On the Fiery March G. Bruce Strang, 2003-07-30 By the 1930s fascist dictator Benito Mussolini reached the conclusion that Italy faced a clear choice expand its power at the expense of the British and French Empires or face stagnation and decline He believed that the regimes in the democratic West would not be able to contain their inherent hostility toward fascist dynamism while their demographic and political weaknesses provided the opportunity for the younger demographically virile fascist Italy to carve a new empire in the Mediterranean status quo Through his intervention in the Spanish Civil War and his attempts to challenge French Power in Europe and British imperial domination of the Middle East and East Africa Mussolini sought to decisively change Italy's long standing position as the least of the Great Powers Although the Pact of Steel did not always function smoothly Mussolini remained loyal to its principles eventually throwing Italy into the Second World War where he would belatedly discover that his regime had signally failed to prepare his legions for fighting in a modern war

Murder in the Métro Gayle K. Brunelle, Annette Finley-Crowwhite, 2010-05-01 On the evening of May 16 1937 the train doors opened at the Porte Dorée station in the Paris Métro to reveal a dying woman slumped by a window an eight inch stiletto buried to its hilt in her neck No one witnessed the crime and the killer left behind little forensic evidence This first ever murder in the Paris Métro dominated the headlines for weeks during the summer of 1937 as journalists and the police slowly uncovered the shocking truth about the victim a twenty nine year old Italian immigrant the beautiful and elusive Laetitia Toureaux Toureaux toiled each day in a factory but spent her nights working as a spy in the seamy Parisian underworld Just as the dangerous spy Mata Hari fascinated Parisians of an earlier generation the mystery of Toureaux's murder held the French public spellbound in pre war Paris as the police tried and failed to identify her assassin In Murder in the M tro Gayle K Brunelle and Annette Finley Croswhite unravel Toureaux s complicated and mysterious life assessing her complex identity within the larger political context of the time They follow the trail of Toureaux s murder investigation to the Comit Secret d Action R volutionnaire a secret right wing political organization popularly known as the Cagoule or hooded ones Obsessed with the Communist threat they perceived in the growing power of labor unions and the French left wing the Cagoule s leaders aimed to overthrow France s Third Republic and install an authoritarian regime allied with Italy With Mussolini as their ally and Italian fascism as their model they did not shrink from committing violent crimes and fomenting terror to accomplish their goal In 1936 Toureaux at the behest of the French police infiltrated this dangerous group of terrorists and seduced one of its leaders Gabriel Jeantet to gain more information This operation the authors show eventually cost Toureaux her life The tale of Laetitia Toureaux epitomizes the turbulence of 1930s France as the country prepared for a war most people dreaded but assumed would come This period therefore generated great anxiety but also offered new opportunities and risks to Toureaux as she embraced the identity of a modern woman The authors unravel her murder as they detail her story and that of the Cagoule within the popular culture and conflicted politics of 1930s France By examining documents related to Toureaux s murder documents the French government has sealed from public view until 2038 Brunelle and Finley Croswhite link Toureaux s death not only to the Cagoule but also to the Italian secret service for whom she acted as an informant Their research provides likely answers to the question of the identity of Toureaux s murderer and offers a fascinating look at the dark and dangerous streets of pre World War II Paris Congress Declares War Roland H. Worth, Jr.,2010-06-28 The dramatic events of the Pearl Harbor attack have been covered in detail from a wide variety of approaches What came next the American declaration of war the intervention of Germany and Italy and the U S proclaiming war against them as well has been given considerably less attention This detailed volume fills that gap with careful analysis of how the public and Congress reacted to the attack and how it began to modify their past attitudes toward foreign war Excerpts from the Congressional Record of 1941 support the author s discussion of the debates leading to the decision to declare war The book explores the rationales defending past conduct by those who had been of both interventionist and anti interventionist sentiments as well as their collective effort to forge a national consensus that would support a multi year international conflict Emphasis is also placed on the reasoning behind war not being immediately declared on Germany as well as Japan and the motivations behind Germany's decision to enter the conflict on its own initiative Lengthy attention is given to Jeanette Rankin the only House member to vote against the war

Vital Crossroads Reynolds Mathewson Salerno, 2002 Most international historians present the outbreak of World War II as the result of an irreconcilable conflict between Great Britain and Germany This ubiquitous Anglo German perspective fails to recognize complex causes and repercussions of international events misappropriates historical responsibilities and overlooks many global and imperial factors of the war's origins Reynolds M Salerno shows that the situation in the Mediterranean played a decisive role in the European drama of the late 1930s and profoundly influenced the manner in which the Second World War unfolded Vital Crossroads is the result of the author's remarkable access to and extensive research in twenty eight archives in five different countries Concentrating on the period from the Mediterranean crisis of 1935 to Italy's declaration of war in June 1940 Salerno demonstrates that the international politics of pre World War II Europe particularly in the Mediterranean can only be understood as the multilateral interaction of British French German and Italian foreign and defense policies Control of the Mediterranean he asserts was a central concern for the European powers in 1935-40 and a fundamental reason why Europe went to war and why the conflict unfolded as it did As a result France and Italy influenced and often determined the nature and direction of Allied and Axis policy to an extent disproportionate to their nations military and economic strength Salerno contends that the Allies reluctance to take decisive action against Fascist Italy in 1939-40 contributed to the fall of France in 1940 Britain's desperate situation in 1940-41 and the post war collapse of Britain as a world power At a time when the Allied powers dreaded the ability of the German military to march across the European continent they also feared that the Italian armed forces would strive to fulfill Mussolini's grand imperial ambitions in the Mediterranean
