

THE BOATING disaster

It was a sunny, clear day when two brothers named Jim and Ben went out on the boat to catch some fish. They jumped on to the boat with fishing rods in their hands. Both the brothers had been out on the boat five times before. The water was sparkling and the sun was shining. They had no clue a huge disaster was about to occur.

The brothers were sitting in the boat out on the water when large, dark, grey clouds started to form in the sky. Suddenly, enormous drops of rain started to fall. Lightning lit up the sky. Loud roars of thunder boomed around them. The water started to rock the boat. The brothers kept falling off their feet.

The brothers were so scared that they were going to fall into the water! They grabbed on tight to the boat and shut their eyes. Both the boys were trembling and frightened. Every bang and crash filled them with fear. They felt like whole boat was going to capsize!

The boat kept rocking. The water kept coming. The lightning kept flashing. The thunder kept booming. The boys did everything they could to keep their boat from sinking. They ran to the radio to call for help but there was nothing but static. They tightened their life jackets and gripped the wheel at the helm of the boat, trying desperately to steer the boat safely through the waves!

Then all of a sudden... Nothing. The huge, dark, grey clouds left the sky. The enormous drops of rain stopped falling. The lightning stopped flashing and the thunder stopped booming. The boys opened their eyes and saw that the storm was over. They were safe!

Teaching Science and Technology in the Early Years (3-7) Dan Davies, Alan Howe, Christopher Collier, Rebecca Digby, Sarah Earle, Kendra McMahon, 2019-04-30 Teaching Science and Technology in the Early Years 3-7 celebrates young children's amazing capabilities as scientists, designers, and technologists. Research-based yet practical and accessible, it demonstrates how scientific designing and making activities are natural to young children and have the potential for contributing to all aspects of their learning. By identifying the scientific and technological concepts, skills, and activities being developed, the book enables the reader to make more focused diagnostic observations of young children and plan for how they can help move them forward in their learning. This third edition has been thoroughly updated and features fresh insights into young children's learning from neuroscience and new materialist perspectives, a UK-wide perspective on Early Years curricula, and how they support the inclusion of science and technology as an entitlement for young children. New case studies of successful evidence-based Early Years practice alongside new examples of practical planning for learning and advice on documenting children's learning stories, an updated chapter on assessing and documenting children's learning drawing upon findings from the Teacher Assessment in Primary Science (TAPS) project at Bath Spa University. Based on the latest research and first-hand experience, this practical and accessible book is essential reading for Early Years and Primary students on undergraduate PGCE and Masters level courses.

Revealing the Inner Worlds of Young Children Robert N. Emde, Dennis P. Wolf, David Oppenheim, 2003-09-25 This book reports the work of a 20-year collaboration between a multidisciplinary group of clinicians and developmental scientists who have created and investigated a new tool to elicit and analyze children's narratives. This tool is the MacArthur Story Stem Battery, a systematic collection of story beginnings that are referred to as stems. These stems are designed to elicit information from children about their representational worlds. This method is particularly exciting because using it allows developmental psychologists and others to gain information directly from children about their emotional states and what they are able to understand, and in turn to use this information to explore significant emotional differences among children. This work will appeal to researchers and practitioners in developmental and clinical psychology.

Thrice Told Tales Diane Holmberg,Terri L. Orbuch,Joseph Veroff,2003-10-03 Researchers have studied marriage for decades but how is the transition to married life actually experienced by the couples involved From an insider s perspective Thrice Told Tales examines married couples own stories of their relationship A representative sample of 199 African American and 177 White married couples were asked to tell the story of their relationship. It provides accounts of courtships, weddings, honeymoons, their adjustment in the early years, and hopes for the future. These stories were first collected a few months after their weddings and again in the third and seventh years of their marriages. What features of their relationship do the couples highlight as central in the early years? How do their stories change over time? What can we learn about couples' marital well-being by analyzing their stories? How do the stories of men and women and of White and African American couples differ? These questions were systematically addressed using extensive coding schemes and comprehensive quantitative analyses. Details of the coding system and procedures are included, making this volume a useful reference for any researcher contemplating analysis of narrative data. However, the key points are also explained in simple prose and illustrated with quotes from the couples' own stories, making the book accessible to anyone with an interest in how young couples experience married life today.
