

The background of the entire image is a still life composition. In the center is an open book with text on its pages. A single lit candle sits on a surface above the book, casting a warm glow. Numerous US dollar bills are scattered around the book and candle, some lying flat and others slightly crumpled. The overall color palette is dark with warm, golden-brown tones from the candle and money.

Incarceration and Race in Michigan Lynn O. Scott, Curtis Stokes, 2019-12-01 State and local policies are key to understanding how to reduce prison populations This anthology of critical and personal essays about the need to reform criminal justice policies that have led to mass incarceration provides a national perspective while remaining grounded in Michigan Major components in this volume include a focus on current research on the impact of incarceration on minority groups youth and the mentally ill and a focus on research on Michigan s leadership in the area of reentry Changes in policy will require a change in the public s problematic images of incarcerated people In this volume academic research is combined with first person narratives and paintings from people who have been directly affected by incarceration to allow readers to form more personal connections with those who face incarceration At a time when much of the push to reduce prison populations is focused on the financial cost to states and cities this book emphasizes the broader social and human costs of mass incarceration
