New South African Review 3 The Second Phase Tragedy Or Farce:

New South African Review 3 Stephanie Allais, Prishani Naidoo, Devan Pillay, Roger Southall, 2013-03-01 An evaluation of the ANC's second phase of the national democratic revolution In the face of the continuing national tragedy of the inequality poverty and unemployment which have triggered rising working class discontent around the country the ANC announced a second phase of the national democratic revolution to deal with the challenges Ironically the ANC post Mangaung has resolved to preserve the core tenets of the minerals energy financial complex that defined racial capitalism while at the same time ratcheting up the revolutionary rhetoric to keep the working class and marginalised onside If the first phase was a tragedy of the unmet expectations of the majority is the second phase likely to be a farce The chapters in this volume are written by experts in their fields and address issues of politics power and social class economy ecology and labour public policy and social practice and South Africa beyond its borders They examine some of these challenges and indicate that they are as much about the defective content of policies as their poor implementation The third volume of the New South African Review continues the series by providing in depth analyses of the key issues facing the country today

New South African Review 5 Gilbert M Khadiagala, Devan Pillay, Roger Southall, Prishani Naidoo, 2015-11-01 A series of essays explaining the impact of the events at Marikana upon the South African perspective of police and the keeping of order This fifth volume in the New South African Review series takes as its starting point the shock wave emanating from the events at Marikana on 16 August 2012 and how it has reverberated throughout politics and society Some of the chapters in the volume refer directly to Marikana In others the influence of that fateful day is pervasive if not direct Marikana has for instance made us look differently at the police and at how order is imposed on society Monique Marks and David Bruce write that the massacre has come to hold a central place in the analysis of policing and broader political events since 2012 The chapters highlight a range of current concerns political economic and social David Dickinson's chapter looks at the life of the poor in a township from within In contrast the chapter on foreign policy by Garth le Pere analyses South Africa's approach to international relations in the Mandela Mbeki and Zuma eras Anthony Turton's account When gold mining ends is a chilling forecast of an impending environmental catastrophe Both Devan Pillay and Noor Nieftagodien focus attention on the left and in different ways ascribe its rise to a new politics in the wake of Marikana The essays in NSAR 5 Beyond Marikana present a range of topics and perspectives of interest to general readers but the book will also be a useful work of reference for students and researchers

New South African Review 4 Devan Pillay, Gilbert M Khadiagala, Prishani Naidoo, Roger Southall, 2014-04-01 A series of essays taking an account of the milestones of South African democracy in order to give a multidimensional perspective of South Africa The death of Nelson Mandela on 5 December 2013 was in a sense a wake up call for South Africans and a time to reflect on what has been achieved since those magnificent days in late April 1994 as the editors of this volume put it when South Africans of all colours voted for the first time in a democratic election In a time of recall and reflection it is important to take account not only of the dramatic events that grip the headlines but also of other signposts that indicate the shape and characteristics of a society The New South African Review looks every year at some of these signposts and the essays in this fourth volume of the series again examine and analyse a broad spectrum of issues affecting the country They tackle topics as diverse as the state of organised labour food retailing electricity generation access to information civil courage the school system and looking outside the country to its place in the world South Africa's relationships with north east Asia with Israel and with its neighbours in the southern African region Taken together these essays give a multidimensional perspective on South Africa's democracy as it turns twenty and will be of interest to general readers while being particularly useful to students and researchers

