Vincke, 2012-12-06 1 1 Motivations Deciding is a very complex and difficult task Some people even argue that our ability to make decisions in complex situations is the main feature that distinguishes us from animals it is also common to say that laughing is the main difference Nevertheless when the task is too complex or the interests at stake are too important it quite often happens that we do not know or we are not sure what to decide and in many instances we resort to a decision support technique an informal one we toss a coin we ask an oracle we visit an astrologer we consult an expert we think or a formal one Although informal decision support techniques can be of interest in this book we will focus on formal ones Among the latter we find some well known decision support techniques cost benefit analysis multiple criteria decision analysis decision trees But there are many other ones sometimes not presented as decision support techniques that help making decisions Let us cite but a few examples When the director of a school must decide whether a given student will pass or fail he usually asks each teacher to assess the merits of the student by means of a grade The director then sums the grades and compares the result to a threshold When a bank must decide whether a given client will obtain a credit or not a technique called credit scoring is often used      Automobile Magazine , 2008      12th International Symposium on Automotive Lightning - ISAL 2017 - Proceedings of the Conference Tran Quoc Khanh, 2017-09-22 It is a pleasure to present you the proceedings of the 12th International Symposium on Automotive Lighting which takes place in Darmstadt on September 25 27 2017 This conference is the document of a series of successful conferences since the first PAL conference in 1995 and shows the latest innovative potentials of the automotive industry in the application of lighting technologies      Port Elizabeth, East London and Neighboring Districts Telephone Directory South Africa. Green Households? Klaas Jan Noorman,Ton Schoot Uiterkamp,1998 Households are one of the main sources of waste and of other environmental impacts Yet most attention to date has focused on the effects of business and industry rather than on domestic consumption of goods energy and resources and their resulting outputs Green Households is the first book to concentrate on this vital but neglected sector Drawing on empirical research largely from The Netherlands it takes households as consumer units and examines the entire household metabolism This includes the way domestic demand can influence where and how goods and services are produced resource flows through households and the differential environmental impacts of different lifestyles It shows both what would constitute sustainable domestic consumption and how far there is to go to achieve this in industrialised and affluent Western society Those involved in planning and policy as it affects households and urban development as well as students and researchers in social science and environmental studies will find it an invaluable source of information Analyse und Prognose des Modellzyklusses in der
