The Riflemen of Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Virginia

Depicted in the painting are the riflemen of Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Virginia. These riflemen were the backbone of the Continental Army's long-range firepower. They were trained in the use of the long rifle, a weapon that could be used for both hunting and warfare. The riflemen were also known for their marksmanship and their ability to hold their ground in battle.

The Great Union Flag

The Great Union Flag was the first flag of the United States. It was created in 1776 and was used by the Continental Army and the Continental Congress. The flag was made of thirteen horizontal stripes, seven red alternating with six white, and a blue canton with thirteen white stars.

The Rutlandshire Flag

The Rutlandshire Flag was the flag of the County of Rutland. It was created in 1776 and was used by the County of Rutland. The flag was made of a red field with a white cross and a blue saltire.

Knell, 2007      Museum Revolutions Simon Knell, Suzanne MacLeod, Sheila Watson, 2007-09-12 Capturing the richness of the museum studies discipline Museum Revolutions is the ideal text for museum studies courses providing a wide range of interlinked themes and the latest thought and research from experts in the field      National Museums Simon Knell, Peter Aronsson, Arne Amundsen, 2014-05-22 National Museums is the first book to explore the national museum as a cultural institution in a range of contrasting national contexts Composed of new studies of countries that rarely make a showing in the English language studies of museums this book reveals how these national museums have been used to create a sense of national self place the nation in the arts deal with the consequences of political change remake difficult pasts and confront those issues of nationalism ethnicity and multiculturalism which have come to the fore in national politics in recent decades National Museums combines research from both leading and new researchers in the fields of history museum studies cultural studies sociology history of art media studies science and technology studies and anthropology It is an interrogation of the origins purpose organisation politics narratives and philosophies of national museums      The Ashgate Research Companion to Heritage and Identity Brian J. Graham, Peter Howard, 2008 Heritage represents the meanings and representations conveyed in the present day upon artefacts landscapes mythologies memories and traditions from the past It is a key element in the shaping of identities particularly in the context of increasingly multicultural societies This Research Companion brings together an international team of authors to discuss the concepts ideas and practices that inform the entwining of heritage and identity They have assembled a wide geographical range of examples and interpret them through a number of disciplinary lenses that include geography history museum and heritage studies archaeology art history history anthropology and media studies This outstanding companion offers scholars and graduate students a thoroughly up to date guide to current thinking and a comprehensive reference to this growing field      The Changing Museum Clive Gray, 2022-11-30 Using the example of New Walk Museum Leicester and its collections the complexity multi causality and reasons for change in museums are examined and explained The 170 years history of New Walk provides an original basis and innovative approach to be adopted towards explaining museum change The book makes use of original interview and archive material to examine how and why social economic political and professional developments affected the work that was undertaken in New Walk The time span covered is much longer than is normal for a book on museum history and is longer than for almost all the national museums in the UK with this allowing for a nuanced understanding of the causes and consequences of museum change over time The problems and possibilities of undertaking museum history research are also discussed Detailed examination of the ways in which a variety of societal developments fed into museum change is a key feature of the book The book is aimed at all those with an interest in understanding how and why change affects museum practice and will be of interest to museum professionals academics and students in museum studies history politics and sociology as well to the general museum visitor who would like to discover more about the institutions that they visit

Museum Times Leslie Witz,2022-06-10 Museums flourished in post apartheid South Africa In older museums there were renovations on the go and at least fifty new museums opened Most sought to depict violence and suffering under apartheid and the growth of resistance These unlikely journeys are tracked as museums became a primary setting for contesting histories From the renowned Robben Island Museum to the almost unknown Lwandle Migrant Labour Museum the author demonstrates how an institution concerned with the conservation of the past is simultaneously a site for changing history

Museum Communication and Social Media Kirsten Drotner,Kim Christian Schröder,2014-03-14 Visitor engagement and learning outreach and inclusion are concepts that have long dominated professional museum discourses The recent rapid uptake of various forms of social media in many parts of the world however calls for a reformulation of familiar opportunities and obstacles in museum debates and practices Young people as both early adopters of digital forms of communication and latecomers to museums increasingly figure as a key target group for many museums This volume presents and discusses the most advanced research on the multiple ways in which social media operates to transform museum communications in countries as diverse as Australia Denmark Germany Norway the UK and the United States It examines the socio cultural contexts organizational and education consequences and methodological implications of these transformations

