My Canadian Memories (Classic Reprint) S. Macnaughtan, 2015-07-12 Excerpt from My Canadian Memories Miss Macnaughtan had visited Canada just before the Great War and was busily engaged upon writing her experiences in the new country which had impressed her so much when the cataclysm of the war burst upon Europe She at once volunteered for service though she was not young and was far from strong With the heroic little band of English nurses at Antwerp and in the battered corner of Belgium which continued to hold out against the Germans she laboured devotedly till June 1915 when she came home to lecture on the war to the munition workers In October of that year she left for Russia with an ambulance party her keen sympathy having been aroused by the news that the Russian wounded were getting no nurses The little unit got as far as Persia where Miss Macnaughtan was taken seriously ill She struggled back how no one ever really knew all the long way from Teheran to her own home in Norfolk Street where she lingered through some summer days till she passed away on July 24 1916 I had had the privilege of knowing Miss Macnaughtan intimately and when the unfinished book was found among her MSS I was asked to edit it having previously written a short history of Canada and being interested in everything Canadian About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
