Narratives of Shipwrecks of the Royal Navy; Between 1793 And 1849 William O. S. Gilly, 2015-06-02 At the request of my son the Author of this volume I have undertaken to write the Preface and to say a few words on the very peculiar and noble traits of character which distinguish the British seaman on all trying occasions and especially in the terrible hour of shipwreck Many circumstances have combined to make me take a warm interest in all that concerns the navy In early life having passed several months in a line of battle ship during the war with France I was an eye witness of scenes and events which called forth some of those qualities that are illustrated in the following pages For the restoration of my health in the year 1811 I was advised to try the effects of sea air and a change of climate and was glad to accept the opportunity offered me by the captain of an eighty gun ship to take a cruise with him off the southern parts of the French coast Narratives of Shipwrecks of the Royal Navy Between 1793 and 1849 William O. Gilly, 2011 Narratives of Shipwrecks of the Royal Navy; between 1793 and 1849 William O. S. Gilly, 2022-09-04 In Narratives of Shipwrecks of the Royal Navy between 1793 and 1849 William O S Gilly meticulously chronicles a series of harrowing maritime disasters that befell the Royal Navy during a pivotal era in British naval history Gilly adopts a narrative style that intricately blends historical documentation with vivid storytelling capturing not only the factual sequences of events but also the emotional turbulence faced by the sailors Each account is rich with detail presenting readers with a comprehensive exploration of the naval challenges technological limitations and human courage that characterized this tumultuous period The work serves as both a historical account and a contribution to the maritime literature of the early 19th century highlighting the intersection of naval operations and the unpredictable nature of the sea William O S Gilly was deeply entrenched in naval history and culture which informed his writings His experiences and observations as a sailor paired with a profound respect for the Royal Navy s legacy fueled his desire to document these narratives Gilly s academic rigor and passion for maritime stories render this work not just an exploration of shipwrecks but also a reflection on the human condition amid adversity For those intrigued by historical narratives maritime history or tales of survival Gilly s Narratives of Shipwrecks of the Royal Navy is an essential read It offers unique insights into the resilience of sailors and the broader implications of naval warfare during a formative time in British history making it a valuable addition to both personal libraries and academic collections Narratives of

Gilly,2018-08-14 Narratives of Shipwrecks of the Royal Navy between 1793 and 1849 by William O S Gilly THE BOYNE Roll on thou deep and dark blue ocean roll Ten thousand fleets sweep over thee in vain Man marks the earth with ruin his control Stops with the shore upon the watery plain The wrecks are all thy deed nor doth remain A shadow of man s ravage save his own When for a moment like a drop of rain He sinks into thy depths with bubbling groan Without a grave unknell d uncoffin d and unknown BYRON S Childe Harold In the Preface to this work it has been stated that it is not our intention to give a detailed account of every wreck that has happened in the Royal Navy from the year 1793 to the present time but only of a few of those which appear to be most interesting We therefore pass over the first two years giving only a catalogue of the wrecks that occurred during that time because the calamities that befel the British Navy in 1793 and 1794 were but slight in comparison with those of a later date The first loss that we have to record is that of the BOYNE of 98 guns bearing the flag of Vice Admiral Peyton and commanded by Captain George Grey This ship took fire as she lay at anchor at Spithead on the 1st of May 1795 The origin of the fire has never been correctly ascertained but it is supposed that some of the lighted paper from the cartridges of the marines as they were exercising and firing on the windward side of the poop flew through the quarter gallery into the admiral's cabin and set fire to the papers or other inflammable materials that were lying there. Before this as it may be, the flames burst through the poop before the fire was discovered and notwithstanding the united efforts of both officers and men they soon wrapped the vessel in a blaze fore and aft. Upon the discovery of the fire all the boats from the different ships put out to the Boyne's assistance and the crew with the exception of eleven were saved. The Boyne's guns being loaded went off as they became heated and much injury would have been done to the shipping and those on board had not the Port Admiral Sir William Parker made signals for the vessels most in danger to get under weigh. As it was two men were killed and one wounded on board the Queen Charlotte. About half past one in the afternoon the burning ship parted from her cables and blew up with a dreadful explosion. At the time of the accident Admiral Peyton and Captain Grey were attending a court martial in Portsmouth Harbour.