New South African Review 6 Devan Pillay, Gilbert M Khadiagala, Roger Southall, Sarah Mosoetsa, Samuel Kariuki, 2018-01-29 Wide ranging essays demonstrate how the consequences of inequality extend throughout society and the political economy Despite the transition from apartheid to democracy South Africa is the most unequal country in the world Its extremes of wealth and poverty undermine intensifying struggles for a better life for all The wide ranging essays in this sixth volume of the New South African Review demonstrate how the consequences of inequality extend throughout society and the political economy crippling the quest for social justice polarising the politics skewing economic outcomes and bringing devastating environmental consequences in their wake Contributors survey the extent and consequences of inequality across fields as diverse as education disability agrarian reform nuclear geography and small towns and tackle some of the most difficult social political and economic issues How has the quest for greater equality affected progressive political discourse How has inequality reproduced itself despite best intentions in social policy to the detriment of the poor and the historically disadvantaged How have shifts in mining and the financialisation of the economy reshaped the contours of inequality How does inequality reach into the daily social life of South Africans and shape the way in which they interact How does the extent and shape of inequality in South Africa compare with that of other major countries of the global South which themselves are notorious for their extremes of wealth and poverty South African extremes of inequality reflect increasing inequality globally and The Crisis of Inequality will speak to all those general readers policy makers researchers and students who are demanding a more equal world

Theorising the Practice of Community Development Peter Westoby, 2016-02-17 Based on 25 years of community development practice six of which have been lived in South Africa Peter Westoby's ground breaking monograph moves away from dominant normative accounts of community development to provide an appreciative and critical analysis of concrete examples of community development theory and practice By examining community development stories as experienced on the ground Westoby is able to show how the poor are organising themselves using various forms of community development as well as demonstrating how the state and non state actors are attempting to organise engage or accompany the poor through community development The book also breaks new ground in theorising the practice of community development drawing inductively from the stories analysed

The diversity of South African contexts and the proliferation of different kinds of community practice make this a hugely difficult task. Despite this, Westoby argues it is one worth undertaking given the seriousness of the challenges facing the poor and progressive social change agents within South Africa. In this undertaking, Westoby draws upon a unique analytical framework to help illuminate current community development policy and programme challenges along with practice dilemmas and wisdom.

The Sociolinguistics of South African Television Kealeboga Aiseng, 2024-04-03 This book explores the interwoven relationship between language, media and society in post-Apartheid South Africa. The author examines selected case studies from the sociolinguistic landscape of South African television, analysing dominant language ideologies and illuminating the challenges, opportunities and potential for transformation. He argues for the power of television in shaping language ideologies, fostering cultural understanding and advocating for more inclusive and equitable language usage in the media. This book contributes to the field of sociolinguistics by emphasizing the complexity of multilingualism in South Africa and inviting ongoing exploration and dialogue in this landscape. It will be of interest to students and scholars of Sociolinguistics, Media Studies, African Culture and History, and Language Policy and Planning.

The Palgrave Handbook of Environmental Labour Studies Nora Räthzel, Dimitris Stevis, David Uzzell, 2021-08-30 In this comprehensive Handbook, scholars from across the globe explore the relationships between workers and nature in the context of the environmental crises. They provide an invaluable overview of a fast-growing research field that bridges the social and natural sciences. Chapters provide detailed perspectives of environmental labour studies, environmental struggles of workers, indigenous peoples, farmers and commoners in the Global South and North. The relations within and between organisations that hinder or promote environmental strategies are analysed, including the relations between workers and environmental organisations, NGOs, feminist and community movements.

Understanding Inequality: Social Costs and Benefits Amanda Machin, Nico Stehr, 2016-04-14 The contributions in this book highlight, contextualize and analyze different aspects of social inequality. What are the various causes and effects of inequality? How have these changed over recent decades? Which social policies might be best able to intervene? Written by authors from a variety of disciplines and geographical regions, these contributions provide a rich account of inequality within contemporary society. The role of the state, the media and the market in exacerbating and alleviating patterns of inequality are all addressed alongside analysis of changing patterns of exclusion and hierarchy.

