Narrative And Stories In Healthcare Illness Dying And Bereavement:

Narrative and Stories in Health Care Yasmin Gunaratnam, David Oliviere, 2009-04-09 The use of narrative methods has a long history in palliative care pioneered by Dame Cicely Saunders founder of the modern hospice movement Narrative and Stories in Health Care provides a vibrant multidisciplinary examination of work with narrative and stories in contemporary health and social care with a focus on the care of people who are ill and dying It animates the academic literature with provocative real world examples from international contributors including palliative care service users and those working in the social and human sciences medicine theology and the creative arts Narrative and Stories in Health Care addresses and clarifies core issues What is a narrative What is a story What are some of the main methods and models that can be used and for what purposes What practical and ethical dilemmas can the methods entail in work with illness death and dying As well as highlighting the power of stories to create new possibilities the book also acknowledges the conceptual methodological and ethnical problems and challenges inherent in narrative work As the hospice and palliative care movement evolves to meet the challenges of 21st century health care this fascinating book highlights how narratives and stories can be attended to in ways that are productive ethical and caring Stories of Dignity within Healthcare: Research, narratives and theories Dr. Oscar Tranvåg, Dr. Oddgeir Synnes, Professor Wilfred McSherry, 2016-08-24 Dignity is fundamental to every single person's life and history and every interaction with another human being can potentially influence a person's sense of identity and self esteem In recent years there has been a growing awareness of the importance of dignity in care When healthcare organisations and individuals prioritise dignity service users carers and staff are treated with respect compassion and understanding and safe good quality healthcare services are delivered In contrast when dignity and respect are neglected or violated people experience poor quality care and may even suffer neglect and abuse For all these reasons it is clearly vital that all healthcare workers have a thorough understanding of dignity and how to place it at the centre of all their activities In this helpful and thought provoking book the contributors offer an overview of current research on dignity preserving care highlighting practical and ethical considerations in various healthcare settings Section I introduces some key dignity theories demonstrating how the use of narrative can offer insight and practical solutions for the delivery of high quality care Section II introduces actual stories from diverse settings and perspectives enabling the reader to engage with core elements of dignity while highlighting how dignity can be preserved even in very challenging practice situations Critical thinking activities are also provided to encourage deep reflection and learning This book will support students of nursing and allied healthcare professions as well as healthcare professionals working in diverse practice settings to reflect upon and enhance the quality of their care Contents include Foreword old and new philosophical angles on dignity in care Preface the necessity of dignity in healthcare Understanding dignity a complex concept at the heart of healthcare Dignity and narrative moral intuitions and contested claims Dignity in dementia care Dignity protected by caring in care Storytelling as a dignity preserving practice in palliative care Reintegrating spirituality and dignity in nursing and healthcare a relational model of practice The service provider and care perspective Let us not forget the dignity of the professional caregiver the necessity of dignity preservation within the therapeutic context Dignity in suffering a theological perspective Learning dignity by involvement Dignity in cancer care a discussion based on three narratives written by nurses A story of facilitators experiences of the Excellence in Practice Accreditation Scheme and its influence on quality dignity and respect Afterword what gets in the way of dignity and why you must not let it The Poetics of Palliation Brittany Pladek,2019-05-24 The Poetics of Palliation argues that Romanticism developed richer literary therapies than its contemporary reception remembers By reading Romantic writers against Georgian medical ethics Poetics recovers their models of literature as comfort and sustenance challenging a health humanities tradition that sees literary therapy primarily as cure The Patient's Wish to Die Christoph Rehmann-Sutter,Heike Gudat,Kathrin Ohnsorge,2015-06-04 Wish to die statements are becoming a frequent phenomenon in terminally ill patients Those confronted by these statements need to understand the complexity of such wishes so they can respond competently and compassionately to the requests If misunderstood the statements can be taken at face value and the practitioner may not recognise that a patient is in fact experiencing ambivalent feelings at the end of life or they may misinterpret the expressed wish to die as a sign of clinical depression Public debate about the morality and ethics of various end of life care options has exploded in recent years However it has never been sensitive to the finer aspects of clinical reality or the experiences of patients The Patient's Wish to Die Research Ethics and Palliative Care brings together that reality and the patient's voice combining them with different research approaches It presents the best available knowledge and research methodologies about patients wishes at the end of life together with a series of ethical views and a discussion about the clinical implications for palliative care The book presents material in an open and unbiased manner whilst remaining sensitive to the spiritual and existential dimensions of dying and to the different cultural views that provide meaning to the individual Written by the best specialists and ethics scholars from around the world including palliative care practitioners and end of life scholars from countries where assisted dying practices are legalized and from those where it isn't The Patient's Wish to Die Research Ethics and Palliative Care will prove essential reading for all those working or studying in the field of palliative care Narrative Medicine Julia Bruckner,Anjali Dhurandhar,Eve Makoff,2025-09-29 Healthcare workers bear witness to immense suffering every day As receivers of stories of illness they witness fellow human beings in their most vulnerable weakened and anguished states Narrative medicine offers an innovative way to deepen compassion for others enhance self reflection and in the process reduce healthcare worker burnout and improve patient care This book bridges a critical gap between those who have access to narrative medicine programs and those who do not democratizing narrative medicine practice It explains basic narrative medicine principles and offers guided narrative medicine exercises on themes relevant to anyone working in healthcare or in the education of healthcare professionals

