Survival Handbook for the New Chemistry Instructor Diane M. Bunce, Cinzia M. Muzzi, 2004 This book provides an overview of the issues facing new chemistry faculty in preparation for teaching Serving as a reference to answer specific questions new chemistry faculty encounter this book is comparable to sitting down with a colleague in the department and talking through some ideas or gaining some pointers on how to avoid common pitfalls It is the one single place new chemistry faculty can go to find practical information on how to teach and how to prepare for teaching their first course Chapters are written both by established experts in the field and by new professors within their first couple of years of teaching

Journal of Chemical Education, 1925 Includes Report of New England Association of Chemistry Teachers and Proceedings of the Pacific Southwest Association of Chemistry Teachers

Chemists' Guide to Effective Teaching Norbert J. Pienta, Melanie M. Cooper, Thomas J. Greenbowe, 2005 Part of the Prentice Hall Series in Educational Innovation for Chemistry this unique book is a collection of information examples and references on learning theory teaching methods and pedagogical issues related to teaching chemistry to college students In the last several years there has been considerable activity and research in chemical education and the materials in this book integrate the latest developments in chemistry Each chapter is written by a chemist who has some expertise in the specific technique discussed has done some research on the technique and has applied the technique in a chemistry course

Mom the Chemistry Professor Kimberly Woznick, Amber Charlebois, Renée Cole, Cecilia Marzabadi, Gail Webster, 2018-07-28 When is the right time How can I meet the demands of a professorship whilst caring for a young family Choosing to become a mother has a profound effect on the career path of women holding academic positions especially in the physical sciences Yet many women successfully manage to do both In this second edition which is a project of the Women Chemists Committee WCC of the American Chemical Society ACS 40 inspirational personal accounts describe the challenges and rewards of combining motherhood with an academic career in chemistry The authors are all women at different stages of their career and from a range of institution types in both tenure and non tenure track positions The authors include women from different racial and ethnic backgrounds who became mothers at different stages of their career and who have a variety of family structures Aimed at undergraduate and graduate students of chemistry as well as postdoctoral fellows and early career faculty these contributions serve as examples for women considering a career in academia but worry about how this can be balanced with other important aspects of life The authors describe how they overcame particular challenges but also highlight aspects of the system which could be improved to accommodate women academics and particularly encourage more women to take on academic positions in the sciences Organic Chemistry Education Research into Practice Jay Wackerly, Sarah Zingales, Michael Wentzel, Gautam Bhattacharyya, Brett McCollum, 2025-03-25 This Research Topic has three main goals 1 provide a platform for instructors of organic chemistry to showcase evidence based methods and educational theories they have utilized in their classrooms 2 build new and strengthen existing connections between educational researchers and practitioners and 3 highlight how people have used chemical education based research in their teaching practice There are places in the literature dedicated for chemical education research CER however there is not a clear avenue for those that have changed their teaching methods based on published CER and report their experiences Creating this article collection will foster collaboration between chemical education researchers and teachers of organic chemistry This opportunity allows these instructors to share evidence based practices experiences challenges and innovative approaches from CER literature and beyond This Research Topic bridges discipline based education research and the scholarship of teaching and learning which will help advance organic chemistry education and improve student outcomes Teach Students How to Learn Saundra Yancy McGuire, 2023-07-03 Co published with NISOD Miriam a freshman Calculus student at Louisiana State University made 37 5% on her first exam but 83% and 93% on the next two Matt a first year General Chemistry student at the University of Utah scored 65% and 55% on his first two exams and 95% on his third These are representative of thousands of students who decisively improved their grades by acting on the advice described in this book What is preventing your students from performing according to expectations Saundra McGuire offers a simple but profound answer If you teach students how to learn and give them simple straightforward strategies to use they can significantly increase their learning and performance For over a decade Saundra McGuire has been acclaimed for her presentations and workshops on metacognition and student learning because the tools and strategies she shares have enabled faculty to facilitate dramatic improvements in student learning and success This book encapsulates the model and ideas she has developed in the past fifteen years ideas that are being adopted by an increasing number of faculty with considerable effect The methods she proposes do not require restructuring courses or an inordinate amount of time to teach They can often be accomplished in a single session transforming students from memorizers and regurgitators to students who begin to think critically and take responsibility for their own learning Saundra McGuire takes the reader sequentially through the ideas and strategies that students need to understand and implement First she demonstrates how introducing students to metacognition and Bloom s Taxonomy reveals to them the importance of understanding how they learn and provides the lens through which they can view learning activities and measure their intellectual growth Next she presents a specific study system that can quickly empower students to maximize their learning Then she addresses the importance of dealing with emotion attitudes and motivation by suggesting ways to change students mindsets about ability and by providing a range of strategies to boost motivation and learning finally she offers guidance to faculty on partnering with campus learning centers She pays particular attention to academically unprepared students noting that the strategies she offers for this particular population are equally beneficial for all students While stressing that there are many ways to teach effectively and that readers can be flexible in picking and choosing among the strategies she presents Sandra McGuire offers the reader a step by step process for delivering the key messages of the book to students in as little as 50 minutes Free online supplements provide three slide sets and a sample video lecture This book is written primarily for faculty but will be equally useful for TAs tutors and learning center professionals For readers with no background in education or cognitive psychology the book avoids jargon and esoteric theory
