Counseling Adolescents Through Loss, Grief, and Trauma Pamela A. Malone, 2016-02-19 Loss, grief and trauma come into the lives of adolescents in many forms and with more frequency than the adults in their lives may realize. Assessing the depth and nature of their emotions can be difficult; adolescents are typically reluctant to show strong emotions and can be difficult to reach, particularly when they experience the untimely death of a loved one. How best to work with a young person who may have trouble communicating their emotions even under the best of circumstances? And what if he or she has learned about the death of a loved one or classmate from another peer rather than a family member? What about gender differences and the influence of culture and family? What role do cell phones, text messaging and technologies such as Facebook play in the adolescent grief experience? Adolescents' use of technology creates unlimited access to friends, support systems and information, but news that spreads quickly without buffering effects can intensify the strength of the adolescent grief response. Counseling Adolescents Through Loss, Grief, and Trauma not only examines these issues, it also provides clinicians with a wealth of resources and time-tested therapeutic activities that are sure to become an indispensable part of any clinician's practice.

to persist in the face of life's challenges and to proceed positively with life events. The Resilience Enhancing Stress Model (RESM) is an outgrowth of the profession's interest in strength-based person-environment approaches grounded in generalist social work practice that offers a range of intervention practice methods with diverse individuals, families, groups, organizations, and communities. RESM was developed to provide the skill set for working with clients and constituencies across the individual, family, community, and configuration during times of distress. It also can be a welcomed addition to social work practice with people undertaking life transitions and overcoming disruption to individual, family, and community function. Topics explored include: An Evolving Resilience Enhancing Stress Model; Interviewing to Promote Resilience Among Marginalized Populations; Co-creating a Grand Narrative; The Intersection of Individual, Family, and Community Practice; Connecting Communal Living, Ecology, and Resilience; A Resilience Enhancing Stress Model; A Social Work Multisystemic Practice Approach. This is a timely text for human behavior and practice methods at the generalist or advanced generalist levels in social work. It can also be used at the doctoral level of social work education depending on the professor's attention to the depth of theoretical concepts. Practitioners in the field may find the contents useful to their professional enrichment.

Intercultural Twinning, 2022-08-15 In an ever-changing and interdependent world, diversity has become the norm, not the exception. Our constantly evolving understanding of intercultural communication and its rich complexities calls us to question, review, and renew our intervention practices. Intercultural Twinning: A Commitment for a Pluralistic Society examines the impact of intercultural twinings when people of different backgrounds, ethnicities, languages, and religions come into contact with each other in a variety of learning and work environments. These twinings are more than language exchanges because they promote intercultural contacts, constructive individual interactions, and ultimately more harmonious intergroup relations. Whether face-to-face or virtual, it is through these exchanges that participants learn from each other and appreciate the challenges and benefits of discovering the Other. The contributors to this volume explore theoretical models, methods, and intervention tools to support the work of teachers, researchers, practitioners, and university students. The Older Prisoner, Diete Humblet, 2021-01-23 This book critically explores the world of older prisoners to provide a more nuanced understanding of imprisonment at old age. Through an ethnographical study of male and female older prisoners in two Belgian prison settings, one in which older prisoners are integrated and one in which they are segregated, it informs debates and seeks to recognize ageist discourse, attitudes, and practices in prison. The Older Prisoner seeks to situate the older prisoner from both a penological and gerontological perspective, organized around the following broad themes: the construction of the older prisoner; the physical prison world; the social prison world; surviving prison and giving meaning. The book allows readers to navigate between contrasting perspectives and voices rather than reinforcing traditional narratives and prevailing discourses on the older prisoner. In doing so, it hopes to open up a broader dialogue on ageing and punishment. It also offers insights into the concept of meaning in life as an analytical tool to study prisoners. Group Work Stories
