HomeBaking Jeffrey Alford, Naomi Duguid, 2016-10-21 Home baking may be a humble art but its roots are deeply planted On an island in Sweden a grandmother teaches her granddaughter how to make slagbrot a velvety rye bread just as she was taught to make it by her grandmother many years before In Portugal village women meet once each week to bake at a community oven while the large stone oven heats up children come running for sweet sugary flatbreads made specially for them In Toronto Naomi makes her grandmother's recipe for treacle tart and Jeffrey makes the truck stop cinnamon buns he and his father loved From savory pies to sweet buns from crusty loaves to birthday cake from old world apple pie to peanut cookies to custard tarts these recipes capture the age old rhythm of turning simple ingredients into something wonderful to eat HomeBaking rekindles the simple pleasure of working with your hands to feed your family And it ratchets down the competitive demands we place on ourselves as home cooks Because in striving for professional results we lose touch with the pleasures of the process with the homey and imperfect with the satisfaction of knowing that you can as a matter of course prepare something lovely and delicious and always have a full cookie jar or some homemade cake on hand to offer Jeffrey Alford and Naomi Duguid collected the recipes in HomeBaking at their source from farmhouse kitchens in northern France to bazaars in Fez They traveled tens of thousands of miles to six continents in search of everyday gems such as Taipei Coconut Buns Welsh Cakes Moroccan Biscotti and Tibetan Overnight Skillet Breads They tasted interpreted photographed and captured not just the recipes but the people who made them as well Then they took these spot on flavors of far away and put them side by side with cherished recipes from friends and family closer to home The result is a collection of treasures cherry strudel from Hungary stollen from Germany bread pudding from Vietnam anise crackers from Barcelona More than two hundred recipes that resonate with the joys and flavors of everyday baking at home and around the world Inexperienced home bakers can confidently pass through the kitchen doors armed with Naomi and Jeffrey's calming and easy to follow recipes. A relaxed easy handed approach to baking is they insist as much a part of home baking traditions as are the recipes themselves. In fact it's often the last minute recipes: semolina crackers, a free form fruit galette or a banana coconut loaf that offer the most unexpected delights. Although many of the sweets and savories included here are the products of age old oral traditions, the recipes themselves have been carefully developed and tested, designed for the home baker in a home kitchen. Like the authors previous books, HomeBaking offers a glorious combination of travel and great tastes with recipes rich in anecdote, insightful photographs and an inviting text that explores the diverse baking traditions of the people who share our world. This is a book to have in the kitchen and then again by your bed at night to revisit over and over. Baking SECRETS for Young Chefs:

McLean, 2006-08-30 This cookbook covers the years 1840 through 1945, a time during which American cookery underwent a full scale revolution. Gas and electric stoves replaced hearth cookery. Milk products came from commercial dairy farms rather than the family cow. Daily meals were no longer bound by seasons and regions as canned, bottled and eventually frozen products flooded the market and trains began to transport produce and meat from one end of the country to the other During two World Wars and the Great Depression women entered the work force in unprecedented numbers and household servants abandoned low paying domestic jobs to work in factories As a result of these monumental changes American home cooking became irrevocably simplified and cookery skills geared more toward juggling time to comb grocery store shelves for the best and most economical products than toward butchering and preserving an entire animal carcass or pickling fruits and vegetables This cookbook reflects these changes with each of the three chapters capturing the home cooking that typified the era The first chapter covers the pre industrial period 1840 to 1875 during this time home cooks knew how to broil roast grill fry and boil on an open hearth flame and its embers without getting severely injured They also handled whole sheep carcasses made gelatin from boiled pigs trotters grew their own yeast and prepared their own preserves The second chapter covers 1876 through 1910 a time when rapid urbanization transformed the United States from an agrarian society into an industrial giant giving rise to food corporations such as Armour Swift Campbell s Heinz and Pillsbury The mass production and mass marketing of commercial foods began to transform home cooking meat could be purchased from a local butcher or grocery store and commercial gelatin became widely available While many cooks still made their own pickles and preserves commercial varieties multiplied From 1910 to 1945 the period covered by Chapter 3 the home cook became a full fledged consumer and the national food supply became standardized to a large extent As the industrialization of the American food supply progressed commercially produced breads pastries sauces pickles and preserves began to take over kitchen cupboards and undermine the home cooks ability to produce their own meals from scratch The recipes have been culled from some of the most popular commercial and community cookbooks of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Taken together the more than 300 recipes reflect the major cookbook trends of the era Suggested menus are provided for replicating entire meals
