One With Nineveh Paul R. Ehrlich, Anne H. Ehrlich, 2013-04-10 Named a Notable Book for 2005 by the American Library Association One with Nineveh is a fresh synthesis of the major issues of our time now brought up to date with an afterword for the paperback edition Through lucid explanations telling anecdotes and incisive analysis the book spotlights the three elephants in our global living room rising consumption still growing world population and unchecked political and economic inequity that together are increasingly shaping today's politics and humankind's future One with Nineveh brilliantly puts today's political and environmental debates in a larger context and offers some bold proposals for improving our future prospect

Art, Culture and International Development John Clammer, 2014-11-13 Culture is not simply an explanation of last resort but is itself a rich multifaceted and contested concept and set of practices that needs to be expanded appreciated and applied in fresh ways if it is to be both valued in itself and to be of use in practical development This innovative book places culture specifically in the form of the arts back at the centre of debates in development studies by introducing new ways of conceptualizing art in relation to development The book shows how the arts and development are related in very practical ways as means to achieve development goals through visual dramatic filmic and craft inspired ways It advocates not so much culture and development but rather for the development of culture Without a cultural content to economic and social transformation the problems found in much development uprooting of cultures loss of art forms languages and modes of expression and performance may only accelerate Paying attention to the development of the arts as the content of development helps to amend this culturally destructive process Finally the book argues for the value of the arts in attaining sustainable cultures promoting poverty alleviation encouraging self empowerment stimulating creativity and the social imagination which in turn flow back into wider processes of social transformation Discussion questions at the end of each chapter make this book ideal to help foster further thinking and debate This book is an inspiring read for postgraduate students and researchers in the fields of development studies cultural studies and sociology of development

Ehrlich, 2010-01-08 Conservation Biology for All provides cutting edge but basic conservation science to a global readership A series of authoritative chapters have been written by the top names in conservation biology with the principal aim of disseminating cutting edge conservation knowledge as widely as possible Important topics such as balancing conservation and human needs climate change conservation planning designing and analyzing conservation research ecosystem services endangered species management extinctions fire habitat loss and invasive species are covered Numerous textboxes describing additional relevant material or case studies are also included The global biodiversity crisis is now unstoppable what can be saved in the developing world will require an educated constituency in both the developing and developed world Habitat loss is particularly acute in developing countries which is of special concern because it tends to be these locations where the greatest species diversity and richest centres of endemism are to be found Sadly developing world conservation scientists have found it difficult to access an authoritative textbook which is particularly ironic since it is these countries where the potential benefits of knowledge application are greatest There is now an urgent need to educate the next generation of scientists in developing countries so that they are in a better position to protect their natural resources      The Evolution of Psychopathology Todd K. Shackelford, Virgil Zeigler-Hill, 2017-08-01 This review of recent evolutionary theories on psychopathology takes on controversies and contradictions both with established psychological thought and within the evolutionary field itself Opening with the ancestral origins of the familiar biopsychosocial model of psychological conditions the book traces distinctive biological and cultural pathways shaping human development and their critical impact on psychiatric and medical disorders Analyses of disparate phenomena such as jealousy social anxiety depressive symptoms and antisocial behavior describe adaptive functions that have far outlasted their usefulness or that require further study and perhaps new directions for treatment In addition the book's compelling explorations of violence greed addiction and suicide challenge us to revisit many of our assumptions regarding what it means to be human Included in the coverage Evolutionary foundations of psychiatric compared to non psychiatric disorders Evolutionary psychopathology uncomplicated depression and the distinction between normal and disordered sadness Depression is rumination really adaptive A CBT approach to coping with sexual betrayal and the green eyed monster Criminology's modern synthesis remaking the science of crime with Darwinian insight Anthro-pathology the abiding malady of the species With its wealth of interdisciplinary viewpoints The Evolution of Psychopathology makes an appropriate supplementary text for advanced graduate courses in the evolutionary sciences particularly in psychology biology anthropology sociology and philosophy      Humanity's Footprint Walter K Dodds, 2008-02-06 For the first time in history humans have exceeded the sustaining capacity of Earth's global ecosystems Our expanding footprint has tremendous momentum and the insidious explosion of human impact creates a shockwave that threatens ecosystems worldwide for decades possibly centuries Walter K Dodds depicts in clear nontechnical terms the root causes and global environmental effects of human behavior He describes trends in population growth resource use and global environmental impacts of the past two centuries such as greenhouse effects ozone depletion water pollution and species extinctions and introductions Dodds also addresses less familiar developments such as the spread of antibiotic resistant genes in bacteria and the concentration of pesticides in the Arctic and other remote ecosystems He identifies fundamental human activities that have irreversible effects on the environment and draws on recent social science and game theory results to explain why people use more than their share Past behavior indicates that as resources grow scarce humans will escalate their use of what remains instead of managing their consumption Humanity's Footprint paints a lively but ultimately sobering picture of our environmental predicament Dodds calls for a consistent approach to socioenvironmental restoration that draws on new thinking from across disciplines to develop sustainable solutions to global environmental problems

