Clark,2015-09-21 Having journeyed together on bikes clear from northern Italy south to Sicily and west across Tunisia Algeria and Morocco the two vagabonds Pike and Emery have separated under mysterious and ominous circumstances Sans bike sans Pike Emery now enters Spain on the ferry boat the Andalucia aboard which he meets Rita a lovely surprise acquaintance of the now missing person Pike The two rent a car and drive up the Costa del Sol the Sunshine Coast to San Roque a lovely Andalusian village with a beautiful old city center and steep streets whitewashed courtyards and balconies full of flowers They drove on to Estepona the legendary Salduba the Muslim Estebbuna from which they again could see the heights of Gibraltar and still further mountains of North Africa Estepona shone white against the sparkling blue sea The paint used on the houses was made from the surrounding limestone mountains The old town was a maze of cobbled steep narrow streets squares and patios past hotels restaurants cafes tapas bars shops and bodegas wine cellars They came to a wide promenade lined in palm trees garlanded with flowers Eventually they land in the town of Benal de Guadix in the eastern part of the Province of Granada where the people literally lived under the ground In the Barrio Santiago region of the Sierra Nevada were over two thousand Guadixian style cave homes In downtown Guadix signs pointed to the Barrio Troglodyte the cave district The region was famous not surprisingly for its hand crafted earthenware sold roadside for miles around They go to Valencia the city of Spain s national hero El Cid and the homeplace of Paella and on to Sagunto where everyone was out for a siesta it seemed out of town for the siesta Do you think were the first people ever to visit Sagunto Rita ventured puzzled The two went down to the Port and the Playa de Malvasur But there was nobody else there not a soul Emery and Rita walked northward and stopped at Canet de Berenguer on the Rac de Mar Beach a beautiful beach with still finer sand and more dunes A light chill fell with the dusk The two sat on the beach wrapped in blankets and watched the lights go on up and down the coast then retreated for the night When Emery was sure Rita was asleep he ventured out alone to have another look at the moon and stars and constellations It seemed to him that he d sat down on the perfect spot Unhurried winds swept by as through a corridor whistling The oceans gentle lapping came in then back out all up and down the shore It was mid January when Emery and Rita took the Metro to the Madrid airport Pike was flying in from Bostons Logan Airport on a direct Delta Airlines flight Emery cried when he saw him Pike looked happy Rita gasped The not so long ago emaciated Pike had put some weight back on His cheeks were almost plump His clothes were neat and tidy He looked good He had his heavy hairy golden coat over his arm and only a light pack on his back On Pike s head was a big new smooth and golden Stetson cowboy hat When he lifted it and waved it at them they saw hed gone a little bald Pike called to them Is it really you Emery Rita is it really you

Mumbai Fables Gyan Prakash,2010-10-10 Starting from the catastrophic floods and terrorist attacks of recent years Prakash reaches back to the sixteenth century Portuguese conquest to reveal the stories behind Mumbai s historic journey Examining Mumbai s role as a symbol of opportunity and reinvention he looks at its nineteenth century development under British rule and its twentieth century emergence as a fabled city on the sea Different layers of urban experience come to light as he recounts the narratives of the Nanavati murder trial and the rise and fall of the tabloid Blitz and Mumbai's transformation from the red city of trade unions and communists into the saffron city of Hindu nationalist Shiv Sena. Starry-eyed planners and elite visionaries, cynical leaders and violent politicians of the street, land sharks and underworld dons jostle with ordinary citizens and poor immigrants as the city copes with the dashed dreams of postcolonial urban life and lurches into the seductions of globalization.

The Kokoschka Capers Alessandra Comini, 2015-08-15 In this third book in the Megan Crespi Mystery Series, a major double portrait by the Viennese Expressionist artist Oskar Kokoschka showing himself with his lover Alma Mahler has been stolen from the Basel Museum in Switzerland. Left in its place is an exact duplicate except that Alma has been replaced by an unknown woman. Retired professor of art history Megan Crespi, an expert on Viennese art, is called in to help with the investigation. Then a second theft of fourteen crates of unknown Kokoschka artworks from a Viennese storage vault takes Megan to Vienna. There she meets by accident the mysterious multimillionaire Desdemona Dumba. A stunning anorexic, Desdemona feels it is her role in life to bring Kokoschka's lost works together and away from public scrutiny. Meanwhile, two individuals, Leo Lang and Bruno Fichte, harbor fanatical interest in Kokoschka and go to extreme measures, either to desecrate or to protect the artist's images of Alma. An endangered Megan pursues leads that take her from Basel and Vienna to Berlin and finally to Xenia, Desdemona's remote islet off the Greek island of Corfu.

Readers Guide Journeys from Interlaken and Prague Lincoln Phillips, 2024-08-31 Journeys from Interlaken and Prague Two different lives, two different journeys. A heroine and an unwilling antihero unknowingly cross paths only from a distance, and their lives are changed forever. Fifteen-year-old Caroline Westermarck enjoys a peaceful existence with her expatriate American family in Switzerland. She adapts easily to adventure and, with her grandfather at the steering wheel of their car, soars over the Alps with her best friend Marta on a road trip to Munich. During her visit to Germany, Caroline revels in the everyday pleasures of a teenage girl: seeing the sights and meeting nice boys. But exposure to the fringes of the migrant crisis in Europe, from discussion at the family dinner table to Muslim women and their children begging on the streets, is her first philosophical introduction to social conflict. It is a setting far removed from her life at home. Pavel Vorotnikov is a young Russian man in an entirely different situation. He cannot take the violence of fighting for a mercenary army in Syria and agrees to join a child trafficking operation in Europe. When he sees how the children are treated and is compelled to deal with the bodies of children that die in transit, he despises the gang members and even himself for what he has become. The contrast is stark, but fears and yearning are intertwined. From a Swiss mountainside park, Caroline's father looks to the distant peaks and worries about war, famine, and disease. Pavel inhabits a largely tranquil society but is not part of that dream. In a delivery to Munich, Pavel plots revenge against the gang and is awed beyond his wildest imagination when people he does not know courageously and unwittingly intervene. Caroline's life also changes as she pays the price for men who invent a reason to go to war. It is a journey to death and suffering and sacrifice that, once begun, cannot be forgotten.
