Critical Pathways to Success in CNS Drug Development Neal R. Cutler, John J. Sramek, Michael F. Murphy, Henry Riordan, Peter Biek, Angelico Carta, 2010-01-22 Covering the latest advances in CNS drug development this book will guide all those involved in pre clinical to early clinical trials The authors describe how recent innovations can accelerate the development of novel CNS compounds improve early detection of efficacy and toxicity signals and increase the safety of later stage clinical trials The current crisis in the drug development industry is critically reviewed as well as the steps needed to correct the problems including new government backed regulations and industry based innovations designed to accelerate CNS drug development in the future Animal based models of major CNS disorders are described in detail and the ability of the latest in vitro and computer based models to simulate CNS disease states and predict drug efficacy and side effects are examined Particular attention is given to the growing use of biomarkers and how they can be used effectively in early human trials as signals of potential drug efficacy as well as the increasingly important role of imaging studies to guide dose selection Cognitive assessments that can be useful indicators of effect in patient populations are also discussed. Written by a team of clinical scientists involved in CNS drug trials for over 20 years and based on a wealth of drug development and clinical trial experience, Critical Pathways to Success in CNS Drug Development is full of practical advice for successfully designing and executing CNS drug trials, avoiding potential pitfalls, and complying with government regulations. Providing More Students a Pathway to Success by Strengthening Career and Technical Education

United States. Congress. House. Committee on Education and the Workforce. Subcommittee on Early Childhood, Elementary, and Secondary Education, 2017. Writing Hope Strategies for Writing Success in Secondary Schools

Nicole Sieben, 2018-01-11. This book provides ways of thinking about the teaching of writing in secondary schools with applications to college writing and shares research-based strategies for immediate use in the classroom. The strengths-based classroom-tested student-centered writing hope strategies shared within the Writing Hope Framework WHF are designed to allow students to work within their own unique writing processes and insert their individual writers' voices and styles authentically. The Writing Hope Framework allows students to choose which strategies and stages of the writing process they wish to engage in for purposeful writing goal attainment; it recognizes unique writing approaches and accounts for these differences in curricular design and implementation. Teachers can assess the writing abilities and self-beliefs of the students in their classes using a variety of strategies provided and then guide students in their pathways selection processes for writing. Given the nature of this research and its application, it is the intention of this book to bring readers through a process of hope that can facilitate life hope and writing hope in the classroom for and with students. Hope is not exclusively for the already hopeful students; it is also and perhaps more critically for those students who do not presently see hope in their lives but who can. Every student is capable of hope if it is facilitated effectively and purposefully. Increasing

Student Success in Developmental Mathematics. National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Mathematical Sciences and Analytics, Board on Science Education, 2019-12-18. The Board on Science Education and the Board on Mathematical Sciences and Analytics of the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine convened the Workshop on Increasing Student Success in Developmental Mathematics on March 18-19, 2019. The Workshop explored how to best support all students in postsecondary mathematics with particular attention to students who are unsuccessful in developmental mathematics and with an eye toward issues of access to promising reforms and equitable learning environments. The two-day workshop was designed to bring together a variety of stakeholders including experts who have developed and/or implemented new initiatives to improve the mathematics education experience for students. The overarching goal of the workshop was to take stock of the mathematics education community's progress in this domain. Participants examined the data on students who are well-served by new reform structures in developmental mathematics and discussed various cohorts of students who are not currently well-served: those who even with access to reforms do not succeed and those who do not have access to a reform due to differential access constraints Throughout the workshop participants also explored promising approaches to bolstering student outcomes in mathematics focusing especially on research and data that demonstrate the success of these approaches deliberated and discussed barriers and opportunities for effectively serving all students and outlined some key directions of inquiry intended to address the prevailing research and data needs in the field This publication summarizes the presentations and discussion of the workshop
