Canadian Literature and Medicine Shane Neilson, 2023-09-08 Canadian Literature and Medicine breaks new ground by formulating a series of frameworks with which to read and interpret a national literature derived from the very fabric of that literature in this case Canadian Canadian literature is of particular interest because of its consideration of coloniality Indigeneity and coincident development alongside a nascent socialized medical system currently under threat from neoliberalism The first chapters of the book carefully track the development of Canada's socialized medical system as it manifests in the imaginations of the nation's poets and authors who depict care Reciprocal flows are investigated in which these poets and authors are quoted in policy documents The archive based methodology is sustained in subsequent chapters that rely upon a unique interdisciplinary mix of medical history philosophy of medicine medical policy theory inherent to the field of Canadian literature focusing in particular on the garrison mentality as a form of aesthetic protest and the feminist ethics of care and Indigenous ways of knowing      Narrative Structure and Narrative Knowing in Medicine and Science Martina King, Tom Kindt, 2023-11-20 It has become a truism that we all think in the narrative mode both in everyday life and in science But what does this mean precisely Scholars tend to use the term narrative in a broad sense implying not only event sequencing but also the representation of emotions basic perceptual processes or complex analyses of data sets The volume addresses this blind spot by using clear selection criteria only non fictional texts by experts are analysed through the lens of both classical and postclassical narratology from Aristotle to quantum physics and from nineteenth century psychiatry to early childhood psychology they fall under various genres such as philosophical treatises case histories textbooks medical reports video clips and public lectures The articles of this volume examine the central but continuously shifting role that event sequencing plays within scholarly and scientific communication at various points in history and the diverse functions it serves such as eye witnessing making an argument inferencing or reasoning Thus they provide a new methodological framework for both literary scholars and historians of science and medicine      Narrative Therapies with Children and their Families Arlene Vetere, Emilia Dowling, 2012-10-12 Narrative Therapies with Children and their Families introduces and develops the concepts and principles of narrative approaches to therapeutic work and demonstrates how narrative based approaches to practice provide a powerful and client friendly framework for engaging and working with troubled children and their families Using clinical examples each chapter develops a methodology around narrative practice and gives practical advice on working with narrative therapy in a variety of settings Covering a broad range of difficult and sensitive topics including trauma abuse and youth offending this book succeeds in illustrating the wide application of these principles in the context of the particular issues and challenges presented when working with children and families This practical practice based book will be welcomed by any professionals in the field of child adolescent and family mental health who want to explore the benefits of employing narrative based approaches in their work      Reflective Practice in Medicine and Multi-Professional Healthcare John Launer, 2022-03-17 This unique book presents in a single collection around 50 essays by Dr Launer on reflective practice in medicine including examples specific to medical education and multiprofessional healthcare Based on existing contributions to the literature by Dr Launer the book brings them together in updated form for the first time as a themed collection with an introduction linking the different topics addressed Coverage includes communication skills supervision teamwork and organisational health In a time of unprecedented demand on healthcare services educators and practitioners Dr Launer offers invaluable guidance to a broad audience including community based GPs practice nurses and nurse practitioners pharmacists physician assistants and paramedics secondary care staff including consultants and registrars across all specialties communications skills educators counsellors and mental health professionals and health service managers and administrators      Non-violent Communication and Narrative Medicine for Promoting Sustainable Health Maria Giulia Marini, 2024-05-29 The Covid 19 pandemic and current international circumstances have left many individuals feeling vulnerable both economically and psychologically At the same time pressure is put on healthcare systems particularly in Europe resulting in doctor shortages heavy workloads and low salaries for healthcare workers Patients are experiencing longer waiting lists shorter visiting times and emergency rooms that underestimate patients clinical problems As a result episodes of self violence and violence resulting from different causes are happening more frequently also in hospitals However there is hope and it starts with sharing our needs thoughts and feelings This is where narrative medicine comes into play as it helps bring stories to light listen ask open questions analyze the spoken words metaphors and timing of communication and promote a non violent narrative The key is to transition from violent to non violent narratives and the consideration of relationship as a fundamental part of the therapeutic process deserving an in depth educational program This is even more true if one considers that the ecosystem of health together with the inclusion of diversity and the promotion of peace is one of the main pillars of the UN Sustainable Development Goals This book aims to inspire care for one another through the narratives of people with disabilities patients nurses doctors students carers and individuals who meet otherness and resolve conflicts