Radical Transformation Imants Barušs, 2021-01-28 In Radical Transformation Imants Barušs leads the reader out of the receding materialist paradigm into an emerging post materialist landscape in which new questions present themselves If consciousness has nonlocal properties then how are boundaries between events established If consciousness directly modulates physical manifestation then what is the scope of such modulation If consciousness continues after physical death then how much interference is there from non physical entities As we face the threat of extinction on this planet is there anything in recent consciousness research that can help us Are there effective means of self transformation that can be used to enter persistent transcendent states of consciousness that could resolve existential and global crises The author leads the reader through discussions of meaning radical transformation and subtle activism revealing the unexpected interplay of consciousness and reality along the way

Consumer Australia Robert Crawford, Kim Humphery, Judith Smart, 2010-06-09 Donald Horne's The Lucky Country claimed that Australia was one of the first nations to find part of the meaning of life in the purchase of consumer goods Significantly similar views had been expressed in the late 18th century where everyday life in the antipodean outpost of Empire was regarded as being pecuniary and acquisitive in nature While references to Australia as a consumer society continue to be made the question of how Australia came to be so has attracted less attention The chapters in Consumer Australia actively redress this omission by examining the ways in which the processes of selling buying and exchanging have characterised the experiences of consumption in every day Australian life Prepared by leading and emerging scholars the chapters in this unique collection critically explore the different ways that Australians have consumed products brands and even consumption itself from the 19th century and through the 20th century By charting the growth and development of consumption in Australia Consumer Australia reveals how Australia came to be a consumer society and asks where it is headed

The Bottomless Well Peter W Huber, Mark P. Mills, 2007-03-19 The sheer volume of talk about energy energy prices and energy policy on both sides of the political aisle suggests that we must know something about energy But according to Peter Huber and Mark Mills the things we know are mostly myths In The Bottomless Well Huber and Mills debunk the myths and show how a better understanding of energy will radically change our views and policies on a number of very controversial issues They explain why demand will never go down why most of what we think of as energy waste actually benefits us why greater efficiency will never lead to energy conservation and why the energy supply is infinite it s quality of energy that s scarce and expensive The Bottomless Well will also revolutionize our thinking about the automotive industry gas prices don t matter and the hybrid engine is irrelevant coal and uranium the much maligned power grid it s the worst system we could have except for all the others what energy supplies mean for jobs and GDP and many other hotly debated subjects

Healing Breath Ruben L. F. Habito, 2013-02-08 Healing our wounded Earth is not unrelated to healing our own personal wounds The pains of the Earth and those of the individuals making up our Earth community cannot be separated Thus the healing of our individual lives can become the basis of the healing of Earth This book sheds light on Zen as a spiritual path that leads to healing in the personal social and ecological dimensions of our being If you are seeking a form of spiritual practice that addresses all three of these dimensions or simply seeking to deepen your understanding of the Zen path it is written for you If instead of fragmentation disorientation and vacuity you seek wholeness groundedness and integrity in your life it is written for you Perhaps you too have come to realize that our global community is in a sad state of affairs that we need to radically change how we live and relate to one another and to the Earth You may already be engaged in some form of social or ecological action addressing these issues and you may feel overwhelmed by the magnitude of the task If you've been tempted to pessimism or have thrown up your hands in despair when your best efforts don't seem to make a dent this book is for you Healing Breath offers a way to integrate a spiritual path with active socio ecological engagement as the ground This book also addresses another set of questions can a Christian genuinely practice Zen How is Zen practice compatible with a Christian faith commitment To fully engage in a Zen practice what kind of belief system is presupposed or required How can spiritual practice in an Eastern tradition inform Christian life and understanding In the process of describing the Zen way of life Healing Breath will consider various Christian expressions symbols and practices not as an apologetic for that belief system but to show how they too point to the transformative and healing perspectives and experiences provided by Zen
