Skeletons Josie Malone, 2021-03-23 Sergeant First Class Sullivan Barlow has plans for her future and none of them include the guy she slept with in a night of weakness. Intending to forget the devastation of losing her best friend in Afghanistan, Sully woke the next morning still alone. Her only solace she hadn't told the man her real name. A career soldier, Tate Murphy has three more years in the Army until he's eligible for retirement. Seven weeks ago he met a woman in a hotel bar and spent the night with her. He hasn't been able to get her out of his mind and can't believe his luck when he finds her again. Then they discover their first night together resulted in something they never expected. She's pregnant and Tate immediately proposes. Pregnant, struggling with survivor guilt, the last thing Sully needs is to learn her best friend may have died but hasn't left yet. Tate says sometimes courage is an act of survival. Sully fears trust is a casualty of war. Will she and Tate ever find it again, either by themselves or with the help of those who have passed on before.

Classics Illustrated William B. Jones, 2002 From 1941 to 1971 the well-loved yet controversial Classics Illustrated series brought abridged comics style versions of literary masterpieces such as Homer's Odyssey, Shakespeare's Hamlet, Goethe's Faust and Hugo's Les Misérables to millions of children and adults worldwide. Founded by Russian Jewish immigrant Albert Kanter at the dawn of the Golden Age of comics, the series used the comic book form to introduce young readers to the works of Melville, Dickens, Stevenson, Twain and other authors. This work tells the story of Kanter's enterprise and examines the cultural significance of the most successful publication of its kind in the context of the times in which it was published. Attention is given to the evolving mission of Classics Illustrated to bring serious literature to popular culture, the publication's ability to stand up to the anti-comics hysteria of the early 1950s, the growth of subsidiary educational series encompassing folklore, mythology, history and science, and the unsuccessful attempts to revive the series in the 1990s. The careers and contributions of each of the artists are covered and the text is supplemented by quotations from exclusive interviews and correspondence with such illustrators as George Evans, Gray Morrow, Lou Cameron, Norman Nodel and Rudolph Palais. Detailed appendices provide artist attributions and the contents of each issue in every Classics Illustrated related series. More than 200 illustrations offer a generous sample of what drew millions of readers to the World's Finest Juvenile Publication.

Independence Day Richard Ford, 2010-12-22 Frank Bascombe is no longer a sportswriter yet he's still living in Haddam, New Jersey where he now sells real estate. He's still divorced though his ex-wife to his dismay has remarried and moved along with their children to Connecticut. But Frank is happy enough in his work and pursuing various civic and entrepreneurial sidelines. He has high hopes for this 4th of July weekend: a search for a house for deeply hapless clients relocating to Vermont, a rendezvous on the Jersey shore with his girlfriend, then up to Connecticut to pick up his larcenous and emotionally troubled teenage son and visit as many sports halls of fame as they can fit into two days. Frank's Independence Day however turns out not as he'd planned and this decent, appealingly bewildered, profoundly observant man is wrenched gradually and inevitably out of his private refuge. Independence Day captures the mystery of life in all its conflicted glory with grand humour, intense compassion and
