The symposium highlighted how Malays and Malay culture are imagined and promoted through literature and also explored Malayness from linguistic and cultural perspectives. Issues of concern addressed here include the construction of the Malays in Singaporean and Malaysian literature in English within orientalist or colonialist discourses of the East, the influence of English on the ways that Malays and Malay culture are represented, how Malay identity is defined and the positioning of the Malays in literary imaginations and social realities.

Friends' Review Samuel Rhoads, Enoch Lewis, 1876 Reading for Life Lyn Stone, 2018-12-07

Why is it that more people can't read and write? Why are there still so many vastly different methods of teaching literacy? Why do people still argue about it? Reading for Life examines these three questions, addressing the less evidence-supported ideas about teaching reading and writing which are still alive and well in schools all over the world. This accessible guide bridges the gap between research and practice, translating academic findings into practical suggestions and ready-to-use techniques. Written in an approachable style and with informative graphics, vignettes, and interviews woven throughout, this book covers the components of literacy including phonics, vocabulary, and fluency; the history of approaches to literacy teaching; and an overview of the key figures, government-level inquiries into the provision of reading and writing teaching, the mindset which leads to acceptance of poor practice, the essential components of an effective literacy program, with practical advice on selecting resources to get the job done well. Reading for Life helps educational practitioners make informed decisions about which teaching methods to reject and select, and empowers parents to ask the right questions of professionals and policy makers. This book is a timely exploration of poor teaching methods and is an innovative, fresh assessment of how high-quality literacy teaching can be provided for all.
