarship By bringing together their own indigenous perspectives and by treating Indigenous storywork on its own terms the contributors illuminate valuable new avenues for research and show how such reworked scholarship can contribute to the movement for Indigenous rights and self determination

Post-Anthropocentric Social Work Vivienne Bozalek, Bob Pease, 2020-12-21 This book seeks to trouble taken for granted assumptions of anthropocentrism and humanism in social work those which perpetuate human privilege and human exceptionalism The edited collection provides a different imaginary for social work by introducing ways of thinking otherwise that challenge human exceptionalism Social work is at heart a liberal humanist project informed by a strong human rights framework This edited collection draws on the literature on affect feminist new materialism and critical posthumanism to critique the liberal framework which includes human rights Disrupting the anthropocentrism in social work which positions humans as an elite species at the centre of world history this book develops an ethical sensibility that values entanglements of humans non human life and the natural environment The book provides new insights into environmental destruction human animal relations gender inequality and male dominance as well as indigenous and settler colonial issues and critical and green social work It will be of interest to all scholars and students of social work community development social policy and development studies more broadly

Community Engagement and

the COVID-19 Pandemic Tawnya Azar, 2025-06-24 Community engaged CE teaching is not a new concept. However, in the past several years, it has gained increased emphasis, as is evident by the changes to institution mission statements and the allocation of institution resources to support faculty development in CE teaching as well as to support CE coursework and research. The arrival of the COVID-19 pandemic forced many faculty members to pivot to an all-online instruction model, impacting community engaged teaching and research in both predictable and unexpected ways. Community partners facing similar struggles to serve their communities with restrictions on face-to-face interaction were often too overwhelmed to work with higher education volunteers. Legally, universities could not ask students to risk their health with face-to-face community engagement. In fact, the number of CE courses decreased dramatically in 2020 and 2021 due to the unique challenges posed by the pandemic. At the same time, the pandemic presented some CE faculty with new opportunities for community engagement. Some responded swiftly to the immediate needs of the local, regional, or national community with which they worked, taking advantage of the affordances of digital technology or capitalizing on the issues that the pandemic itself created or exacerbated. This collection captures the incredible work of pivoting and innovating in community engaged teaching. With a primary focus on community engaged teaching in higher education, this collection explores how faculty, students, and community partners navigated their work during the COVID-19 pandemic. Additionally, it raises important questions about how we might stay engaged with community during a crisis.

The Wiley International Handbook of Service-Learning for Social Justice Darren E. Lund, 2018-10-30 A comprehensive guide to service learning for social justice, written by an international panel of experts. The Wiley International Handbook of Service Learning for Social Justice offers a review of recent trends in social justice that have been until recently marginalized in the field of service learning. The authors offer a guide for establishing and nurturing social justice in a variety of service learning programs and show that incorporating the principles of social justice in service learning can empower communities to resist and disrupt oppressive power structures and work for solidarity with host and partner communities. With contributions from an international panel of experts, the Handbook contains a critique of the field's roots in charity, a review of the problematization of Whitenormativity paired with the bolstering of diverse voices and perspectives, and information on the embrace of emotional elements including tension, ambiguity, and discomfort. This important resource considers the role of the community in service learning and other community engaged models of education and practice. Explores the necessity of disruption and dissonance in service learning. Discusses a number of targeted issues that often arise in service learning contexts. Offers a practical guide to establishing and nurturing social justice at the heart of an international service learning program. Written for advanced undergraduate students, graduate students, scholars, and educators. The Wiley International Handbook of Service Learning for Social Justice highlights social justice as a conflict-ridden struggle against inequality, xenophobia, and oppression and offers practical suggestions for incorporating service learning programs in various arenas.