Unsettling Apologies Melanie Judge, Dee Smythe, 2022-09-29 There has recently been a global resurgence of demands for the acknowledgement of historical and contemporary wrongs as well as for apologies and reparation for harms suffered. Drawing on the histories of injustice, dispossession and violence in South Africa, this book examines the cultural, political and legal role and value of an apology. It explores the multiple ways in which 'sorry' is instituted, articulated and performed, and critically analyses its various forms and functions in both historical and contemporary moments. Bringing together an interdisciplinary team of contributors, the book's analysis offers insights that will be invaluable.

to global debates on the struggle for justice A New Theory and Practice of Diplomacy, 2021-03-25 Effective diplomacy remains fundamental to the conduct of international relations in the twenty first century as we seek to define and manage a challenging new world order peacefully New Perspectives on Diplomacy examines the implications of the shifting international landscape upon how states interact with one another Reflecting on the significant changes to the system of states over the past 50 years including the end of the Cold War the rise of transnational networks challenges to borders growth in national populism and the increasing difficulties presented to diplomats by radical transparency the first volume presents the global context against which contemporary diplomacy is conducted Theorizing Heritage through

Non-Violent Resistance Feras Hammami, Evren Uzer, 2022-04-25 This book is about the entanglement of heritage and resistance in different situations of conflicts and the opportunities this entanglement may provide for social justice This entanglement is investigated in the different contributions through theoretical and empirical analyses of heritage led resistance to neoliberal economic development violation of the subaltern authorised narratives and state invented traditions colonialism and settler colonialism and even dominating discourses of social movement to name just a few Crossing the disciplinary boundaries of heritage and resistance studies these analyses bring new insights into several timely debates especially those concerned with the interrelated critical questions of displacement gentrification exclusion marginalization uricide spatial cleansing dehumanization alienation ethnic cleansing and social injustice Following our purposeful and future driven approach we wish to bring new energy to the field of heritage studies through the focus on the potential of heritage and resistance for hopeful change rather than adding to the field yet another overwhelming engagement with conflict and war Mining and Community in South Africa Philippe Burger, Lochner Marais, Deirdre van