Commemorative Spaces of the First World War James Wallis,David C. Harvey,2017-07-20 This is the first book to bring together an interdisciplinary theoretically engaged and global perspective on the First World War through the lens of historical and cultural geography Reflecting the centennial interest in the conflict the collection explores the relationships between warfare and space and pays particular attention to how commemoration is connected to spatial elements of national identity and processes of heritage and belonging Venturing beyond military history and memory studies contributors explore conceptual contributions of geography to analyse the First World War as well as reflecting upon the imperative for an academic discussion on the War s centenary This book explores the War s impact in more unexpected theatres blurring the boundary between home and fighting fronts investigating the experiences of the war amongst civilians and often overlooked combatants It also critically examines the politics of hindsight in the post war period and offers an historical geographical account of how the First World War has been memorialised within official spaces in addition to those overlooked and often undervalued alternative spaces of commemoration This innovative and timely text will be key reading for students and scholars of the First World War and more broadly in historical and cultural geography social and cultural history European history Heritage Studies military history and memory studies

A Museum Studies Approach to Heritage Sheila Watson,Amy Jane Barnes,Katy Bunning,2018-10-08 Heritage s revival as a respected academic subject has in part resulted from an increased awareness and understanding of indigenous rights and non Western philosophies and practices and a growing respect for the intangible Heritage has thus far focused on management tourism and the traditionally heritage minded disciplines such as archaeology geography and social and cultural theory Widening the scope of international heritage studies A Museum Studies Approach to Heritage explores heritage through new areas of knowledge including emotion and affect the politics of dissent migration and intercultural and participatory dimensions of heritage Drawing on a range of disciplines and the best from established sources the book includes writing not typically recognised as heritage but which nevertheless makes a valuable contribution to the debate about what heritage is what it can do and how it works and for whom Including heritage perspectives from beyond the professional sphere the book serves as a reminder that heritage is not just an academic concern but a deeply felt and keenly valued public and private practice This blending of traditional topics and emerging trends established theory and concepts from other disciplines offers readers international views of the past and future of this growing field A Museum Studies Approach to Heritage offers a wider more current and more inclusive overview of issues and practices in heritage and its intersection with museums As such the book will be essential reading for postgraduate students of heritage and museum studies It will also be of great interest to academics practitioners and anyone else who is interested in how we conceptualise and use the past

Graphic Design in Museum Exhibitions Jona Piehl, 2020-12-30 Graphic Design in Museum Exhibitions offers an in depth analysis of the multiple roles that exhibition graphics perform in contemporary museums and exhibitions Drawing on a study of exhibitions that took place at the Victoria and Albert Museum London the Museum of London and the Haus der Geschichte Bonn Piehl brings together approaches from museum studies design practice and narrative theory to examine museum exhibitions as multimodal narratives in which graphics account for one set of narrative resources The analysis underlines the importance of aspects such as accessibility and at the same time problematises conceptualisations that focus only on the effectiveness of graphics as display device by drawing attention to the contributions that graphics make towards the content on display and to the ways in which it is experienced in the museum space Graphic Design in Museum Exhibitions argues for a critical reading of and engagement with exhibition graphic design as part of wider debates around meaning making in museum studies and exhibition making practice As such the book should be essential reading for academics researchers and students from the fields of museum and design studies Practitioners such as exhibition designers graphic designers curators and other exhibition makers should also find much to interest them in the book

