Disney Princesses and Tween Identity The Franchise in Illiberal Hungary examines how tweens in illiberal Hungary construct verbal and visual identities through engagement with Disney princess animations Presenting and analyzing ethnographic research in the form of interviews with Hungarian tweens around the time of the populist government s winning the general elections in 2018 Anna Zsubori reveals the importance of social and cultural context in establishing the Disney princess phenomenon as a heterogeneous cultural force The ambivalent and sometimes even contradictory ideas of identity expressed by the tweens highlight the role that diverse audiences local negotiations and dynamic discourses play in the reception of the Disney princess animations Combining thematic and semiotic textual analyses of the conversations tweens drawings and building blocks and broader contextual examinations of the sessions with Hungarian children this book offers original contributions on both theoretical and methodological levels International Handbook of Children, Media and Culture Kirsten Drotner, Sonia Livingstone, 2008-02-19

This essential volume brings together the work of internationally renowned researchers each experts in their field in order to capture the diversity of children and young people s media cultures around the world Why are the media such a crucial part of children s daily lives Are they becoming more important more influential and in what ways Or does a historical perspective reveal how past media have long framed children's cultural horizons or perhaps how families however constituted have long shaped the ways children relate to media. In addressing such questions the contributors present detailed empirical cases to uncover how children weave together diverse forms and technologies to create a rich symbolic tapestry which in turn shapes their social relationships. At the same time many concerns even public panics arise regarding children's engagement with media leading the contributors also to inquire into the risky or problematic aspects of today's highly mediated world. Deliberately selected to represent as many parts of the globe as possible and with a commitment to recognizing both the similarities and differences in children and young people's lives from China to Denmark from Canada to India from Japan to Iceland from the authors offer a rich contextualization of children's engagement with their particular media and communication environment while also pursuing cross cutting themes in terms of comparative and global trends. Each chapter provides a clear orientation for new readers to the main debates and core issues addressed combined with a depth of analysis and argumentation to stimulate the thinking of advanced students and established scholars. Since children and young people are a focus of study across different disciplines the volume is thoroughly multi disciplinary. Yet since children and young people are all too easily neglected by these same disciplines this volume hopes to accord their interests and concerns they surely merit. The

Conscious Cultural Worker Khalilah Ali, 2024-04-01. The Conscious Cultural Worker: Counter Narratives of Black Women Artists as Radical Educators uses narrative inquiry and Black feminist and womanist pedagogy to look at the teaching identities and lived experiences of Black women activist educators in the current neoliberal anti woke moment. Their counter narratives are presented as vignettes to look at a certain time in the lives of Black women artists who use rap spoken word or visual art to turn public places like bars clubs galleries lounges and alleys into unofficial educational spaces that the author calls Communities of Reciprocity CoR. This book adds to what is known about situated learning teacher identity and the co creation of communities of practice by focusing on the point of view of Black women as conscious culture workers. It does this by bringing attention to the fact that culture work is a kind of conversation between creatives as expert practitioners and audiences as spect actors who co create liberatory educative texts. In this book Black women work the culture by challenging hegemonic discourse and hidden curricula wherever people who want to learn come together. ECGBL 2020 14th