Rooyen, 2017-09-22 Mining has played a key role in the growth of many towns in South Africa This growth has been accompanied by a proliferation of informal settlements by pressure to provide basic services and by institutional pressures in local government to support mining Fragile municipal finance changing social attributes the pressures of shift work on mineworkers the impact on the physical environment and perceived new inequalities between mineworkers contract workers and original inhabitants have further complicated matters Mining growth has however also led to substantial local economic benefits to existing business and it has contributed to a mushrooming of new enterprises While the relationship between mining and economic development at the country level has received adequate attention in existing literature less is known about the consequences of mining at the local level This book investigates the local impacts of mining in South Africa focusing on employment inequality housing business development worker well being governance municipal finance planning and the environment Taking an interdisciplinary approach Mining and Community in South Africa will be of interest to scholars of South Africa economic development labour and industry politics and planning How to See the World Nicholas Mirzoeff, 2016-04-12 Every two minutes Americans alone take more photographs than were printed in the entire nineteenth century every minute people from around the world upload over 300 hours of video to YouTube and in 2014 we took over one trillion photographs From the funny memes that we send to our friends to the disturbing photographs we see in the news we are consuming and producing images in quantities and ways that could never have been anticipated In the process we are producing a new worldview powered by changing demographics one where the majority of people are young urban and globally connected In How to See the World visual culture expert Nicholas Mirzoeff offers a sweeping look at history's most famous images from Velezquez's Las Meninas to the iconic Blue Marble to contextualize and make sense of today's visual world Drawing on art history sociology semiotics and everyday experience he teaches us how to close read everything from astronaut selfies to Impressionist self portraits from Hitchcock films to videos taken by drones Mirzoeff takes us on a journey through visual revolutions in the arts and sciences from new mapping techniques in the seventeenth century to new painting styles in the eighteenth and the creation of film photography and x rays in the nineteenth century In today's networked world mobile technology and social media enable us to exercise visual activism the practice of producing and circulating images to drive political and social change Whether we are looking at pictures showing the effects of climate change on natural and urban landscapes or an fMRI scan demonstrating neurological addiction Mirzoeff helps us to find meaning in what we see A powerful and accessible introduction to this new visual culture How to See the World reveals how images shape our lives how we can harness their power for good and why they matter to us all The New Black Middle Class in South Africa Roger Southall, 2016 Provides the most comprehensive account since the early 1960s of South Africa's black middle class 2016 CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title The rise of the black middle class is one of the most visible aspects of post apartheid society in South Africa Yet while it has been a major actor in the country's democratic reshaping analysis of its role has been all but lacking Rather the image presented by the media has been of black diamonds consumers of the products of advanced industrial economies and of corrupt tenderpreneurs who use their political connections to obtain contracts This book seeks to complicate that picture with a much needed analysis that recounts its historical development in colonial society prior to 1994 before examining the size shape and structure of the new black middle class in contemporary South Africa and its relation to its counterparts in the Global South Roger Southall is Professor Emeritus in Sociology University of the Witwatersrand Southern Africa South Africa Namibia Botswana Lesotho Zimbabwe and Swaziland Jacana Politics at a Distance from the State Lucien van der Walt, Kirk Helliker, 2022-08-23 For decades most anti capitalist and anti imperialist movements identified radical transformation with capturing state power The collapse of these statist projects from the 1970s led to a global crisis of left and working class politics But crisis has also opened space for rediscovering alternative society centered anti capitalist modes of bottom up change operating at a distance from the state These have registered important successes in practice such as the Zapatistas in Mexico and Rojava in Syria They have been a key influence on movements from Occupy in United States to the landless in Latin America to anti austerity struggles in Europe and Asia to urban movements in Africa Their lineages include anarchism syndicalism autonomist Marxism philosophers like Alain Badiou and radical popular praxis This path breaking volume recovers this understanding of social transformation long side lined but now resurgent like a seed in the soil that keeps breaking through and growing It provides case studies with reference to South Africa and Zimbabwe and includes a dossier of key texts from a century of anarchists syndicalists insurgent unionists and anti apartheid activists in South Africa Originating in an African summit of radical academics struggle veterans and social movements the book includes a preface from John Holloway Destroying Democracy Jane Duncan,Linda Gordon,Gunnett Kaaf,Dale T McKinley,Alf Gunvald Nilsen,Devan Pillay,Mandla J Radebe,Alfredo Saad-Filho,Ingar Solty,2021-08-01 A history of the erosion of democracy across the globe Democracy is being destroyed This is a crisis that expresses itself in the rising authoritarianism visible in divisive and exclusionary politics populist political parties and movements increased distrust in fact based information and news and the withering accountability of state institutions Over the last four decades democracy has radically shifted to a market democracy in which all aspects of human non human and planetary life are commodified with corporations becoming more powerful than states and their citizens This is how neoliberal capitalism functions at a systemic level and if left unchecked is the greatest threat to democracy and a sustainable planet Volume six of the Democratic Marxism series focuses on how decades of neoliberal capitalism have eroded the global democratic project and how in the process authoritarian politics are gaining ground Scholars and activists from the political left focus on four country cases India Brazil South Africa and the United States of America in which the COVID 19 pandemic has fuelled and highlighted the pre existing crisis They interrogate issues of politics ecology state security media access to information and political parties and affirm the need to reclaim and re build an expansive and inclusive democracy Destroying Democracy is an invaluable resource for the general public activists scholars and students who are interested in understanding the threats to democracy and the rising tide of authoritarianism in the global south and the global north

Rising Powers, People Rising Alf Gunvald Nilsen,Karl von Holdt,2021-04-26 Rising Powers People Rising is a pathbreaking volume in which leading international scholars discuss the emerging political economy of development in the BRICS countries centred on neo liberalization precarity and popular struggles The rise of the BRICS countries Brazil Russia India China and South Africa has called into question the future of Western dominance in world markets and geopolitics However the developmental trajectories of the BRICS countries are shot through with socio economic fault lines that relegate large numbers of people to the margins of current growth processes where life is characterized by multiple and overlapping vulnerabilities These socio economic fault lines have in turn given rise to political convulsions across the BRICS countries ranging from single issue protests to sustained social movements oriented towards structural transformation The contributions in this book focus on the ways in and extent to which these trajectories generate distinct forms and patterns of mobilization and resistance and conversely how popular struggles impact on and shape these trajectories The book unearths

the economic social and political contradictions that tend to disappear from view in mainstream narratives of the BRICS countries as rising powers in the world system The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Globalizations Comparative Employment Relations in the Global Economy Carola Frege, John Kelly, 2013-07-24