The Disobedient Museum Kylie Message, 2017-09-22 The Disobedient Museum Writing at the Edge aims to motivate disciplinary thinking to reimagine writing about museums as an activity where resistant forms of thinking seeing feeling and acting can be produced and to theorize this process as a form of protest against disciplinary stagnation Drawing on a range of cultural theoretical and political approaches Kylie Message examines potential links between methods of critique today and moments of historical and disciplinary crisis and asks what contribution museums might make to these either as direct actors or through activities that sit more comfortably within their institutional remit Identifying the process of writing about museums as a form of activism that brings together and elaborates on cultural and political agendas for change the book explores how a process of engaged critique might benefit museum studies what this critique might look like and how museum studies might make a contribution to discourses of social and political change The Disobedient Museum is the first volume in Routledge's innovative Museums in Focus series and will be of great interest to scholars and students in the fields of Museum Heritage Public History and Cultural Studies It should also be essential reading for museum practitioners particularly those engaged with questions about the role of museums in regard to social activism and contentious contemporary challenges

Climate Change and Museum Futures Fiona Cameron, Brett Neilson, 2014-12-05 Climate change is a complex and dynamic environmental cultural and political phenomenon that is reshaping our relationship to nature Climate change is a global force with global impacts Viable solutions on what to do must involve dialogues and decision making with many agencies stakeholder groups and communities crossing all sectors and scales Current policy approaches are inadequate and finding a consensus on how to reduce levels of greenhouse gases in the atmosphere through international protocols has proven difficult Gaps between science and society limit government and industry capacity to engage with communities to broker innovative solutions to climate change Drawing on leading edge research and creative programming initiatives this collection details the important roles and agencies that cultural institutions in particular natural history and science museums and science centres can play within these gaps as resources catalysts and change agents in climate change debates and decision making processes as unique public and trans national spaces where diverse stakeholders government and communities can meet where knowledge can be mediated competing discourses and agendas tabled and debated and where both individual and collective action might be activated

The Contemporary Museum Simon Knell, 2018-10-11 The Contemporary Museum issues a challenge to those who view the museum as an artefact of history constrained in its outlook as much by professional institutional and disciplinary creed as by the collections it accumulated in the distant past Denying that the museum can locate its purpose in the pursuit of tradition or in idealistic speculation about the future the book asserts that this can only be found through an ongoing and proactive negotiation with the present the contemporary This volume is not concerned with any present but with the peculiar circumstances of what it refers to as the global contemporary the sense of living in a globally connected world that is preoccupied with the contemporary To situate the museum in this world of real and immediate need and action beyond the reach of history the book argues is to empower it to challenge existing dogmas and inequalities and sweep aside old hierarchies As a result fundamental questions need to be asked about such things as the museum's relationship to global time and space to systems and technologies of knowing to the life well lived to the movement and rights of people and to the psychology permanence and organisation of culture Incorporating diverse viewpoints from around the world The Contemporary Museum is a follow up volume to Museum Revolutions and as such should be essential reading for students in the fields of museum and heritage studies cultural studies communication and media studies art history and social policy Academics and museum professionals will also find this book a source of inspiration

Museum Websites and Social Media Ana Sánchez Laws, 2015-10-01 Online activities present a unique challenge for museums as they harness the potential of digital technology for sustainable development trust building and representations of diversity This volume offers a holistic picture of museum online activities that can serve as a starting point for cross disciplinary discussion It is a resource for museum staff students designers and researchers working at the intersection of cultural institutions and digital technologies The aim is to provide insight into the issues behind designing and implementing web pages and social media to serve the broadest range of museum stakeholders

Museums and Archaeology Robin Skeates, 2022-06-19 Museums and Archaeology brings together a wide but carefully chosen selection of literature from around the world that connects museums and archaeology Part of the successful Leicester Readers in Museum Studies series it provides a combination of issue and practice based perspectives As such it is a volume not only for students and researchers from a range of disciplines interested in museum gallery and heritage studies including public archaeology and cultural resource management CRM but also the wide range of professionals and volunteers in the museum and heritage sector who work with archaeological collections The volume's balance of theory and practice and its thematic and geographical breadth is explored and explained in an extended introduction which situates the readings in the context of the extensive literature on museum archaeology highlighting the many tensions that exist between idealistic principles and real life practice and the debates that surround these In addition to this section introductions and the seminal pieces themselves provide a comprehensive and contextualised resource on the interplay of museums and archaeology