Thematic chapters can be used for individual reflection or in small group sessions Practical and accessible the book will expand access to narrative medicine making its principles straightforward and understandable and its implementation manageable Special consideration of issues of diversity and inclusivity are also woven throughout highlighting the contexts and voices of those who are often left behind and who suffer the most

Fear in the Medical and Literary Imagination, Medieval to Modern Daniel McCann, Claire McKechnie-Mason, 2018-05-19 This book is about an emotion constantly present in human culture and history fear It is also a book about literature and medicine two areas of human endeavour that engage with fear most acutely The essays in this volume explore fear in various literary and medical manifestations in the Western World from medieval to modern times It is divided into two parts The first part Treating Fear examines fear in medical history and draws from theology medicine philosophy and psychology to offer an account of how fear shifts in Western understanding from the Middle Ages to Modern times The second part Writing Fear explores fear as a rhetorical and literary force offering an account of how it is used and evoked in distinct literary periods and texts This coherent and fascinating collection will appeal to medical historians literary critics cultural theorists medical humanities scholars and historians of the emotions

Caregiver Stress and Staff Support in Illness, Dying and Bereavement Irene Renzenbrink, 2011-03-25. The need for renewal and support for those who care for seriously ill, dying and bereaved people has been acknowledged from the very beginning of the hospice and palliative care movement. While often referring to the rewards and satisfactions of the work, Dame Cicely Saunders was the first to acknowledge that helping encounters with dying patients and distressed relatives could be a source of anguish and grief for dedicated and compassionate carers. Caregiver Stress and Staff Support in Illness, Dying and Bereavement discusses the challenge of finding a balance between the support needs of patients, families and staff and the resources available. With contributions from practitioners and researchers from around the world, this book recognizes that palliative care today is being provided in many different settings and that there may be wide variations in the way individuals and organizations identify and manage the stressors that arise through the work. This unique collection of international perspectives on the complexities and management of caregiver stress and staff support builds on the firm foundation Mary Vachon built over thirty years ago in her studies yet broadens the scope to include significant social, political and cultural variations on the theme.

Palliative Care Nursing as Mindfulness Lacie White, 2022-05-25. As nurses we hear about mindfulness all the time but what does that actually mean in practice? In this book, readers are invited into conversation to explore how mindfulness influences palliative care nurses' approaches to caring for themselves and others through experiences of living, dying. Under the guise of stress reduction and self-care, the assumption often made is that mindfulness can smooth out difficult experiences. Instead, the objective of this inquiry is not to bypass the practice of caring in those spaces that are really hard but to understand how nurses are working directly within them. Calling out from the shadows and our bodies, the intensity of palliative care nursing practice arises. In this text, a dialogue unfolds of nurses caring in deeply meaningful practice environments while searching for ground that is perpetually shifting uncertain and fraught with suffering and strong emotion Integrating literature across nursing sociology and contemplative scholarship evocative stories from palliative care nurses lead in this conversation their words in italics showing how they are guided into action through connection with in their bodies At other times stories show how nurses are taking pause and drawing on various somatic practices to unravel entanglements that touch on their own humanity These stories also offer insight into how systemic forces across educational and organizational institutions are either enhancing or constraining the way nurses engage mindfulness as a relationally embodied ethic of care This insightful volume is not a how to guide rather it is a timely resource exploring approaches for palliative care nurses to care for themselves and others with mindfulness and compassion Those seeking nuanced perspectives particularly in relation to embodying mindfulness through suffering and strong emotion will be drawn to this text Qualitative researchers studying emotionally sensitive topics may also find inspiration in the narrative arts based and embodied methods that shape this inquiry