Employment Relations is widely taught in business schools around the world Increasingly however more emphasis is being placed on the comparative and international dimensions of the relations between employers and workers It is becoming ever more important to comprehend today's work and employment issues alongside a knowledge of the dynamics between global financial and product markets global production chains national and international employment actors and institutions and the ways in which these relationships play out in different national contexts This textbook is the first to present a cross section of country studies including all four BRIC countries Brazil Russia India and China alongside integrative thematic chapters covering all the important topics needed to excel in this field The textbook also benefits from the editors and contributors experience as leading scholars in Employment Relations The book is an ideal resource for students on advanced undergraduate and postgraduate comparative programmes across areas such as Employment Relations Human Resource Management Political Economy Labour Politics Industrial and Economic Sociology Regulation and Social Policy A New Scramble for Africa? Sören Scholvin, 2016-03-03 Global energy consumption will increase rapidly in the next decades The discrepancy between demand and supply is worrisome within the old and new cores of the world economy Sub Saharan Africa meanwhile possesses vast potential for energy resources to be further exploited Whilst the Global North is a traditional player in the sub Saharan energy sector new actors from emerging economies especially China's state owned enterprises but also Brazilian Indian and South African giants have entered what appears to be a scramble for the largely untapped energy resources of the region This book is the first to bring together comparative perspectives on The strategies of state and non state actors involved in the exploitation of sub Saharan energy resources The potential and pitfalls of new forms of cooperation on energy southwards of the Sahara The domestic opportunities and challenges of the present energy resource boom Dynamics on the international level are brought together with local developments to provide up to date insights on the scramble for energy resources in sub Saharan Africa This book also advances a materialist approach applicable in geographical and political scientific research showing that much insight can be gained by concentrating on the material environment that shapes economic and political phenomena South African Schooling: The Enigma of Inequality Nic Spaull, Jonathan D. Jansen, 2019-11-05 This volume brings together many of South Africa's leading scholars of education and covers the full range of South African schooling from financing and policy reform to in depth discussions of literacy numeracy teacher development and curriculum change The book moves beyond a historical analysis and provides an inside view of the questions South African scholars are now grappling with Are there different and preferential equilibria we have not yet thought of or explored and if so what are they In practical terms how does one get to a more equitable distribution of teachers resources and learning outcomes While decidedly local these questions resonate throughout the developing world South Africa today is the most unequal country in the world The richest 10% of South Africans lay claim to 65% of national income and 90% of national wealth This is the largest 90 10 gap in the world and one that is reflected in the schooling system Two decades after apartheid it is still the case that the life chances of most South African children are determined not by their ability or the result of hard work and determination but instead by the colour of their skin the province of their birth and the wealth of their parents Looking back on almost three decades of democracy in South Africa it is this stubbornness of inequality and its patterns of persistence that demands explanation justification and analysis This is a landmark book on basic education in South Africa an essential volume for those interested in learning outcomes and their inequality in South Africa The various chapters present conceptually and empirically sophisticated analyses of learning outcomes across divisions of race class and place The book brings together the wealth of decades of research output from top quality researchers to explore what has improved what has not and why Prof Lant Pritchett Harvard University There is much wisdom in this collection from many of the best education analysts in South Africa No surprise that they conclude that without a large and sustained expansion in well trained teachers early childhood education and adequate school resources South Africa will continue to sacrifice its people s future to maintaining the privileges of the few Prof Martin Carnoy Stanford University Altogether one can derive from this very valuable volume if not an exact blueprint for the future then certainly at least a crucial and evidence based itinerary for the next few steps Dr Luis Crouch RTI
